More Strikers Are Back at Work, but Dispute Continues Over Hours, Wages

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's nine-day railroad work stoppage appeared virtually ended in most parts of the country today, but not in Chicago, the country's major rail center.

More striking switchmen across the country returned to work last night and today. But working rail crews in Chicago were about one-fifth of normal on 25 carriers.

The continued work stoppage in the midwest metropolis, where 95 per cent of the normal freight movements were paralyzed, threw a vital road block on movement of cross country traffic.

The delay in getting rail service back to normal in Chicago appeared the main stumbling block in bringing the "sick call" walkout to a close.

But there also appeared no indication of a settlement in the long-standing wage-hour dispute between four rail unions and the carriers. The National (Railway) Mediation Board is attemping to effect a settlement in meetings in Washington.

The walkout ended in St. Louis, another major midwest rail hub. A rail union official said service was expected to be normal within two days.

Switchmen Are Idle

But in Cleveland, switchmen remained idle on three lines—the New York Central, the Nickel Plate and the Erie.

Many cities in the far west and midwest also reported the walkouts appeared ended as more switchmen returned to their jobs. They followed the back-to-work

Army Warns Men About Dismissal

Given Till 4 P.M. to Get Back on Jobs Unless They Are Sick

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The army served notice on striking railway men today that they will be dismissed unless they report for work by 4 p. m. (EST) Saturday or can prove they were physically unable to work.

At the same time, the army placed in effect hourly wage increases effective as of last Oct. 1, for men who have had no increase since September, 1948.

Secretary of the Army Pace announced the order within two hours after President Truman had instructed that the army take necessary action for full operation of the railroads. In harsh language, Mr. Truman told a news conference striking railroad workers had run out on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

Interim Wage Increase

C. F. Jacobs Stays With Runaway at 50-Mile Speed

Drives Out-of-Control Tractor-Trailer Past 3 City Buses, Other Vehicles, Pedestrians; Crashes Building; Sustains Rib Fractures

They're still talking today about the courageous ride of Charles F. Jacobs, 30, of 112 Academy street, Poughkeepsie, who stayed at the wheel of a multi-ton runaway tractor trailer until it crashed into the corner of a brick building on Ferry street after it rolled unchecked from the top of the Hasbrouck avenue hill yesterday afternoon.

They're telling and marvelling also at the miraculous way in which he escaped death after the heavy vehicle, which ran the steep hill without brakes at 50 miles an hour, brought down a heavy rain of brick and mortar when it crashed.

From all sources of information on the accident come stories of the driver's pluck and skill on a drive which he knew one way or another would end in disaster.

It was maneuvered successfully past three city buses, two of them loaded with school children, and missed other vehicles and pedestrians on the way.

Taken to Hospital

Lights and Telephones Are Disrupted by Snow, Wind

The cold wave and wind which swept into this area Wednesday afternoon following a heavy rain earlier in the day caused some damage through heavy snow which clung to electric and telephone wires, caused pavements to become slippery and tied up traffic at various points but the total storm damage was surprisingly light.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation and the New York Telephone Company was kept busy repairing damaged lines but main lines held and the difficulty was confined to local circuits.

This morning it was reported most damage had been taken care of. Street lights in many sections of the city were off intermittently and the main business area was without street lights during the early evening hours. In some sections of the city street lights were out several hours as emergency crews struggled to restore house circuits which had been put out of commission by falling limbs. There was no major line damaged and the main trouble was from falling limbs which took most local circuits. Restoration of street circuits was taken care of by cruising crews after house circuits were taken care of.

In the county there were also scattered interruptions of service due to falling limbs and trees.

Traffic Snarled

Traffic was snarled up on the Wurts street hill shortly before 6 o'clock and difficulty was experienced throughout the night at that point. At 6:50 p. m., the police department was notified that traffic was stalled at both ends of the Rondout Creek bridge. At 8 p. m. a call was received that traf-

Board Says School To Be Built Within Authorized Cost

Fox Says Signed Contracts With Deletions Allow Completion at Former Cost

Construction of the new Onteora Central School building at Boiceville will proceed at its present authorized cost of $1,850,000, with provision for revision, if an additional expenditure is approved.

This was revealed by the board of education at a public meeting at Olive Bridge last night. Albert S. Fox, board member from the town of Olive, announced that three contracts have been signed, with certain deletions which will allow the project to be completed at its former estimated cost.

Contracts contained the provision that the deleted items can be replaced if taxpayers of the central school district authorize the expenditure of an additional $300,000 when the matter is ballotted upon at Phoenicia on Feb. 13.

First of Meetings

Wednesday night's meeting was the first of a series of four meetings called by the board of education to explain its position on its request for an additional $300,000 to complete the building.

Heralded by Fox, who presided, as "democracy in action," the meeting was called after the board had been under fire from a group of local taxpayers headed by Claude Bell, Republican supervisor of the town of Olive, and

H-Bomb Plant Will Produce Man-Made Stars 2 Miles Wide

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(A.P. Science Editor)

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 8 (AP)—The new H-bomb plant in nearby South Carolina is likely to become known as the breeder of man-made stars.

Any one of these stars will be about two miles in diameter, and as hot, or hotter than the sun. It will last about ten seconds. In this period it will be as destructive as the sun itself, brought down to hang just above a city.

Two miles will be the size if an H-bomb is a thousand times more powerful than present A-bombs. Nothing has been mentioned officially about this great H-ball of fire. But the facts which indicate the size were published in "The Effects of Atomic Weapons," issued by the U. S. Department of Defense and the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission last August.

In that book the secrets of the A-bomb fireball are told for the first time. The hydrogen ball of fire will follow the same physical laws, and the dimensions given for A-bombs make it easy to figure the big ball.

These nuclear fire balls are really round eggs, with a center corresponding to a small yolk, surrounded by a white which is much larger. In the A-bomb this hot yolk gets to be about 90 feet in diameter. The yolk is the expanding heat of the bomb, and its top temperature is momentarily more than half a million degrees Fahrenheit.

At 90 feet diameter the heat ceases to expand as fast as the blast or concussion of the explosion. At that point the blast runs ahead and actually sets the air on fire. This blast fire forms the "white" or outer part of the fireball. The spread around the yolk swells until the fireball has a diameter of about 900 feet maximum. If this blazing ball stood like a balloon at New York city street level, its upper edge would tower two-thirds the height of the Empire State Building, the world's tallest skyscraper.

The A-bomb fireball lasts nearly ten seconds, with a surface temperature part of the time at ten to 12 thousand degrees Fahrenheit. This is as hot as the sun's surface.

The H-bomb fireball will be that of the A-bomb which is the trigger, plus additions from the hydrogen part of the explosion. The heat, at 1,000 times more powerful, will extend 30 times farther and the blast ten times farther. That is, you can multiply the yolk of the A-bomb by 30 and the white part by ten. This gives 10,800 feet diameter.

That will be for a burst in the air. If an H-bomb explodes on the surface of the earth or water, the ball will be smaller. But still a man-made star. There are estimates showing that the hydrogen star may not be much hotter than

U.S. to Unfreeze Items To Allow Price Gains

East - West Arms Fight Is Foreseen

New Soviet Demand Is Expected to Have All A-Bomb Items Put on Outlaw List

Move Is Disclosed

Note Provides Evidence on Kremlin Desire to Spotlight West

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—East-west negotiations over a Big Four foreign ministers meeting have reached the point where responsible diplomats believe the stage is being set for a first class fight over the rearmament race between the western nations and Russia.

This is likely to lead to a new Soviet demand for outlawing atomic weapons—in which the United States is assumed to have a commanding lead over Russia—and to western demands for reduction in the size of Communist armed forces.

Barring some unexpected change in the world policies of Soviet communism, no concrete agreements to slow down or limit rearmament are expected to come from the developing international debate. The effort of each side in the present state of affairs more likely will be to try to prove that the other side is to blame.

The manner in which the argument is beginning to shape up is shown by the latest interchange between Moscow and Washington on the possibility of holding a Big Four meeting.

Provides Evidence

A Russian note to the United States, Britain and France, made public Tuesday night and discussed by Secretary of State Acheson at a news conference yesterday, provides two pieces of evidence of the Kremlin's desire to focus attention on the buildup of power in the United States and western Europe.

The note asserted that the formation of an integrated western military force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower constitute a fact which "does not at all tally with the official statements (of the western governments) about striving for peace."

Unprecedented Proportions

At another point the note declared: "The circumstances that in a number of states in Europe and in the U. S. A. The increase of the army and the armaments race have assumed unprecedented proportions, of course, intensifies in many respects the tense international situation and the disquiet among the people."

These statements are read here as meaning that the Soviets have moved considerably beyond their first proposal that a Big Four meeting be confined to talking about German demilitarization. It is believed the Russians are now preparing to meet head-on the western counter-proposal that the meet must get at what the West considers to be the real source of

Senate Has Tough Job in Defeating Changes in Tariff

House Imposes Rules and Lineup of 49 to 47 in Senate Looks Hard

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Administration forces looked to the Senate today to knock out restrictions in the reciprocal trade program which the House voted yesterday, with virtually solid Republican backing, before approving a three-year extension of the act.

But the Senate line-up, with 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, made the administration assignment look tough. The Senate Finance Committee has not yet disclosed plans for considering the legislation.

The trade agreements program, launched in 1934 under the leadership of then Secretary of State Cordell Hull, is designed to reduce world trade barriers. It allows the administration to cut tariffs on some items as much as 75 per cent below 1930 rates if other nations make similar concessions.

Most Democrats argue that this stimulates world trade and amity between nations, benefiting the U. S. in the process. Republicans argue that some tariffs have been cut so low that American industries have been hurt by imports from countries with lower labor and production costs.

Asked 2-Year Extension

The Truman administration wanted a simple three-year extension of the act beyond the present expiration date, June 12. The House by voice vote approved a three-year continuation, all right, but only after attaching these G.O.P.-supported restrictions:

1. An anti-Soviet clause requiring that no Communist-dominated nation receive any benefits, directly or otherwise, from future agreements. Under the present law, when the United States cuts a duty on imports from any country it must give other nations the benefit of the same rate.

2. A "peril point" provision which says that before a new trade agreement is negotiated, the Tariff Commission must report to the President the minimum to which tariffs can be cut without probable harm to American business. The President wouldn't be bound to follow the commission's findings, but if he agrees to a tariff below the "peril point" he would have to give Congress a full explanation.

Gives Legal Effect

3. An "escape clause" provision giving legal effect to such clauses now incorporated in agreements by executive order and blueprinting the procedure to be followed by an aggrieved person. Any interested party may obtain a Tariff Commission investigation upon

Puerto Ricans Take Hill Close to Former Chief City

Tokyo, Feb. 8 (AP)—U. S. tanks shelled Seoul's blackened ruins today and howitzers, wheeling into easy range, plastered Chinese positions north of the frozen Han river tonight.

Puerto Rican doughboys seized a commanding height only 4½ miles south of the former Korean republic capital. The entire Allied line advanced another mile or more toward Seoul. The Eighth Army said:

"Destruction of Communist forces in the pocket south of the Han in the western sector, the objective of the current phase of the limited offensive, is proceeding and may sum up as a sizable victory in terms of enemy losses.

"No further implications should be attached to the present situation."

Cool Appraisal

That was a cool military appraisal of a two-week series of armored punches and bayonet charges that have violently rid the snow-crusted ridges and valleys of thousands of Chinese on Seoul's approaches.

The Eighth Army has estimated more than 57,000 Red casualties, most of them in the western sector. Now the Chinese had their quilted backs to the Han.

Red resistance was crumbling. In some sectors there was no opposition.

U. S. 25th Division tanks shelled Seoul at noon Thursday. Howitzers of the veteran American Third Division rolled into position after nightfall and sent shells screaming over the Han into Chinese positions. The Third Division was identified on the 25th Division's right flank, southeast of Seoul.

Probes Begin Into Tragedy; Claims Heavy

Woodbridge, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—Separate probes into the cause of the third major rail disaster within a year in the New York metropolitan area were underway today while critically injured victims of the latest fought for life.

Inquiries into the death-trap derailment of a commuter-crowded Pennsylvania railroad train Tuesday night were scheduled by the Interstate Commerce Commission in New York and the Middlesex county prosecutor's office in nearby New Brunswick.

Today's hearings were the latest in a series of multi-pronged probes set in motion shortly after "The Broker" wavered and reeled off the tracks near a temporary trestle killing 83 persons.

Several possible or contributory causes were mentioned yesterday including sabotage and the apparent high speed of the 11-car train as it approached a caution area.

The excessive speed angle gained further credence yesterday after the engineer of the ill-fated passenger train was quoted in a hospital-bedside interview as saying he was doing 50 miles an hour in a railroad-fixed 25 mile an hour zone.

Says Speed Involved

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said his preliminary findings showed "there are clear indications that speed was involved in the derailment."

Eber said Engineer Joseph Fitz-

Handicapped Children Fund Boost Is Recommended

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—A sharp increase in state aid for education of handicapped children was recommended today by the joint legislative committee studying the problem of cerebral palsy.

Assemblyman William J. Butler, committee chairman, introduced a bill to provide state aid ranging up to $700 for each pupil afflicted with cerebral palsy, and up to $100 for children physically handicapped in other ways.

The aid would be in addition to regular funds the state provides for educational assistance.

The state now gives a flat $800 in additional aid for each class of 100 or more handicapped children.

Butler contended such aid was "manifestly inadequate."

Under his bill, the State Education Department would determine the exact amount of extra aid to be provided.

The Buffalo Republican estimated the extra aid could total $1,300,000 if the maximum excess costs were paid.

Four Queens Republicans introduced bills to make it possible for New York city to borrow more funds for school construction.

They estimated the city would need $500,000,000 for school construction in the next 10 years. Only about half this amount can be obtained under the city's present borrowing power, they said.

Two proposals call for constitutional amendments to permit the city to borrow above its constitutional debt limit.

Economists Say Action Must Occur

Retailers Thus Can Pass On to Customers Many Wholesale Hikes Made Prior to Jan. 25

Levelling Expected

Johnston Says Prices Will Be More Stable by Mid-Summer

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The government is almost ready to unfreeze the retail prices on men's clothes, women's clothes, cosmetics, furniture, rugs, lamps, pots and pans. One immediate result will be lots of price rises.

In place of the present tight freeze on those and similar items, the Office of Price Stabilization will restrict the percentage of "margin" between what the retailer pays and what he receives.

O.P.S. officials said the new regulation will probably be issued late this week or early next week. It will be the first of a series of "margin" type orders which were promised when the temporary price freeze of Jan. 25 was announced.

Here is why price rises are expected: The new regulation will enable retailers to pass on to their customers many increases that wholesalers had put into effect before the Jan. 25 freeze date.

Economists Explain

Government economists say a certain amount of that must occur to prevent an intolerable squeeze on retailers whose costs have gone up.

They say this is one thing Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston had in mind yesterday when he predicted that the cost of living will continue to rise for a few more months and then level off by midsummer.

O.P.S. officials also hope to lower prices in some cases by rolling back the size of margins to a selected date. To illustrate, if a retailer's margin on a particular item was 40 per cent on the selected date, and he has since raised it to 45 per cent, he would have to cut it back to 40.

O.P.S. Director Michael V. DiSalle said in a radio interview broadcast last night that the O.P.S would "somehow attempt" to fix margins as they existed before the Korean outbreak last June, and the thought maybe there would be "astonishing" results in some industries.

No Definite Promise

But this didn't amount to a definite promise to roll back any margins to pre-Korean levels, and the question is still under debate. Moreover DiSalle apparently was talking about later orders—not the one about to be issued on clothing and house furnishings.

Meantime DiSalle and Johnston had their staffs busy preparing reports on food prices for Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson asked for the reports yesterday. He was described as being "very concerned" over food prices. He was also reported planning to recommend some changes in the defense production act to permit tighter controls on food prices.

Officials predict, too, that President Truman may send a message to Congress on the same subject about Feb. 15.

This may start a big fight in Congress. Men from farm states were ready to resist any tightening of price controls on farm products.

Action Anticipated

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Prospects looked brighter today for early congressional action to provide India with 2,000,000 tons of U. S. wheat to combat a famine. This attitude, expressed by several lawmakers, is in sharp contrast to that of two weeks ago. Several factories are evidently responsible. First was the support announced yesterday by former President Herbert Hoover.

Board Says School To Be Built Within Authorized Cost

Fox Says Signed Contracts With Deletions Allow Completion at Former Cost

Construction of the new Onteora Central School building at Boiceville will proceed at its present authorized cost of $1,850,000, with provision for revision, if an additional expenditure is approved.

This was revealed by the board of education at a public meeting at Olive Bridge last night. Albert S. Fox, board member from the town of Olive, announced that three contracts have been signed, with certain deletions which will allow the project to be completed at its former estimated cost.

Contracts contained the provision that the deleted items can be replaced if taxpayers of the central school district authorize the expenditure of an additional $300,000 when the matter is balloted upon at Phoenicia on Feb. 13.

Note Provides Evidence on Kremlin Desire to Spotlight West

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—East-west negotiations over a Big Four foreign ministers meeting have reached the point where responsible diplomats believe the stage is being set for a first class fight over the rearmament race between the western nations and Russia.

This is likely to lead to a new Soviet demand for outlawing atomic weapons—in which the United States is assumed to have a commanding lead over Russia—and to western demands for reduction in the size of Communist armed forces.

Senate Has Tough Job in Defeating Changes in Tariff

House Imposes Rules and Lineup of 49 to 47 in Senate Looks Hard

Most Democrats argue that this stimulates world trade and amity between nations, benefiting the U. S. in the process. Republicans argue that some tariffs have been cut so low that American industries have been hurt by imports from countries with lower labor and production costs.

Asked 3-Year Extension

The Truman administration wanted a simple three-year extension of the act beyond the present expiration date, June 12. The House by voice vote approved a three-yar continuation, all right, but only after attaching these G.O.P.-supported restrictions:

1. An anti-Soviet clause requiring that no Communist-dominated nation receive any benefits, directly or otherwise, from future agreements. Under the present law, when the United States cuts a duty on imports from any country it must give other nations the benefit of the same rate.

2. A "peril point" provision which says that before a new trade agreement is negotiated, the Tariff Commission must report to the President the minimum to which tariffs can be cut without probable harm to American business. The President wouldn't be bound to follow the commission's findings, but if he agrees to a tariff below the "peril point" he would have to give Congress a full explanation.

Gives Legal Effect

3. An "escape clause" provision giving legal effect to such clauses now incorporated in agreements by executive order and blueprinting the procedure to be followed by an aggrieved person. Any interested party may obtain a Tariff Commission investigation upon

Puerto Ricans Take Hill Close to Former Chief City

Tokyo, Feb. 8 (AP)—U. S. tanks shelled Seoul's blackened ruins today and howitzers, wheeling into easy range, plastered Chinese positions north of the frozen Han river tonight.

Puerto Rican doughboys seized a commanding height only 4½ miles south of the former Korean republic capital. The entire Allied line advanced another mile or more toward Seoul. The Eighth Army said:

"Destruction of Communist forces in the pocket south of the Han in the western sector, the objective of the current phase of the limited offensive, is proceeding and may sum up as a sizable victory in terms of enemy losses.

"No further implications should be attached to the present situation."

Cool Appraisal

That was a cool military appraisal of a two-week series of armored punches and bayonet charges that have violently rid the snow-crusted ridges and valleys of thousands of Chinese on Seoul's approaches.

The Eighth Army has estimated more than 57,000 Red casualties, most of them in the western sector. Now the Chinese had their quilted backs to the Han.

Red resistance was crumbling. In some sectors there was no opposition.

U. S. 25th Division tanks shelled Seoul at noon Thursday. Howitzers of the veteran American Third Division rolled into position after nightfall and sent shells screaming over the Han into Chinese positions. The Third Division was identified on the 25th Division's right flank, southeast of Seoul.

Probes Begin Into Tragedy; Claims Heavy

Woodbridge, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—Separate probes into the cause of the third major rail disaster within a year in the New York metropolitan area were underway today while critically injured victims of the latest fought for life.

Inquiries into the death-trap derailment of a commuter-crowded Pennsylvania railroad train Tuesday night were scheduled by the Interstate Commerce Commission in New York and the Middlesex county prosecutor's office in nearby New Brunswick.

Today's hearings were the latest in a series of multi-pronged probes set in motion shortly after "The Broker" wavered and reeled off the tracks near a temporary trestle killing 83 persons.

Several possible or contributory causes were mentioned yesterday including sabotage and the apparent high speed of the 11-car train as it approached a caution area.

The excessive speed angle gained further credence yesterday after the engineer of the ill-fated passenger train was quoted in a hospital-bedside interview as saying he was doing 50 miles an hour in a railroad-fixed 25 mile an hour zone.

Says Speed Involved

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said his preliminary findings showed "there are clear indications that speed was involved in the derailment."

Johnston Says Prices Will Be More Stable by Mid-Summer

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The government is almost ready to unfreeze the retail prices on men's clothes, women's clothes, cosmetics, furniture, rugs, lamps, pots and pans. One immediate result will be lots of price rises.

In place of the present tight freeze on those and similar items, the Office of Price Stabilization will restrict the percentage of "margin" between what the retailer pays and what he receives.

O.P.S. officials said the new regulation will probably be issued late this week or early next week. It will be the first of a series of "margin" type orders which were promised when the temporary price freeze of Jan. 25 was announced.

Here is why price rises are expected: The new regulation will enable retailers to pass on to their customers many increases that wholesalers had put into effect before the Jan. 25 freeze date.

Economists Explain

Government economists say a certain amount of that must occur to prevent an intolerable squeeze on retailers whose costs have gone up.

They say this is one thing Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston had in mind yesterday when he predicted that the cost of living will continue to rise for a few more months and then level off by midsummer.

O.P.S. officials also hope to lower prices in some cases by rolling back the size of margins to a selected date. To illustrate, if a retailer's margin on a particular item was 40 per cent on the selected date, and he has since raised it to 45 per cent, he would have to cut it back to 40.

O.P.S. Director Michael V. DiSalle said in a radio interview broadcast last night that the O.P.S would "somehow attempt" to fix margins as they existed before the Korean outbreak last June, and the thought maybe there would be "astonishing" results in some industries.

No Definite Promise

But this didn't amount to a definite promise to roll back any margins to pre-Korean levels, and the question is still under debate. Moreover DiSalle apparently was talking about later orders—not the one about to be issued on clothing and house furnishings.

Meantime DiSalle and Johnston had their staffs busy preparing reports on food prices for Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson asked for the reports yesterday. He was described as being "very concerned" over food prices. He was also reported planning to recommend some changes in the defense production act to permit tighter controls on food prices.

Officials predict, too, that President Truman may send a message to Congress on the same subject about Feb. 15.

Action Anticipated

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Prospects looked brighter today for early congressional action to provide India with 2,000,000 tons of U. S. wheat to combat a famine. This attitude, expressed by several lawmakers, is in sharp contrast to that of two weeks ago. Several factories are evidently responsible. First was the support announced yesterday by former President Herbert Hoover.

Handicapped Children Fund Boost Is Recommended

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—A sharp increase in state aid for education of handicapped children was recommended today by the joint legislative committee studying the problem of cerebral palsy.

Assemblyman William J. Butler, committee chairman, introduced a bill to provide state aid ranging up to $700 for each pupil afflicted with cerebral palsy, and up to $100 for children physically handicapped in other ways.

The aid would be in addition to regular funds the state provides for educational assistance.

The state now gives a flat $800 in additional aid for each class of 100 or more handicapped children.

Butler contended such aid was "manifestly inadequate."

Under his bill, the State Education Department would determine the exact amount of extra aid to be provided.

The Buffalo Republican estimated the extra aid could total $1,300,000 if the maximum excess costs were paid.

Four Queens Republicans introduced bills to make it possible for New York city to borrow more funds for school construction.

They estimated the city would need $500,000,000 for school construction in the next 10 years. Only about half this amount can be obtained under the city's present borrowing power, they said.

Two proposals call for constitutional amendments to permit the city to borrow above its constitutional debt limit.

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's nine-day railroad work stoppage appeared virtually ended in most parts of the country today, but not in Chicago, the country's major rail center.

More striking switchmen across the country returned to work last night and today. But working rail crews in Chicago were about one-fifth of normal on 25 carriers.

The continued work stoppage in the midwest metropolis, where 95 per cent of the normal freight movements were paralyzed, threw a vital road block on movement of cross country traffic.

The delay in getting rail service back to normal in Chicago appeared the main stumbling block in bringing the "sick call" walkout to a close.

But there also appeared no indication of a settlement in the long-standing wage-hour dispute between four rail unions and the carriers. The National (Railway) Mediation Board is attemping to effect a settlement in meetings in Washington.

The walkout ended in St. Louis, another major midwest rail hub. A rail union official said service was expected to be normal within two days.

Switchmen Are Idle

But in Cleveland, switchmen remained idle on three lines—the New York Central, the Nickel Plate and the Erie.

Many cities in the far west and midwest also reported the walkouts appeared ended as more switchmen returned to their jobs. They followed the back-to-work

Army Warns Men About Dismissal

Given Till 4 P.M. to Get Back on Jobs Unless They Are Sick

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The army served notice on striking railway men today that they will be dismissed unless they report for work by 4 p. m. (EST) Saturday or can prove they were physically unable to work.

At the same time, the army placed in effect hourly wage increases effective as of last Oct. 1, for men who have had no increase since September, 1948.

Secretary of the Army Pace announced the order within two hours after President Truman had instructed that the army take necessary action for full operation of the railroads. In harsh language, Mr. Truman told a news conference striking railroad workers had run out on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

Interim Wage Increase

C. F. Jacobs Stays With Runaway at 50-Mile Speed

They're still talking today about the courageous ride of Charles F. Jacobs, 30, of 112 Academy street, Poughkeepsie, who stayed at the wheel of a multi-ton runaway tractor trailer until it crashed into the corner of a brick building on Ferry street after it rolled unchecked from the top of the Hasbrouck avenue hill yesterday afternoon.

They're telling and marvelling also at the miraculous way in which he escaped death after the heavy vehicle, which ran the steep hill without brakes at 50 miles an hour, brought down a heavy rain of brick and mortar when it crashed.

From all sources of information on the accident come stories of the driver's pluck and skill on a drive which he knew one way or another would end in disaster.

It was maneuvered successfully past three city buses, two of them loaded with school children, and missed other vehicles and pedestrians on the way.

Taken to Hospital

Lights and Telephones Are Disrupted by Snow, Wind

The cold wave and wind which swept into this area Wednesday afternoon following a heavy rain earlier in the day caused some damage through heavy snow which clung to electric and telephone wires, caused pavements to become slippery and tied up traffic at various points but the total storm damage was surprisingly light.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation and the New York Telephone Company was kept busy repairing damaged lines but main lines held and the difficulty was confined to local circuits.

This morning it was reported most damage had been taken care of. Street lights in many sections of the city were off intermittently and the main business area was without street lights during the early evening hours. In some sections of the city street lights were out several hours as emergency crews struggled to restore house circuits which had been put out of commission by falling limbs. There was no major line damaged and the main trouble was from falling limbs which took most local circuits. Restoration of street circuits was taken care of by cruising crews after house circuits were taken care of.

In the county there were also scattered interruptions of service due to falling limbs and trees.

Traffic Snarled

Traffic was snarled up on the Wurts street hill shortly before 6 o'clock and difficulty was experienced throughout the night at that point. At 6:50 p. m., the police department was notified that traffic was stalled at both ends of the Rondout Creek bridge. At 8 p. m. a call was received that traf-

Board Says School To Be Built Within Authorized Cost

Fox Says Signed Contracts With Deletions Allow Completion at Former Cost

Construction of the new Onteora Central School building at Boiceville will proceed at its present authorized cost of $1,850,000, with provision for revision, if an additional expenditure is approved.

This was revealed by the board of education at a public meeting at Olive Bridge last night. Albert S. Fox, board member from the town of Olive, announced that three contracts have been signed, with certain deletions which will allow the project to be completed at its former estimated cost.

Contracts contained the provision that the deleted items can be replaced if taxpayers of the central school district authorize the expenditure of an additional $300,000 when the matter is ballotted upon at Phoenicia on Feb. 13.

First of Meetings

Wednesday night's meeting was the first of a series of four meetings called by the board of education to explain its position on its request for an additional $300,000 to complete the building.

Heralded by Fox, who presided, as "democracy in action," the meeting was called after the board had been under fire from a group of local taxpayers headed by Claude Bell, Republican supervisor of the town of Olive, and

H-Bomb Plant Will Produce Man-Made Stars 2 Miles Wide

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(A.P. Science Editor)

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 8 (AP)—The new H-bomb plant in nearby South Carolina is likely to become known as the breeder of man-made stars.

Any one of these stars will be about two miles in diameter, and as hot, or hotter than the sun. It will last about ten seconds. In this period it will be as destructive as the sun itself, brought down to hang just above a city.

Two miles will be the size if an H-bomb is a thousand times more powerful than present A-bombs. Nothing has been mentioned officially about this great H-ball of fire. But the facts which indicate the size were published in "The Effects of Atomic Weapons," issued by the U. S. Department of Defense and the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission last August.

In that book the secrets of the A-bomb fireball are told for the first time. The hydrogen ball of fire will follow the same physical laws, and the dimensions given for A-bombs make it easy to figure the big ball.

These nuclear fire balls are really round eggs, with a center corresponding to a small yolk, surrounded by a white which is much larger. In the A-bomb this hot yolk gets to be about 90 feet in diameter. The yolk is the expanding heat of the bomb, and its top temperature is momentarily more than half a million degrees Fahrenheit.

At 90 feet diameter the heat ceases to expand as fast as the blast or concussion of the explosion. At that point the blast runs ahead and actually sets the air on fire. This blast fire forms the "white" or outer part of the fireball. The spread around the yolk swells until the fireball has a diameter of about 900 feet maximum. If this blazing ball stood like a balloon at New York city street level, its upper edge would tower two-thirds the height of the Empire State Building, the world's tallest skyscraper.

The A-bomb fireball lasts nearly ten seconds, with a surface temperature part of the time at ten to 12 thousand degrees Fahrenheit. This is as hot as the sun's surface.

The H-bomb fireball will be that of the A-bomb which is the trigger, plus additions from the hydrogen part of the explosion. The heat, at 1,000 times more powerful, will extend 30 times farther and the blast ten times farther. That is, you can multiply the yolk of the A-bomb by 30 and the white part by ten. This gives 10,800 feet diameter.

That will be for a burst in the air. If an H-bomb explodes on the surface of the earth or water, the ball will be smaller. But still a man-made star. There are estimates showing that the hydrogen star may not be much hotter than

East - West Arms Fight Is Foreseen

New Soviet Demand Is Expected to Have All A-Bomb Items Put on Outlaw List

Note Provides Evidence on Kremlin Desire to Spotlight West

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—East-west negotiations over a Big Four foreign ministers meeting have reached the point where responsible diplomats believe the stage is being set for a first class fight over the rearmament race between the western nations and Russia.

This is likely to lead to a new Soviet demand for outlawing atomic weapons—in which the United States is assumed to have a commanding lead over Russia—and to western demands for reduction in the size of Communist armed forces.

Barring some unexpected change in the world policies of Soviet communism, no concrete agreements to slow down or limit rearmament are expected to come from the developing international debate. The effort of each side in the present state of affairs more likely will be to try to prove that the other side is to blame.

The manner in which the argument is beginning to shape up is shown by the latest interchange between Moscow and Washington on the possibility of holding a Big Four meeting.

Provides Evidence

A Russian note to the United States, Britain and France, made public Tuesday night and discussed by Secretary of State Acheson at a news conference yesterday, provides two pieces of evidence of the Kremlin's desire to focus attention on the buildup of power in the United States and western Europe.

The note asserted that the formation of an integrated western military force under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower constitute a fact which "does not at all tally with the official statements (of the western governments) about striving for peace."

Unprecedented Proportions

At another point the note declared: "The circumstances that in a number of states in Europe and in the U. S. A. The increase of the army and the armaments race have assumed unprecedented proportions, of course, intensifies in many respects the tense international situation and the disquiet among the people."

These statements are read here as meaning that the Soviets have moved considerably beyond their first proposal that a Big Four meeting be confined to talking about German demilitarization. It is believed the Russians are now preparing to meet head-on the western counter-proposal that the meet must get at what the West considers to be the real source of

House Imposes Rules and Lineup of 49 to 47 in Senate Looks Hard

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Administration forces looked to the Senate today to knock out restrictions in the reciprocal trade program which the House voted yesterday, with virtually solid Republican backing, before approving a three-year extension of the act.

But the Senate line-up, with 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, made the administration assignment look tough. The Senate Finance Committee has not yet disclosed plans for considering the legislation.

The trade agreements program, launched in 1934 under the leadership of then Secretary of State Cordell Hull, is designed to reduce world trade barriers. It allows the administration to cut tariffs on some items as much as 75 per cent below 1930 rates if other nations make similar concessions.

Most Democrats argue that this stimulates world trade and amity between nations, benefiting the U. S. in the process. Republicans argue that some tariffs have been cut so low that American industries have been hurt by imports from countries with lower labor and production costs.

Signs of TB

There are visible and recognizable symptoms of tuberculosis. These include unexplainable fatigue, noticeable loss of weight, a cough that hangs on, and sometimes the spitting of blood. A sharp pain in the side or chest, chronic indigestion, and sore throat, may also mean tuberculosis.

But, unfortunately, these symptoms usually appear when tuberculosis is in an advanced stage and difficult to cure. Tuberculosis germs are insidious, and they can be at work damaging the lungs for months, and sometimes years, before there is any warning with obvious symptoms—before the person begins to feel or look ill.

Certainly, anyone who suffers from one or more of the symptoms which might mean tuberculosis should see his doctor without delay. The sooner the disease is diagnosed and measures taken to arrest it, the easier it will be to cure it.

At the same time, none of us can afford to wait until symptoms appear. And we should not. There is a reliable way in which we can keep a check on the health of our lungs so that, if the disease does strike, the chances are it will be detected in an early stage.

This is by getting regular chest X-rays and physical examinations. Although tuberculosis has no visible symptoms when it first starts, the X-ray can show up evidence of tuberculosis in any stage—even in an early stage when lung damage may be slight.

The chest X-ray is a simple process that takes only a moment, yet it can pay untold dividends. Since tuberculosis can strike without warning and be damaging the lungs for months before it makes itself known with obvious symptoms, the X-ray acts as a reliable check on the health of one's lungs.

That's why doctors urge every adult, 15 years of age and over, to have regular chest X-rays along with their physical examinations. The X-ray is a diagnostic aid to the doctor—not a guarantee against TB—and is the simplest way of detecting tuberculosis in an early stage, a stage in which it is easiest to cure.

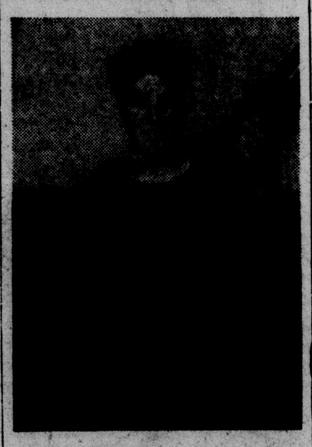
Best Platoon Shot



Parris Island, S. C. — Marine Private Sherman Bonesteel, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bonesteel, 102 Hasbrouck avenue, Kingston, was high shooter of his platoon when he fired for record here at the weapons training battalion rifle range recently.

The Kingston leatherneck fired 223 out of a possible 250 points with the M1 rifle to lead his platoon and win the coveted silver crossed rifles of Expert Rifleman.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Private Bonestell volunteered for enlistment in the Marine Corps in November, 1950.

He is now undergoing his recruit training here at the Marine Corps recruit depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Aid Bill Approved

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A bill to authorize a $51,000,000 annual federal aid program to train doctors, nurses and others in the healing arts was approved yesterday by the Senate Public Welfare Committee. The bill, which now goes to the Senate, will provide for a $10,000,000 annual program of grants for new facilities at colleges and hospitals, plus a $41,000,000 yearly system of scholarships and aid to medical schools. The measure carries no funds, which would have to be voted later in separate legislation.

Social Security Law Provisions

George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security Office, submits the following in a series of articles on the new Social Security Law:

In discussions of old-age and survivors insurance under federal social security, you hear a lot about "currently" and "fully" insured. These are the two ways in which a worker may be insured. Since they are not the same, and since different kinds of social security payments are called for by each, I'm going to devote this article to them.

Currently Insured—A worker who is only currently insured does not yet have old-age insurance rights. In case of his death, however, his children under 18 may become entitled to monthly insurance payments. These will continue until they reach age 18. If the children are being cared for by his widow (or divorced wife with a child in her care) and she was being supported by the worker, she too gets benefit payments during the minority of the child. In case of more than one child her benefit payments continue until the youngest child is 18.

Employment Required—Roughly, one and a half years of work covered by social security during the last three years.

Under the amended law, benefits are payable to a dependent husband of a woman worker who died after August 31, 1950, if she was both currently and fully insured.

A worker who is fully insured when he becomes 65 has old-age insurance rights. If a worker is fully insured at the time of his death, his widow and children may get monthly insurance, as in the case of a currently insured person. In case the worker is fully insured, however, the widow's monthly insurance payments will not end permanently when the youngest child reaches 18. At age 65, such a widow, who has not remarried, may file an application for widow's benefits and her payments will be resumed. If the deceased worker left no widow or minor children, and if he is survived by parents who were dependent upon him, the parents may qualify for benefits if they have reached age 65. In such cases, the parents must file proof of dependency within two years after the insured worker's death.

Employment Required — Must have worked at least a year and a half, or half the time since he became 21, or half the time since 1950. Anyone who has worked in a job covered by social security for ten years is fully insured for the rest of his life.

Children who were not living with their father at the time of their mother's death may have monthly insurance benefits based on their mother's social security account. If the children were living with their father at the time of their mother's death, they may have monthly payments based on her social security account, but only if she were both currently and fully insured under the social security law. A dependent widower, also, is not entitled to benefits unless the deceased woman worker was both currently and fully insured.

Phosphorus and calcium are essential for growth of bones and teeth.

Health for All

Signs of TB

There are visible and recognizable symptoms of tuberculosis. These include unexplainable fatigue, noticeable loss of weight, a cough that hangs on, and sometimes the spitting of blood. A sharp pain in the side or chest, chronic indigestion, and sore throat, may also mean tuberculosis.

But, unfortunately, these symptoms usually appear when tuberculosis is in an advanced stage and difficult to cure. Tuberculosis germs are insidious, and they can be at work damaging the lungs for months, and sometimes years, before there is any warning with obvious symptoms—before the person begins to feel or look ill.

Certainly, anyone who suffers from one or more of the symptoms which might mean tuberculosis should see his doctor without delay. The sooner the disease is diagnosed and measures taken to arrest it, the easier it will be to cure it.

At the same time, none of us can afford to wait until symptoms appear. And we should not. There is a reliable way in which we can keep a check on the health of our lungs so that, if the disease does strike, the chances are it will be detected in an early stage.

This is by getting regular chest X-rays and physical examinations. Although tuberculosis has no visible symptoms when it first starts, the X-ray can show up evidence of tuberculosis in any stage — even in an early stage when lung damage may be slight.

The chest X-ray is a simple process that takes only a moment, yet it can pay untold dividends. Since tuberculosis can strike without warning and be damaging the lungs for months before it makes itself known with obvious symptoms, the X-ray acts as a reliable check on the health of one's lungs.

That's why doctors urge every adult, 15 years of age and over, to have regular chest X-rays along with their physical examinations. The X-ray is a diagnostic aid to the doctor—not a guarantee against TB—and is the simplest way of detecting tuberculosis in an early stage, a stage in which it is easiest to cure.

Best Platoon Shot

Parris Island, S. C. — Marine Private Sherman Bonesteel, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bonestell, 102 Hasbrouck avenue, Kingston, was high shooter of his platoon when he fired for record here at the weapons training battalion rifle range recently.

The Kingston leatherneck fired 223 out of a possible 250 points with the M1 rifle to lead his platoon and win the coveted silver crossed rifles of Expert Rifleman.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Private Bonestell volunteered for enlistment in the Marine Corps in November, 1950.

He is now undergoing his recruit training here at the Marine Corps recruit depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Aid Bill Approved

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A bill to authorize a $51,000,000 annual federal aid program to train doctors, nurses and others in the healing arts was approved yesterday by the Senate Public Welfare Committee. The bill, which now goes to the Senate, will provide for a $10,000,000 annual program of grants for new facilities at colleges and hospitals, plus a $41,000,000 yearly system of scholarships and aid to medical schools. The measure carries no funds, which would have to be voted later in separate legislation.

Social Security Law Provisions

George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security Office, submits the following in a series of articles on the new Social Security Law:

In discussions of old-age and survivors insurance under federal social security, you hear a lot about "currently" and "fully" insured. These are the two ways in which a worker may be insured. Since they are not the same, and since different kinds of social security payments are called for by each, I'm going to devote this article to them.

Currently Insured—A worker who is only currently insured does not yet have old-age insurance rights. In case of his death, however, his children under 18 may become entitled to monthly insurance payments. These will continue until they reach age 18. If the children are being cared for by his widow (or divorced wife with a child in her care) and she was being supported by the worker, she too gets benefit payments during the minority of the child. In case of more than one child her benefit payments continue until the youngest child is 18.

Employment Required—Roughly, one and a half years of work covered by social security during the last three years.

Under the amended law, benefits are payable to a dependent husband of a woman worker who died after August 31, 1950, if she was both currently and fully insured.

A worker who is fully insured when he becomes 65 has old-age insurance rights. If a worker is fully insured at the time of his death, his widow and children may get monthly insurance, as in the case of a currently insured person. In case the worker is fully insured, however, the widow's monthly insurance payments will not end permanently when the youngest child reaches 18. At age 65, such a widow, who has not remarried, may file an application for widow's benefits and her payments will be resumed. If the deceased worker left no widow or minor children, and if he is survived by parents who were dependent upon him, the parents may qualify for benefits if they have reached age 65. In such cases, the parents must file proof of dependency within two years after the insured worker's death.

Employment Required — Must have worked at least a year and a half, or half the time since he became 21, or half the time since 1950. Anyone who has worked in a job covered by social security for ten years is fully insured for the rest of his life.

Children who were not living with their father at the time of their mother's death may have monthly insurance benefits based on their mother's social security account. If the children were living with their father at the time of their mother's death, they may have monthly payments based on her social security account, but only if she were both currently and fully insured under the social security law. A dependent widower, also, is not entitled to benefits unless the deceased woman worker was both currently and fully insured.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 8, 1951

HEART AILMENTS

February is the month devoted to the annual fund-raising campaign of the American Heart Association.

No one needs to be reminded that heart diseases are the leading cause of death in the United States. They account for upwards of forty per cent of all deaths, outstripping the dreaded cancer by three to one.

This year, however, it may be more fitting to focus on just one phase of this grave medical problem: its ravages among actual or prospective members of our armed forces.

During World War II, 317,500 men were rejected for military service because of heart ailments. This amounted to three and one-half per cent of all selective service registrants examined.

In addition, some 80,000 men either were given disability discharges from service or died in service as result of heart diseases in the war years.

These nearly 400,000 men would have been enough to man twenty-seven infantry divisions at their World War II strength. That's equivalent to about a fifth of all the men we put into the Pacific theatre.

The government figures that it cost $16,000 per case—or $640,000,000 in all to handle the servicemen inactivated by heart disease during the war. The Navy estimates that it lost $4,000,000 man-days because of rheumatic fever and related rheumatic fever and related rheumatic heart disease.

The shocking fact in all these statistics is that we are here talking about young men, not oldsters who might be expected to exhibit signs of declining health.

The military's experience in World War II may well be repeated in the current crisis. It's too early yet for any general figures. But the Pittsburgh Press, analyzing draft rejections in that area, reports that one out of every eight men turned down has an organic heart disturbance.

When we are trying to find sufficient able-bodied young men to man our expanding military establishment, we feel keenly the effect of such deep ravages in the nation's health. High rejection rates plague our top soldiers, and are a compelling factor in demands for broader draft laws which will assure us a really safe manpower backlog.

But the dilemma in this field is only a small part of the heart disease puzzle. In 1948, last year for which complete, accurate figures are available, almost 638,000 people died of this ailment in America. No medical man pretends the situation is improving.

Give as generously as you can to the heart campaign, in the sure knowledge that you are attacking man's worst killer.

On a country road near Manchester in England is the sign: "Drive slowly. Watch for old, deaf dog." Here we might erect one, directing: "Take it easy. Watch for the poor, defenseless pedestrian."

A COMMUNITY ASSET

February, a month of notable birthdays, sees the celebration of a "birthday" in which all American can properly join. Boy Scout week, February 6 to 12, reminds us that one of America's largest youth organizations has reached another milestone.

The Boy Scouts of America has reached its forty-first anniversary. Since February 8, 1910, more than 17,750,000 American boys and men have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. They have benefitted by using their leisure-time energies in outdoor living and activities of cultural and practical values which lead boys to become dependable men.

Today over 2,750,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 75,000 different units. Fortunate indeed are communities where Scouting flourishes. American adults of good character give generously of their time to give leadership. Others help by raising funds and are members of local Boy Scout Councils which in turn provide training for leaders, camp facilities, worthwhile ground activities, personal advancement opportunities for Scouts to render community service.

In celebration of this birthday, the Boy Scouts are engaged in a nationwide clothing collection to meet emergency needs abroad, are stepping up their training for Civil Defense and are promoting greater interest in conserving the nation's natural resources.

May you have many more happy birthdays, Boy Scouts!

Infiltration is by all accounts one of the most difficult problems which the armies in Korea have to meet. It becomes necessary to tell a North Korean from a South Korean, but the 38th Parallel has not left any telltale marks on the faces of the people.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

MORE ON RED-BAITERS

In a moment of wild adventure, I wrote a piece listing the most active names in anti-communism in this country before 1940. I did not pretend that Dr. J. B. Matthews, Ben Stolberg or I could remember all the names, but we were hopeful that we would surely remember those among our personal friends who were active in Red-baiting, which was then denounced and is now a vogue.

That I forgot Fulton Oursler is astonishing. When other editors of magazines were playing about as great liberals, associating themselves with Communists and giving pro-Russians and fellow travelers preferred space, Oursler kept the pages of "Liberty" open to the truth. Perhaps I forgot him out of a subconscious modesty, unusual among writers, for I should have to say that when these so-called liberal editors closed their publications to me, Oursler purchased articles from me. My face was red, indeed, when I looked at the list and found his name not on it. It so often happens to a writer that when he reads what he has written, it only then occurs to him how it should have been written.

Then there is Patrick Scanlan of the Brooklyn "Tablet," who waged and continues to wage a fiery war against the "Red" brethren. The omission of Scanlan is difficult to explain, as are such names as Ayn Rand and Rose Wilder Lane, novelists, who dared to portray the truth when not to fall in line with Stalin's stooges meant unfavorable book reviews and possibly even rejection by publishers.

In the Hollywood group should be Jack Moffitt, who did so much to bring on the investigation of the infiltration in Hollywood and has since been blacklisted.

Most surprising to me is that, while I have received an enormous mail on this particular article, few additional names have been suggested for candidates for the Hall of Fame of Red Baiters prior to 1940. The largest mail demanded to know why I omitted Father Charles Coughlin, Monsignor Fulton Sheen, and Father Edward Lodge Curran.

Although in my original list, I did mention two Catholic priests, it occurred to me that all Catholic priests are anti-communist by their creed. However, these three certainly should have been given special mention as they devoted themselves extraordinarily to this cause.

Omitted from the original list, and well-deserving of the highest gratitude of the American people, because he sacrificed not only a career but his life in this fight, is Dr. William A. Wirt, educator of Gary, Indiana, who told the story of the infiltration of Communists into government as early as 1934, when the Harold Ware Cell was first organized. He was ridiculed and pilloried.

Similarly, John J. O'Connor, representative in Congress, friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt and brother of his law partner, Basil O'Connor, was purged and his political career wrecked because he told the truth. To his name should be added that of John McNaboe, New York state legislator, and of Judge Clare Gerald Fenerty, both of whom joined the fight so early that their names somehow passed me by.

No one could write a complete list, no matter how much he tried or whatever definitions he set up. However, as I read my mail, I was astonished at the repetition of the names I am noting, and how few others were offered.

Also, I must note that John Maass, advertising designer of Los Angeles, comments concerning my list that I have selected persons with criminal records. He says: "Most others in the list are fools or knaves, a few honest people are also included." He adds:

"Here is a piquant sidelight: I believe you are a Jew or at least of Jewish descent. Your list includes a number of professional antisemites who advocate the extermination of all Jews. If they were in power, you would be dispatched to the nearest gas chamber. Not even your record as an 'anti-Communist since 1917' would help you."

His letter is indeed a sad commentary on the continuance of a vile propaganda against many who love America and despise Stalin. Besides, the matter under discussion is Red-baiting before 1940 to show that some Americans recognized and understood a malignant disease. Mr. Maass's strictures are therefore irrelevant.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

Less than 50 years ago, physicians and the public generally looked upon tuberculosis of the lungs as inevitably fatal within months or at most a few years. Today, it is known that tuberculosis need not be always fatal, thanks to the great work of the National Tuberculosis Association which, by research, placing patients in special hospitals with fresh air and good food and, latterly by surgical methods in which whole lobes of the affected lung or lungs are removed, has enabled many formerly doomed individuals to return to home and work.

The tremendous cost of tuberculosis in terms of lives, suffering and dollars is emphasized in the 1949-50 annual report of the National Tuberculosis Association, released by Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director. "Killing more than 40,000 persons a year, tuberculosis is responsible for more deaths than all other infectious diseases combined and leads all diseases, infectious or not, in the age group from 15 to 34," his report states.

Despite the apparently discouraging figures, Dr. Perkins tells us that tuberculosis, a communicable disease, is also a preventable disease and can be brought under complete control if the present campaign of the medical profession, the voluntary tuberculosis associations, and official health agencies is stepped up and relentlessly pursued.

Some of the immediate and outstanding requirements to fight tuberculosis are: (a) further medical advances in research and education of the public, particularly parents; (b) more local health units to serve the general health needs of all the people; (c) more widespread efforts to find people with tuberculosis while the disease is in its early stages.

While the day is expected when tuberculosis will be conquered, eternal vigilance will always be necessary. Because it has been amply proven that tuberculosis can be cured and preventive measures can successfully overcome the disease, Dr. Perkins believes that in the very near future all countries will enforce the preventive methods that will save the lives of thousands of the young and the middle-aged—our most productive people.

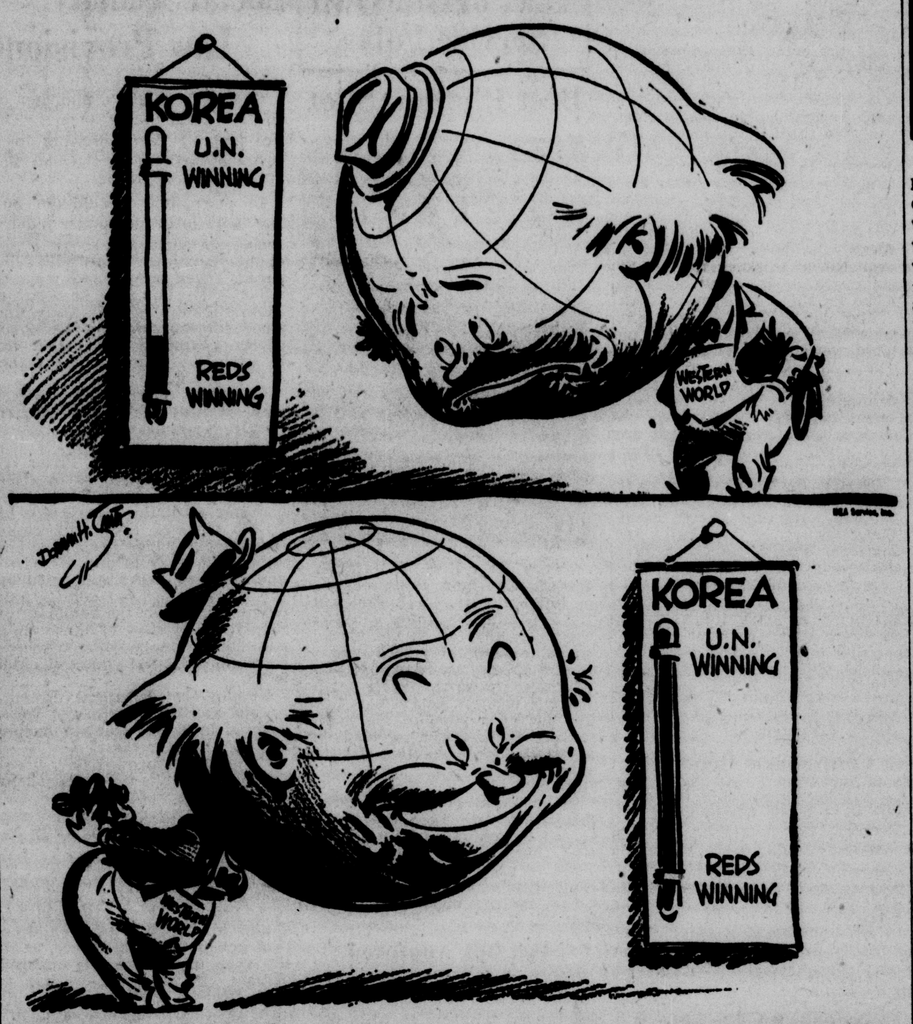
Barometers, Facial and Otherwise



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Five of the nation's top labor spokesmen, led by Phil Murray of the C.I.O., had it hot and heavy with Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson last week over the government's manpower program.

The ill feeling which flared between them looked like a curtain-raiser for more trouble on the labor front, and raised one of the most difficult problems of any defense or war program.

Purpose of the labor leaders' call on Wilson was to keep the nation's civilian manpower program under the Labor Department. This has been the subject of a bitter backstage battle for some time, with Wilson and Gen. Lucius Clay wanting to take manpower away from Secretary of Labor Tobin and Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg, and with the latter two threatening to resign if the labor problem is taken out of their hands.

Labor leaders have good reason to fear General Clay and any manpower commission which he organized. They recall that during the recent war and before he went to Germany as military governor, Clay demanded of F.D.R. that there be compulsory allocation of labor under a labor draft.

That was one reason why the five leaders went to see Mobilization Czar Charlie Wilson last week to try to keep civilian manpower under the Labor Department. They got nowhere. Wilson's attitude during the bitter meeting was "I'm running things—we'll do it my way," though he didn't put it quite so bluntly.

He didn't have to. On the way to the meeting the labor group had read a news story telling of Wilson's and General Clay's plan to set up their own manpower commission under Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming—with Clay, however, as the real boss. Wilson did not deny the story. Nor did he seem concerned when the labor leaders reminded him that he was setting up a board to control labor without consulting labor.

Ample Authority

When reminded that labor was consulted equally with management during World War 2, and that labor had a co-chairman on the office of production management, Wilson made it plain that he did not plan to follow this precedent.

"I have authority from the President," he said, "and I am going to use that authority. I haven't as yet asked Arthur Flemming to head up this manpower commission, but I intend to do so. And if he doesn't accept, I may head it up myself."

"Well, we don't like a proposition like that," spoke up C.I.O. President Phil Murray. "We represent the men and women who are engaged in war production work and we think we should at least have an equal voice in the government's manpower policies."

Murray added that if Wilson became manpower chief in addition to his top job as mobilization boss, it would be the same as a man "taking advice from himself."

Note—Other labor leaders attending the meeting were: Dan Tracy, president of the AFL Electrical Workers; Al Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists; George Leighty, chairman of the Railroad Labor Executives Association; and James Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer.

Inside the Communists—There was something funny about the way Farrar, Straus & Co. suddenly junked Hede Massing's new book on life inside the Communist Party. She's the ex-wife of Gerhart Eisler, and the book won't do Stalin any good. . . . The manuscript was immediately snapped up by Duell, Sloan and Pearce. . . . Communist Party membership has taken a terrific beating in Europe in the wake of the Marshall Plan, the Tide of Toys, the Friendship Train and other friendship projects to Europe. In the Dutch Parliament, Communist seats have dropped from 56 to 27. In the Soviet zone of Austria, Communists lost 10 of their 11 parliamentary seats. In Belgium, they lost five out of 12 seats in the lower house and two out of five in the senate. . . . In Denmark they dropped from 76 elective posts to only 24. . . . The Dutch Communist newspaper is now down from 400,000 circulation to around 100,000, while the Communist press of France has taken similar losses. . . . Most amazing development, however, is in Italy, where two top Communist senators have resigned from the party and are starting an independent party similar to Tito's.

Military Scuttlebutt—The air force is probing complaints of kickbacks and shortages at the Bolling Field Officers Club outside Washington. Maj. Dan H. Rogers, officer-in-charge, has resigned . . . Army Chief of Staff General Collins told the Senate Armed Services Committee behind closed doors that there are now 950,000 Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur's intelligence at the same time reported only 276,000 . . . . Here are the results of a check on reports that Col. James Demarest has been made special consultant to the quartermaster general at the behest of Ex-assistant Secretary of Defense Paul Griffith. (The quartermaster, of course, hands out some of the juiciest contracts in government.) Colonel Demarest draws $40 a day whenever consulted, was appointed Jan. 22, and is associated in public relations with Paul Griffith, according to the quartermaster corps. It was denied, however, that Griffith recommended Demarest for the job . . . . Griffith, when queried, denied everything—even that he was associated with Demarest in public relations work. But when told that the quartermaster stated just the opposite, Griffith admitted he had discussed a public relations setup with Demarest. (Wonder how a public relations man could be worth $40 a day for advising the army on war contracts?) . . . The munition's board's failure to stockpile wool has forced the army to bid against the Russians on the Australian wool market—with the price going up every day.

Unhappy Good Neighbors—Latin Americans have a bone to pick with Debonair Eric Johnston, the new economic stabilizer. Johnston's name is signed to the Chapultepec Treaty by which the U.S.A. agrees to consult with its good neighbors before freezing prices. However, Johnston didn't consult. Latin-American ambassadors were merely called in at the last minute and told. There was no consultation.....The American public doesn't realize it, but the Latinos get hit harder than anyone else by price freezes. They sell us coffee, for instance, at frozen prices, but can't buy back autos, scarce machinery, minerals, etc., because we don't have them to spare. Then, after war, the prices of these scarce articles go up . . . . Look out for trouble in Venezuela. When college students and faculty in Caracas petitioned President Suarez Flamerich to release political prisoners, the army proceeded to throw students and faculty into jail too. President Flamerich, out of sympathy with the army, presented his resignation, but the army refused to accept it. He remains in office with a pistol at his back.

An Englishman Designed the United States Seal

Following the Declaration of Independence, two congressional committees, at intervals of four years, submitted designs for the Great Seal of the United States. Both were found unacceptable. The design finally accepted by congress was submitted by Sir John Prestwich, an English nobleman who was a friend of the United States.

General Dodge had Sam Davis executed as a Confederate spy during the Civil War. When the war ended, he contributed liberally toward a statue of Davis, erected at Nashville, Tenn.

Post Office Department Was Enabled to Get Mail Through in Cleveland's Administration

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 8—In the parlance of the day, Judge Michael Igoe said a "mouthful" when he asked the army why it wasn't operating the trains. That was but another way of saying that somebody is falling down—somebody isn't using the power of the army to carry out a mission entrusted to it by the Commander-in-chief.

Back in the administration of President Cleveland, the mails were interfered with and soldiers were sent to put the trains through that carried mail. Today the Post Office Department is compelled to confess defeat—it has to embargo the transportation and even the sending of mail in certain localities.

It will be asked how the army is going to compel the switchmen, for instance, to work against their will. It can't, of course, make anybody work who isn't a member of the armed forces. But at the moment the army is the employer. The army can call on the switchmen to come back to work or order their jobs forfeited. This means there would be a loss of seniority rights to individuals. There would be other consequences, too. The army could call for volunteers.

The army has it in its power to demand that the workers furnish medical certificates attesting that they are sick and unfit for work. But no such order has been issued. Judge Igoe, in Federal Court, makes the case clear when he says:

"Someone has interfered with the operation of the country's railroads. Union grievances are not the issue. These men have challenged the sovereignty of the United States and in this court that sovereignty is asserted."

The judge, a former Democratic member of Congress from Illinois, went on to say that the army officers who had appeared in his courtroom to testify would be exempted from court appearances and "ought to be out running the railroads." He suggested that they "get soldiers to operate the railroads if nobody else can."

This, of course, will be called encouragement of "strike breaking." Many a governor has been lambasted for employing the militia to do that very thing. But this episode does not involve "strike breaking" in the usual sense. It involves breaking up a rebellion against the army itself, which under an executive order is operating the railroads. It so happens that railroad executives have been placed in uniform to operate the roads, and there is nothing to prevent the army from using other officers, too, to recruit men for the switching jobs.

The workers who are playing "sick" are presumably doing so under orders from their chiefs, though this probably has been done by some clandestine method, which the government is trying to expose in the court proceedings. The right to quit work implies only individual rather than concerted action when the strike is against the government.

There are, to be sure, grievances which make the men "sick and tired" of the protracted negotiations. But, as Judge Igoe expressed it, "everyone sympathizes with these men in their demand for more pay and better working conditions." What the public doesn't sympathize with is the strike against the army—and, incidentally, it was a labor-union chief who in the first place requested that the railroads be taken over by the army for operation and assured the President that the men would continue to work.

There are unquestionably many important points which cause the workers to feel aggrieved but good sportsmanship requires that, when a negotiation has reached a deadlock, some form of arbitration be agreed upon to settle the dispute. Even at this late day, an arbitrator or board of arbitration with final power might be empowered to consider a settlement provided both sides agreed to accept the results.

The Truman administration cannot drift along with the present intolerable situation. For, just as soon as some rail workers go back to their jobs in certain cities, other union members now go off the jobs in other cities. The same tactics which were used in December have been repeated in February and can be repeated in March or April if the dispute isn't settled conclusively. Since the railroads are being operated by the army, some satisfactory demonstration is needed that the army can carry out a mission given to it by the President, lest government authority be regarded hereafter as something that can be trifled with even if officers in uniform issue the orders.

New York, Feb. 7—The testimony of Max Lowenthal, the mysterious New York lawyer who now appears to have picked Harry Truman for president and to have souped him up with the Brandeis philosphy, is so slippery that if you have ever read the text of the examination of Father Divine you must think they studied out of the same book. This is the fellow who wrote a book blasting the F.B.I. and got taken apart by Congressman George Dondero of Michigan. On the floor of the House, Dondero said Lowenthal had followed the Communist line for years and had planted his men in positions of power. Jonathan Daniels, one of the President's selfless anonymities, says in his book on Truman that Lowenthal picked him for President in 1944, when it was plain that Roosevelt was going to die in his fourth term.

You can fortify that information with the recollection that Roosevelt, in Chicago, told the boys to clear the nominee for vice-president with Sidney Hillman. Lowenthal was attorney for Hillman's union. Hillman was the equivalent of a Communist but it never was shown that he joined the party.

Just why the Committee on Un-American Activities, being composed of lawyers, let this artful dodger get away with his evasions and let Burt Wheeler, his attorney, bull them around, I have no idea to offer except that the Truman administration set out to nullify the committee after the Alger Hiss conviction and the red-herring crack made such a bum of Truman. I have counted 17 instances in which Lowenthal said he couldn't remember this or had no knowledge of that, but, for a saver, threw in the clause that if the committee had any evidence to support its line of questioning, he would be glad to have this noted in the record.

Remembering that Daniels described him as a self-effacing man, get a load of this from Lowenthal himself: "Hundreds and thousands of people have come to me for advice on millions of subjects—that is an exaggeration, I guess, but hundreds of subjects. I have done that for many years."

Louis Russell, the chief investigator of the committee, asked whether he had ever been asked to submit to examination by the Civil Service Commission.

Now the self-effacing man of

HEART AILMENTS

February is the month devoted to the annual fund-raising campaign of the American Heart Association.

No one needs to be reminded that heart diseases are the leading cause of death in the United States. They account for upwards of forty per cent of all deaths, outstripping the dreaded cancer by three to one.

This year, however, it may be more fitting to focus on just one phase of this grave medical problem: its ravages among actual or prospective members of our armed forces.

During World War II, 317,500 men were rejected for military service because of heart ailments. This amounted to three and one-half per cent of all selective service registrants examined.

In addition, some 80,000 men either were given disability discharges from service or died in service as result of heart diseases in the war years.

These nearly 400,000 men would have been enough to man twenty-seven infantry divisions at their World War II strength. That's equivalent to about a fifth of all the men we put into the Pacific theatre.

The government figures that it cost $16,000 per case—or $640,000,000 in all to handle the servicemen inactivated by heart disease during the war. The Navy estimates that it lost $4,000,000 man-days because of rheumatic fever and related rheumatic fever and related rheumatic heart disease.

The shocking fact in all these statistics is that we are here talking about young men, not oldsters who might be expected to exhibit signs of declining health.

The military's experience in World War II may well be repeated in the current crisis. It's too early yet for any general figures. But the Pittsburgh Press, analyzing draft rejections in that area, reports that one out of every eight men turned down has an organic heart disturbance.

When we are trying to find sufficient able-bodied young men to man our expanding military establishment, we feel keenly the effect of such deep ravages in the nation's health. High rejection rates plague our top soldiers, and are a compelling factor in demands for broader draft laws which will assure us a really safe manpower backlog.

But the dilemma in this field is only a small part of the heart disease puzzle. In 1948, last year for which complete, accurate figures are available, almost 638,000 people died of this ailment in America. No medical man pretends the situation is improving.

Give as generously as you can to the heart campaign, in the sure knowledge that you are attacking man's worst killer.

On a country road near Manchester in England is the sign: "Drive slowly. Watch for old, deaf dog." Here we might erect one, directing: "Take it easy. Watch for the poor, defenseless pedestrian."

A COMMUNITY ASSET

February, a month of notable birthdays, sees the celebration of a "birthday" in which all American can properly join. Boy Scout week, February 6 to 12, reminds us that one of America's largest youth organizations has reached another milestone.

The Boy Scouts of America has reached its forty-first anniversary. Since February 8, 1910, more than 17,750,000 American boys and men have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. They have benefitted by using their leisure-time energies in outdoor living and activities of cultural and practical values which lead boys to become dependable men.

Today over 2,750,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 75,000 different units. Fortunate indeed are communities where Scouting flourishes. American adults of good character give generously of their time to give leadership. Others help by raising funds and are members of local Boy Scout Councils which in turn provide training for leaders, camp facilities, worthwhile program activities, personal advancement opportunities for Scouts to render community service.

In celebration of this birthday, the Boy Scouts are engaged in a nationwide clothing collection to meet emergency needs abroad, are stepping up their training for Civil Defense and are promoting greater interest in conserving the nation's natural resources.

May you have many more happy birthdays, Boy Scouts!

Infiltration is by all accounts one of the most difficult problems which the armies in Korea have to meet. It becomes necessary to tell a North Korean from a South Korean, but the 38th Parallel has not left any telltale marks on the faces of the people.

'These Days'

MORE ON RED-BAITERS

In a moment of wild adventure, I wrote a piece listing the most active names in anti-communism in this country before 1940. I did not pretend that Dr. J. B. Matthews, Ben Stolberg or I could remember all the names, but we were hopeful that we would surely remember those among our personal friends who were active in Red-baiting, which was then denounced and is now a vogue.

That I forgot Fulton Oursler is astonishing. When other editors of magazines were playing about as great liberals, associating themselves with Communists and giving pro-Russians and fellow travelers preferred space, Oursler kept the pages of "Liberty" open to the truth. Perhaps I forgot him out of a subconscious modesty, unusual among writers, for I should have to say that when these so-called liberal editors closed their publications to me, Oursler purchased articles from me. My face was red, indeed, when I looked at the list and found his name not on it. It so often happens to a writer that when he reads what he has written, it only then occurs to him how it should have been written.

Then there is Patrick Scanlan of the Brooklyn "Tablet," who waged and continues to wage a fiery war against the "Red" brethren. The omission of Scanlan is difficult to explain, as are such names as Ayn Rand and Rose Wilder Lane, novelists, who dared to portray the truth when not to fall in line with Stalin's stooges meant unfavorable book reviews and possibly even rejection by publishers.

In the Hollywood group should be Jack Moffitt, who did so much to bring on the investigation of the infiltration in Hollywood and has since been blacklisted.

Most surprising to me is that, while I have received an enormous mail on this particular article, few additional names have been suggested for candidates for the Hall of Fame of Red Baiters prior to 1940. The largest mail demanded to know why I omitted Father Charles Coughlin, Monsignor Fulton Sheen, and Father Edward Lodge Curran.

Although in my original list, I did mention two Catholic priests, it occurred to me that all Catholic priests are anti-communist by their creed. However, these three certainly should have been given special mention as they devoted themselves extraordinarily to this cause.

Omitted from the original list, and well-deserving of the highest gratitude of the American people, because he sacrificed not only a career but his life in this fight, is Dr. William A. Wirt, educator of Gary, Indiana, who told the story of the infiltration of Communists into government as early as 1934, when the Harold Ware Cell was first organized. He was ridiculed and pilloried.

Similarly, John J. O'Connor, representative in Congress, friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt and brother of his law partner, Basil O'Connor, was purged and his political career wrecked because he told the truth. To his name should be added that of John McNaboe, New York state legislator, and of Judge Clare Gerald Fenerty, both of whom joined the fight so early that their names somehow passed me by.

No one could write a complete list, no matter how much he tried or whatever definitions he set up. However, as I read my mail, I was astonished at the repetition of the names I am noting, and how few others were offered.

Also, I must note that John Maass, advertising designer of Los Angeles, comments concerning my list that I have selected persons with criminal records. He says: "Most others in the list are fools or knaves, a few honest people are also included." He adds:

"Here is a piquant sidelight: I believe you are a Jew or at least of Jewish descent. Your list includes a number of professional antisemites who advocate the extermination of all Jews. If they were in power, you would be dispatched to the nearest gas chamber. Not even your record as an 'anti-Communist since 1917' would help you."

His letter is indeed a sad commentary on the continuance of a vile propaganda against many who love America and despise Stalin. Besides, the matter under discussion is Red-baiting before 1940 to show that some Americans recognized and understood a malignant disease. Mr. Maass's strictures are therefore irrelevant.

That Body of Yours

THE FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

Less than 50 years ago, physicians and the public generally looked upon tuberculosis of the lungs as inevitably fatal within months or at most a few years. Today, it is known that tuberculosis need not be always fatal, thanks to the great work of the National Tuberculosis Association which, by research, placing patients in special hospitals with fresh air and good food and, latterly by surgical methods in which whole lobes of the affected lung or lungs are removed, has enabled many formerly doomed individuals to return to home and work.

The tremendous cost of tuberculosis in terms of lives, suffering and dollars is emphasized in the 1949-50 annual report of the National Tuberculosis Association, released by Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director. "Killing more than 40,000 persons a year, tuberculosis is responsible for more deaths than all other infectious diseases combined and leads all diseases, infectious or not, in the age group from 15 to 34," his report states.

Despite the apparently discouraging figures, Dr. Perkins tells us that tuberculosis, a communicable disease, is also a preventable disease and can be brought under complete control if the present campaign of the medical profession, the voluntary tuberculosis associations, and official health agencies is stepped up and relentlessly pursued.

Some of the immediate and outstanding requirements to fight tuberculosis are: (a) further medical advances in research and education of the public, particularly parents; (b) more local health units to serve the general health needs of all the people; (c) more widespread efforts to find people with tuberculosis while the disease is in its early stages.

While the day is expected when tuberculosis will be conquered, eternal vigilance will always be necessary. Because it has been amply proven that tuberculosis can be cured and preventive measures can successfully overcome the disease, Dr. Perkins believes that in the very near future all countries will enforce the preventive methods that will save the lives of thousands of the young and the middle-aged—our most productive people.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Five of the nation's top labor spokesmen, led by Phil Murray of the C.I.O., had it hot and heavy with Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson last week over the government's manpower program.

The ill feeling which flared between them looked like a curtain-raiser for more trouble on the labor front, and raised one of the most difficult problems of any defense or war program.

Purpose of the labor leaders' call on Wilson was to keep the nation's civilian manpower program under the Labor Department. This has been the subject of a bitter backstage battle for some time, with Wilson and Gen. Lucius Clay wanting to take manpower away from Secretary of Labor Tobin and Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg, and with the latter two threatening to resign if the labor problem is taken out of their hands.

Labor leaders have good reason to fear General Clay and any manpower commission which he organized. They recall that during the recent war and before he went to Germany as military governor, Clay demanded of F.D.R. that there be compulsory allocation of labor under a labor draft.

That was one reason why the five leaders went to see Mobilization Czar Charlie Wilson last week to try to keep civilian manpower under the Labor Department. They got nowhere. Wilson's attitude during the bitter meeting was "I'm running things—we'll do it my way," though he didn't put it quite so bluntly.

He didn't have to. On the way to the meeting the labor group had read a news story telling of Wilson's and General Clay's plan to set up their own manpower commission under Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming—with Clay, however, as the real boss. Wilson did not deny the story. Nor did he seem concerned when the labor leaders reminded him that he was setting up a board to control labor without consulting labor.

Ample Authority

When reminded that labor was consulted equally with management during World War 2, and that labor had a co-chairman on the office of production management, Wilson made it plain that he did not plan to follow this precedent.

"I have authority from the President," he said, "and I am going to use that authority. I haven't as yet asked Arthur Flemming to head up this manpower commission, but I intend to do so. And if he doesn't accept, I may head it up myself."

"Well, we don't like a proposition like that," spoke up C.I.O. President Phil Murray. "We represent the men and women who are engaged in war production work and we think we should at least have an equal voice in the government's manpower policies."

Murray added that if Wilson became manpower chief in addition to his top job as mobilization boss, it would be the same as a man "taking advice from himself."

Note—Other labor leaders attending the meeting were: Dan Tracy, president of the AFL Electrical Workers; Al Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists; George Leighty, chairman of the Railroad Labor Executives Association; and James Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer.

Inside the Communists—There was something funny about the way Farrar, Straus & Co. suddenly junked Hede Massing's new book on life inside the Communist Party. She's the ex-wife of Gerhart Eisler, and the book won't do Stalin any good. . . . The manuscript was immediately snapped up by Duell, Sloan and Pearce. . . . Communist Party membership has taken a terrific beating in Europe in the wake of the Marshall Plan, the Tide of Toys, the Friendship Train and other friendship projects to Europe. In the Dutch Parliament, Communist seats have dropped from 56 to 27. In the Soviet zone of Austria, Communists lost 10 of their 11 parliamentary seats. In Belgium, they lost five out of 12 seats in the lower house and two out of five in the senate. . . . In Denmark they dropped from 76 elective posts to only 24. . . . The Dutch Communist newspaper is now down from 400,000 circulation to around 100,000, while the Communist press of France has taken similar losses. . . . Most amazing development, however, is in Italy, where two top Communist senators have resigned from the party and are starting an independent party similar to Tito's.

Military Scuttlebutt—The air force is probing complaints of kickbacks and shortages at the Bolling Field Officers Club outside Washington. Maj. Dan H. Rogers, officer-in-charge, has resigned . . . Army Chief of Staff General Collins told the Senate Armed Services Committee behind closed doors that there are now 950,000 Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur's intelligence at the same time reported only 276,000 . . . . Here are the results of a check on reports that Col. James Demarest has been made special consultant to the quartermaster general at the behest of Ex-assistant Secretary of Defense Paul Griffith. (The quartermaster, of course, hands out some of the juiciest contracts in government.) Colonel Demarest draws $40 a day whenever consulted, was appointed Jan. 22, and is associated in public relations with Paul Griffith, according to the quartermaster corps. It was denied, however, that Griffith recommended Demarest for the job . . . . Griffith, when queried, denied everything—even that he was associated with Demarest in public relations work. But when told that the quartermaster stated just the opposite, Griffith admitted he had discussed a public relations setup with Demarest. (Wonder how a public relations man could be worth $40 a day for advising the army on war contracts?) . . . The munition's board's failure to stockpile wool has forced the army to bid against the Russians on the Australian wool market—with the price going up every day.

Unhappy Good Neighbors—Latin Americans have a bone to pick with Debonair Eric Johnston, the new economic stabilizer. Johnston's name is signed to the Chapultepec Treaty by which the U.S.A. agrees to consult with its good neighbors before freezing prices. However, Johnston didn't consult. Latin-American ambassadors were merely called in at the last minute and told. There was no consultation.....The American public doesn't realize it, but the Latinos get hit harder than anyone else by price freezes. They sell us coffee, for instance, at frozen prices, but can't buy back autos, scarce machinery, minerals, etc., because we don't have them to spare. Then, after war, the prices of these scarce articles go up . . . . Look out for trouble in Venezuela. When college students and faculty in Caracas petitioned President Suarez Flamerich to release political prisoners, the army proceeded to throw students and faculty into jail too. President Flamerich, out of sympathy with the army, presented his resignation, but the army refused to accept it. He remains in office with a pistol at his back.

Post Office Department Was Enabled to Get Mail Through in Cleveland's Administration

By DAVID LAWRENCE

That was but another way of saying that somebody is falling down—somebody isn't using the power of the army to carry out a mission entrusted to it by the Commander-in-chief.

Back in the administration of President Cleveland, the mails were interfered with and soldiers were sent to put the trains through that carried mail. Today the Post Office Department is compelled to confess defeat—it has to embargo the transportation and even the sending of mail in certain localities.

It will be asked how the army is going to compel the switchmen, for instance, to work against their will. It can't, of course, make anybody work who isn't a member of the armed forces. But at the moment the army is the employer. The army can call on the switchmen to come back to work or order their jobs forfeited. This means there would be a loss of seniority rights to individuals. There would be other consequences, too. The army could call for volunteers.

The army has it in its power to demand that the workers furnish medical certificates attesting that they are sick and unfit for work. But no such order has been issued. Judge Igoe, in Federal Court, makes the case clear when he says:

"Someone has interfered with the operation of the country's railroads. Union grievances are not the issue. These men have challenged the sovereignty of the United States and in this court that sovereignty is asserted."

The judge, a former Democratic member of Congress from Illinois, went on to say that the army officers who had appeared in his courtroom to testify would be exempted from court appearances and "ought to be out running the railroads." He suggested that they "get soldiers to operate the railroads if nobody else can."

This, of course, will be called encouragement of "strike breaking." Many a governor has been lambasted for employing the militia to do that very thing. But this episode does not involve "strike breaking" in the usual sense. It involves breaking up a rebellion against the army itself, which under an executive order is operating the railroads. It so happens that railroad executives have been placed in uniform to operate the roads, and there is nothing to prevent the army from using other officers, too, to recruit men for the switching jobs.

The workers who are playing "sick" are presumably doing so under orders from their chiefs, though this probably has been done by some clandestine method, which the government is trying to expose in the court proceedings. The right to quit work implies only individual rather than concerted action when the strike is against the government.

There are, to be sure, grievances which make the men "sick and tired" of the protracted negotiations. But, as Judge Igoe expressed it, "everyone sympathizes with these men in their demand for more pay and better working conditions." What the public doesn't sympathize with is the strike against the army—and, incidentally, it was a labor-union chief who in the first place requested that the railroads be taken over by the army for operation and assured the President that the men would continue to work.

There are unquestionably many important points which cause the workers to feel aggrieved but good sportsmanship requires that, when a negotiation has reached a deadlock, some form of arbitration be agreed upon to settle the dispute. Even at this late day, an arbitrator or board of arbitration with final power might be empowered to consider a settlement provided both sides agreed to accept the results.

The Truman administration cannot drift along with the present intolerable situation. For, just as soon as some rail workers go back to their jobs in certain cities, other union members now go off the jobs in other cities. The same tactics which were used in December have been repeated in February and can be repeated in March or April if the dispute isn't settled conclusively. Since the railroads are being operated by the army, some satisfactory demonstration is needed that the army can carry out a mission given to it by the President, lest government authority be regarded hereafter as something that can be trifled with even if officers in uniform issue the orders.

You can fortify that information with the recollection that Roosevelt, in Chicago, told the boys to clear the nominee for vice-president with Sidney Hillman. Lowenthal was attorney for Hillman's union. Hillman was the equivalent of a Communist but it never was shown that he joined the party.

Just why the Committee on Un-American Activities, being composed of lawyers, let this artful dodger get away with his evasions and let Burt Wheeler, his attorney, bull them around, I have no idea to offer except that the Truman administration set out to nullify the committee after the Alger Hiss conviction and the red-herring crack made such a bum of Truman. I have counted 17 instances in which Lowenthal said he couldn't remember this or had no knowledge of that, but, for a saver, threw in the clause that if the committee had any evidence to support its line of questioning, he would be glad to have this noted in the record.

Remembering that Daniels described him as a self-effacing man, get a load of this from Lowenthal himself: "Hundreds and thousands of people have come to me for advice on millions of subjects—that is an exaggeration, I guess, but hundreds of subjects. I have done that for many years."

Louis Russell, the chief investigator of the committee, asked whether he had ever been asked to submit to examination by the Civil Service Commission.

Now the self-effacing man of

HEART AILMENTS

February is the month devoted to the annual fund-raising campaign of the American Heart Association.

No one needs to be reminded that heart diseases are the leading cause of death in the United States. They account for upwards of forty per cent of all deaths, outstripping the dreaded cancer by three to one.

This year, however, it may be more fitting to focus on just one phase of this grave medical problem: its ravages among actual or prospective members of our armed forces.

During World War II, 317,500 men were rejected for military service because of heart ailments. This amounted to three and one-half per cent of all selective service registrants examined.

In addition, some 80,000 men either were given disability discharges from service or died in service as result of heart diseases in the war years.

These nearly 400,000 men would have been enough to man twenty-seven infantry divisions at their World War II strength. That's equivalent to about a fifth of all the men we put into the Pacific theatre.

The government figures that it cost $16,000 per case—or $640,000,000 in all to handle the servicemen inactivated by heart disease during the war. The Navy estimates that it lost $4,000,000 man-days because of rheumatic fever and related rheumatic fever and related rheumatic heart disease.

The shocking fact in all these statistics is that we are here talking about young men, not oldsters who might be expected to exhibit signs of declining health.

The military's experience in World War II may well be repeated in the current crisis. It's too early yet for any general figures. But the Pittsburgh Press, analyzing draft rejections in that area, reports that one out of every eight men turned down has an organic heart disturbance.

When we are trying to find sufficient able-bodied young men to man our expanding military establishment, we feel keenly the effect of such deep ravages in the nation's health. High rejection rates plague our top soldiers, and are a compelling factor in demands for broader draft laws which will assure us a really safe manpower backlog.

But the dilemma in this field is only a small part of the heart disease puzzle. In 1948, last year for which complete, accurate figures are available, almost 638,000 people died of this ailment in America. No medical man pretends the situation is improving.

Give as generously as you can to the heart campaign, in the sure knowledge that you are attacking man's worst killer.

On a country road near Manchester in England is the sign: "Drive slowly. Watch for old, deaf dog." Here we might erect one, directing: "Take it easy. Watch for the poor, defenseless pedestrian."

A COMMUNITY ASSET

February, a month of notable birthdays, sees the celebration of a "birthday" in which all American can properly join. Boy Scout week, February 6 to 12, reminds us that one of America's largest youth organizations has reached another milestone.

The Boy Scouts of America has reached its forty-first anniversary. Since February 8, 1910, more than 17,750,000 American boys and men have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. They have benefitted by using their leisure-time energies in outdoor living and activities of cultural and practical values which lead boys to become dependable men.

Today over 2,750,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in over 75,000 different units. Fortunate indeed are communities where Scouting flourishes. American adults of good character give generously of their time to give leadership. Others help by raising funds and are members of local Boy Scout Councils which in turn provide training for leaders, camp facilities, worthwhile ground activities, personal advancement opportunities for Scouts to render community service.

In celebration of this birthday, the Boy Scouts are engaged in a nationwide clothing collection to meet emergency needs abroad, are stepping up their training for Civil Defense and are promoting greater interest in conserving the nation's natural resources.

May you have many more happy birthdays, Boy Scouts!

Infiltration is by all accounts one of the most difficult problems which the armies in Korea have to meet. It becomes necessary to tell a North Korean from a South Korean, but the 38th Parallel has not left any telltale marks on the faces of the people.

'These Days'

MORE ON RED-BAITERS

In a moment of wild adventure, I wrote a piece listing the most active names in anti-communism in this country before 1940. I did not pretend that Dr. J. B. Matthews, Ben Stolberg or I could remember all the names, but we were hopeful that we would surely remember those among our personal friends who were active in Red-baiting, which was then denounced and is now a vogue.

That I forgot Fulton Oursler is astonishing. When other editors of magazines were playing about as great liberals, associating themselves with Communists and giving pro-Russians and fellow travelers preferred space, Oursler kept the pages of "Liberty" open to the truth. Perhaps I forgot him out of a subconscious modesty, unusual among writers, for I should have to say that when these so-called liberal editors closed their publications to me, Oursler purchased articles from me. My face was red, indeed, when I looked at the list and found his name not on it. It so often happens to a writer that when he reads what he has written, it only then occurs to him how it should have been written.

Then there is Patrick Scanlan of the Brooklyn "Tablet," who waged and continues to wage a fiery war against the "Red" brethren. The omission of Scanlan is difficult to explain, as are such names as Ayn Rand and Rose Wilder Lane, novelists, who dared to portray the truth when not to fall in line with Stalin's stooges meant unfavorable book reviews and possibly even rejection by publishers.

In the Hollywood group should be Jack Moffitt, who did so much to bring on the investigation of the infiltration in Hollywood and has since been blacklisted.

Most surprising to me is that, while I have received an enormous mail on this particular article, few additional names have been suggested for candidates for the Hall of Fame of Red Baiters prior to 1940. The largest mail demanded to know why I omitted Father Charles Coughlin, Monsignor Fulton Sheen, and Father Edward Lodge Curran.

Although in my original list, I did mention two Catholic priests, it occurred to me that all Catholic priests are anti-communist by their creed. However, these three certainly should have been given special mention as they devoted themselves extraordinarily to this cause.

Omitted from the original list, and well-deserving of the highest gratitude of the American people, because he sacrificed not only a career but his life in this fight, is Dr. William A. Wirt, educator of Gary, Indiana, who told the story of the infiltration of Communists into government as early as 1934, when the Harold Ware Cell was first organized. He was ridiculed and pilloried.

Similarly, John J. O'Connor, representative in Congress, friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt and brother of his law partner, Basil O'Connor, was purged and his political career wrecked because he told the truth. To his name should be added that of John McNaboe, New York state legislator, and of Judge Clare Gerald Fenerty, both of whom joined the fight so early that their names somehow passed me by.

No one could write a complete list, no matter how much he tried or whatever definitions he set up. However, as I read my mail, I was astonished at the repetition of the names I am noting, and how few others were offered.

Also, I must note that John Maass, advertising designer of Los Angeles, comments concerning my list that I have selected persons with criminal records. He says: "Most others in the list are fools or knaves, a few honest people are also included." He adds:

"Here is a piquant sidelight: I believe you are a Jew or at least of Jewish descent. Your list includes a number of professional antisemites who advocate the extermination of all Jews. If they were in power, you would be dispatched to the nearest gas chamber. Not even your record as an 'anti-Communist since 1917' would help you."

His letter is indeed a sad commentary on the continuance of a vile propaganda against many who love America and despise Stalin. Besides, the matter under discussion is Red-baiting before 1940 to show that some Americans recognized and understood a malignant disease. Mr. Maass's strictures are therefore irrelevant.

THE FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

Less than 50 years ago, physicians and the public generally looked upon tuberculosis of the lungs as inevitably fatal within months or at most a few years. Today, it is known that tuberculosis need not be always fatal, thanks to the great work of the National Tuberculosis Association which, by research, placing patients in special hospitals with fresh air and good food and, latterly by surgical methods in which whole lobes of the affected lung or lungs are removed, has enabled many formerly doomed individuals to return to home and work.

The tremendous cost of tuberculosis in terms of lives, suffering and dollars is emphasized in the 1949-50 annual report of the National Tuberculosis Association, released by Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director. "Killing more than 40,000 persons a year, tuberculosis is responsible for more deaths than all other infectious diseases combined and leads all diseases, infectious or not, in the age group from 15 to 34," his report states.

Despite the apparently discouraging figures, Dr. Perkins tells us that tuberculosis, a communicable disease, is also a preventable disease and can be brought under complete control if the present campaign of the medical profession, the voluntary tuberculosis associations, and official health agencies is stepped up and relentlessly pursued.

Some of the immediate and outstanding requirements to fight tuberculosis are: (a) further medical advances in research and education of the public, particularly parents; (b) more local health units to serve the general health needs of all the people; (c) more widespread efforts to find people with tuberculosis while the disease is in its early stages.

While the day is expected when tuberculosis will be conquered, eternal vigilance will always be necessary. Because it has been amply proven that tuberculosis can be cured and preventive measures can successfully overcome the disease, Dr. Perkins believes that in the very near future all countries will enforce the preventive methods that will save the lives of thousands of the young and the middle-aged—our most productive people.

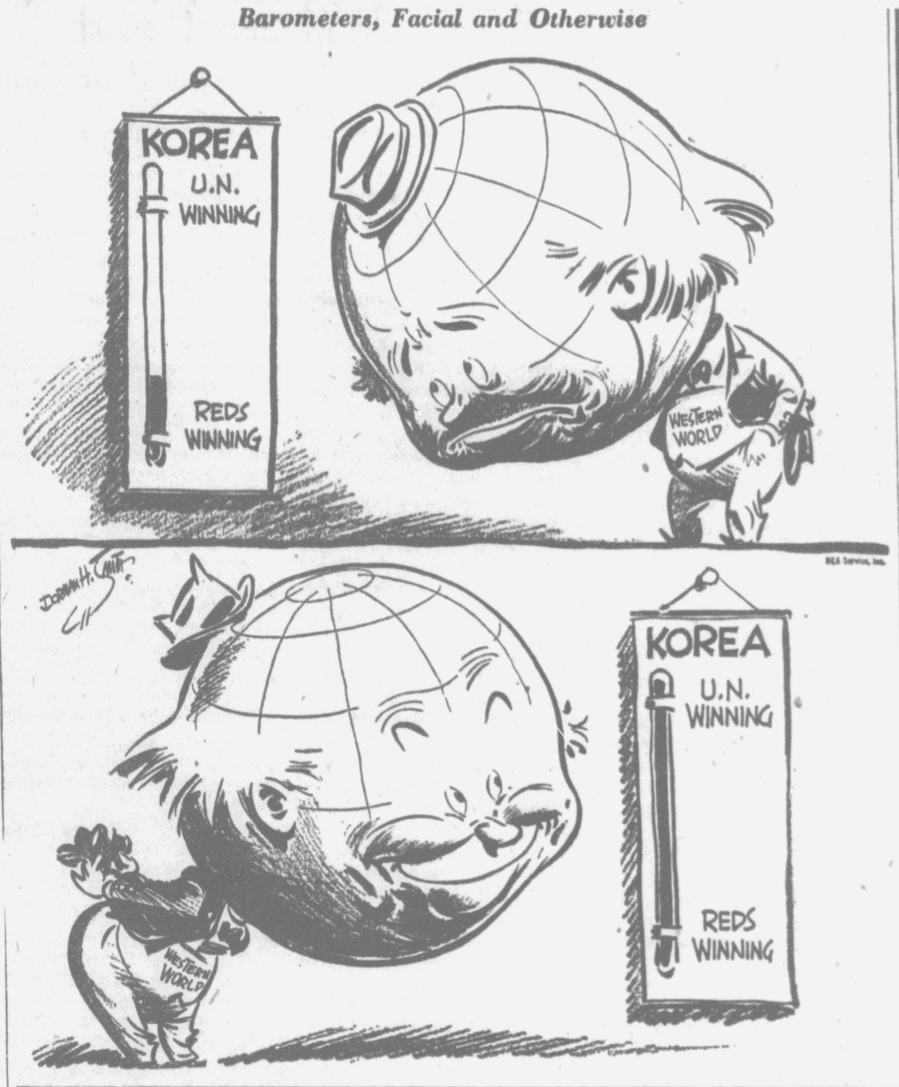
Barometers, Facial and Otherwise



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Five of the nation's top labor spokesmen, led by Phil Murray of the C.I.O., had it hot and heavy with Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson last week over the government's manpower program.

The ill feeling which flared between them looked like a curtain-raiser for more trouble on the labor front, and raised one of the most difficult problems of any defense or war program.

Purpose of the labor leaders' call on Wilson was to keep the nation's civilian manpower program under the Labor Department. This has been the subject of a bitter backstage battle for some time, with Wilson and Gen. Lucius Clay wanting to take manpower away from Secretary of Labor Tobin and Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg, and with the latter two threatening to resign if the labor problem is taken out of their hands.

Labor leaders have good reason to fear General Clay and any manpower commission which he organized. They recall that during the recent war and before he went to Germany as military governor, Clay demanded of F.D.R. that there be compulsory allocation of labor under a labor draft.

That was one reason why the five leaders went to see Mobilization Czar Charlie Wilson last week to try to keep civilian manpower under the Labor Department. They got nowhere. Wilson's attitude during the bitter meeting was "I'm running things—we'll do it my way," though he didn't put it quite so bluntly.

He didn't have to. On the way to the meeting the labor group had read a news story telling of Wilson's and General Clay's plan to set up their own manpower commission under Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming—with Clay, however, as the real boss. Wilson did not deny the story. Nor did he seem concerned when the labor leaders reminded him that he was setting up a board to control labor without consulting labor.

Ample Authority

When reminded that labor was consulted equally with management during World War 2, and that labor had a co-chairman on the office of production management, Wilson made it plain that he did not plan to follow this precedent.

"I have authority from the President," he said, "and I am going to use that authority. I haven't as yet asked Arthur Flemming to head up this manpower commission, but I intend to do so. And if he doesn't accept, I may head it up myself."

"Well, we don't like a proposition like that," spoke up C.I.O. President Phil Murray. "We represent the men and women who are engaged in war production work and we think we should at least have an equal voice in the government's manpower policies."

Murray added that if Wilson became manpower chief in addition to his top job as mobilization boss, it would be the same as a man "taking advice from himself."

Note—Other labor leaders attending the meeting were: Dan Tracy, president of the AFL Electrical Workers; Al Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists; George Leighty, chairman of the Railroad Labor Executives Association; and James Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer.

Inside the Communists—There was something funny about the way Farrar, Straus & Co. suddenly junked Hede Massing's new book on life inside the Communist Party. She's the ex-wife of Gerhart Eisler, and the book won't do Stalin any good. . . . The manuscript was immediately snapped up by Duell, Sloan and Pearce. . . . Communist Party membership has taken a terrific beating in Europe in the wake of the Marshall Plan, the Tide of Toys, the Friendship Train and other friendship projects to Europe. In the Dutch Parliament, Communist seats have dropped from 56 to 27. In the Soviet zone of Austria, Communists lost 10 of their 11 parliamentary seats. In Belgium, they lost five out of 12 seats in the lower house and two out of five in the senate. . . . In Denmark they dropped from 76 elective posts to only 24. . . . The Dutch Communist newspaper is now down from 400,000 circulation to around 100,000, while the Communist press of France has taken similar losses. . . . Most amazing development, however, is in Italy, where two top Communist senators have resigned from the party and are starting an independent party similar to Tito's.

Military Scuttlebutt—The air force is probing complaints of kickbacks and shortages at the Bolling Field Officers Club outside Washington. Maj. Dan H. Rogers, officer-in-charge, has resigned . . . Army Chief of Staff General Collins told the Senate Armed Services Committee behind closed doors that there are now 950,000 Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur's intelligence at the same time reported only 276,000 . . . . Here are the results of a check on reports that Col. James Demarest has been made special consultant to the quartermaster general at the behest of Ex-assistant Secretary of Defense Paul Griffith. (The quartermaster, of course, hands out some of the juiciest contracts in government.) Colonel Demarest draws $40 a day whenever consulted, was appointed Jan. 22, and is associated in public relations with Paul Griffith, according to the quartermaster corps. It was denied, however, that Griffith recommended Demarest for the job . . . . Griffith, when queried, denied everything—even that he was associated with Demarest in public relations work. But when told that the quartermaster stated just the opposite, Griffith admitted he had discussed a public relations setup with Demarest. (Wonder how a public relations man could be worth $40 a day for advising the army on war contracts?) . . . The munition's board's failure to stockpile wool has forced the army to bid against the Russians on the Australian wool market—with the price going up every day.

Unhappy Good Neighbors—Latin Americans have a bone to pick with Debonair Eric Johnston, the new economic stabilizer. Johnston's name is signed to the Chapultepec Treaty by which the U.S.A. agrees to consult with its good neighbors before freezing prices. However, Johnston didn't consult. Latin-American ambassadors were merely called in at the last minute and told. There was no consultation.....The American public doesn't realize it, but the Latinos get hit harder than anyone else by price freezes. They sell us coffee, for instance, at frozen prices, but can't buy back autos, scarce machinery, minerals, etc., because we don't have them to spare. Then, after war, the prices of these scarce articles go up . . . . Look out for trouble in Venezuela. When college students and faculty in Caracas petitioned President Suarez Flamerich to release political prisoners, the army proceeded to throw students and faculty into jail too. President Flamerich, out of sympathy with the army, presented his resignation, but the army refused to accept it. He remains in office with a pistol at his back.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 8—In the parlance of the day, Judge Michael Igoe said a "mouthful" when he asked the army why it wasn't operating the trains. That was but another way of saying that somebody is falling down—somebody isn't using the power of the army to carry out a mission entrusted to it by the Commander-in-chief.

Back in the administration of President Cleveland, the mails were interfered with and soldiers were sent to put the trains through that carried mail. Today the Post Office Department is compelled to confess defeat—it has to embargo the transportation and even the sending of mail in certain localities.

It will be asked how the army is going to compel the switchmen, for instance, to work against their will. It can't, of course, make anybody work who isn't a member of the armed forces. But at the moment the army is the employer. The army can call on the switchmen to come back to work or order their jobs forfeited. This means there would be a loss of seniority rights to individuals. There would be other consequences, too. The army could call for volunteers.

The army has it in its power to demand that the workers furnish medical certificates attesting that they are sick and unfit for work. But no such order has been issued. Judge Igoe, in Federal Court, makes the case clear when he says:

"Someone has interfered with the operation of the country's railroads. Union grievances are not the issue. These men have challenged the sovereignty of the United States and in this court that sovereignty is asserted."

The judge, a former Democratic member of Congress from Illinois, went on to say that the army officers who had appeared in his courtroom to testify would be exempted from court appearances and "ought to be out running the railroads." He suggested that they "get soldiers to operate the railroads if nobody else can."

This, of course, will be called encouragement of "strike breaking." Many a governor has been lambasted for employing the militia to do that very thing. But this episode does not involve "strike breaking" in the usual sense. It involves breaking up a rebellion against the army itself, which under an executive order is operating the railroads. It so happens that railroad executives have been placed in uniform to operate the roads, and there is nothing to prevent the army from using other officers, too, to recruit men for the switching jobs.

The workers who are playing "sick" are presumably doing so under orders from their chiefs, though this probably has been done by some clandestine method, which the government is trying to expose in the court proceedings. The right to quit work implies only individual rather than concerted action when the strike is against the government.

There are, to be sure, grievances which make the men "sick and tired" of the protracted negotiations. But, as Judge Igoe expressed it, "everyone sympathizes with these men in their demand for more pay and better working conditions." What the public doesn't sympathize with is the strike against the army—and, incidentally, it was a labor-union chief who in the first place requested that the railroads be taken over by the army for operation and assured the President that the men would continue to work.

There are unquestionably many important points which cause the workers to feel aggrieved but good sportsmanship requires that, when a negotiation has reached a deadlock, some form of arbitration be agreed upon to settle the dispute. Even at this late day, an arbitrator or board of arbitration with final power might be empowered to consider a settlement provided both sides agreed to accept the results.

The Truman administration cannot drift along with the present intolerable situation. For, just as soon as some rail workers go back to their jobs in certain cities, other union members now go off the jobs in other cities. The same tactics which were used in December have been repeated in February and can be repeated in March or April if the dispute isn't settled conclusively. Since the railroads are being operated by the army, some satisfactory demonstration is needed that the army can carry out a mission given to it by the President, lest government authority be regarded hereafter as something that can be trifled with even if officers in uniform issue the orders.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 7—The testimony of Max Lowenthal, the mysterious New York lawyer who now appears to have picked Harry Truman for president and to have souped him up with the Brandeis philosphy, is so slippery that if you have ever read the text of the examination of Father Divine you must think they studied out of the same book. This is the fellow who wrote a book blasting the F.B.I. and got taken apart by Congressman George Dondero of Michigan. On the floor of the House, Dondero said Lowenthal had followed the Communist line for years and had planted his men in positions of power. Jonathan Daniels, one of the President's selfless anonymities, says in his book on Truman that Lowenthal picked him for President in 1944, when it was plain that Roosevelt was going to die in his fourth term.

You can fortify that information with the recollection that Roosevelt, in Chicago, told the boys to clear the nominee for vice-president with Sidney Hillman. Lowenthal was attorney for Hillman's union. Hillman was the equivalent of a Communist but it never was shown that he joined the party.

Just why the Committee on Un-American Activities, being composed of lawyers, let this artful dodger get away with his evasions and let Burt Wheeler, his attorney, bull them around, I have no idea to offer except that the Truman administration set out to nullify the committee after the Alger Hiss conviction and the red-herring crack made such a hum of Truman. Dental Health For Children

(Second or permanent teeth are discussed in this fourth of a series of articles published by the Kingston Daily Freeman, in cooperation with the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week.)

Jaws of children have been accurately referred to as toothbuilding machines. Not only do they contain the 20 primary or first teeth, but they also are manufacturing 32 permanent teeth as well.

The first permanent teeth appear when the child is about 6 years old. These are called sixth-year molars. They come in directly back of the last primary teeth in both upper and lower jaws,

Newkirk Urges All To Visit Boy Scout Jamboree Feb. 10

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, desirous of seeing the 41st anniversary of Scouting observed in auspicious fashion, urges all to attend the jamboree celebration in the municipal auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 10.

A strong booster for scouting, Mayor Newkirk issued this statement to the press today:

"The week of February 5th through the 10th is National Boy Scout Week. The Kingston district of the Rip Van Winkle Council is holding a jamboree in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on February 10th from 3 p. m. until closing time. The leaders of the Boy Scouts are doing a marvelous job in molding the youth of today for future citizens of tomorrow.

"The Boy Scouts and their leaders are working hard to make this jamboree a success on the 41st anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

"I am asking the citizens of Kingston to back up the Boy Scouts during Boy Scout Week by visiting the municipal auditorium sometime during February 10 so that they might become better acquainted with the scouts and their work."

Lenten Recipe

Using Miss-Lou Canned Shrimp with fresh-from-the-sea flavor

RECIPE

PUFFY SHRIMP BAKE

1 can Miss-Lou Shrimp
4 slices bread
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
Salt, pepper, dry mustard
1¼ cups American cheese
2 eggs
1¼ cups milk

Spread bread with margarine, sprinkle with salt, pepper, dry mustard. Cut into cubes. Arrange layers of bread, shrimp, and grated cheese in greased casserole. Beat eggs, add milk; pour over other ingredients. Place casserole in pan of hot water; bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 1¼ hours, until firm. Serves 4.

A 5-oz. can Miss-Lou Shrimp equal to 1 lb. whole raw shrimp; no shells, no waste. Tasty, plump, tender Miss-Lou Shrimp—rich in Vitamins A and D, protein, minerals, iodine. Already cooked, ready to eat—plain or in main dishes, cocktails, salads.

INSURED FUTURES

Grand Union was the First Major Food Chain to offer a formal Retirement Plan to all employees. The Plan contributes to financial security upon retirement.

A few major points of the Plan:

- All full-time employees are eligible, regardless of position or salary.
- Short waiting period required for employees to join Plan.
- Company pays all "prior service" benefits.
- Both the company and the employee share the cost. (To date the Company has contributed 70% and employees 30%).
- Funds paid into Plan are "trusteed", guaranteeing liberal retirement benefits.
- Normal retirement age 65. Eligible employees may retire 5 years prior to normal retirement age.
- $100 per month minimum benefit for persons with 25 or more years of covered service.
- As in most modern plans, benefits are combined with primary social security.
- Provision is made for employees to vest their rights so they need not remain with Grand Union until they retire in order to receive benefits.

The Plan is concrete evidence of Grand Union's interest in the future of all of the men and women of the Company.

- Short waiting period required for employees to join Plan.
- Company pays all "prior service" benefits.
- Both the company and the employee share the cost. (To date the Company has contributed 70% and employees 30%).
- Funds paid into Plan are "trusteed", guaranteeing liberal retirement benefits.
- Normal retirement age 65. Eligible employees may retire 5 years prior to normal retirement age.
- $100 per month minimum benefit for persons with 25 or more years of covered service.
- As in most modern plans, benefits are combined with primary social security.
- Provision is made for employees to vest their rights so they need not remain with Grand Union until they retire in order to receive benefits.

The Plan is concrete evidence of Grand Union's interest in the future of all of the men and women of the Company.

A Perfect Day

A coonskin coat
To warm her throat;
A tea date at the Ritz.
'Most any maid,
Thus well arrayed,
Need not depend on wits.

A sign on the back of a bakery truck in Holdenville, Okla., reads: "Hit me easy, I'm full of pie."—Mrs. Ona Raney, Gerty, Okla.

Girl—I had such a good time. That must have been very expensive for you to take me night-clubbing and buying me flowers. What can I do to repay you?

Man—How about a third down and three dollars a week for a year?

Labor is rest from sorrow; from the petty vexations that meet us; from the sin-promptings that assail us.—F. S. Osgood.

Fortune Teller—You will be poor and unhappy until you reach the age of forty.

Sucker—And then what, after that?

Fortune Teller — After that, you'll get used to it.

It looks as if television was going to switch to color, and we wonder how they'll make out with all those red eyes in the soap operas.

Bald student—You say you can recommend this hair restorer?

Barber—Yes, sir, I knew a man who removed the cork from the bottle with his teeth and within 24 hours he had a mustache.

If jumping at conclusions were physical exercise, how many of us would be athletes?

She pulled away—
He held her tight
He was a string
And she was a kite.

Eskimos, says an explorer, never spank their children. Maybe because all the kids can swipe from the pantry is a hunk of ice.

Man—What a time we're going to have at the picnic. We'll sit on the grass and eat sandwiches, potato salad and cookies.

Girl—Did you bring any ant-paste?

Man—No, they'll have to eat what we eat.

We like the one about the fellow who didn't come home one night and his worried wife wired five of his friends: "Jack hasn't come home. Is he spending the night with you? Soon after her husband got home, she received five wires. They all read: "It's O. K. Jack is spending the night with me!"

As Pegler Sees It

mystery takes the air. This is verbatim: "I told the man who called me this, as I remember it that, I thought it infra dig, beneath my dignity, after my years in the federal government, to be questioned by some little investigator in some little hole in some back building about my career, I wouldn't stand for it; but that if he wanted to know anything about me, I would be glad to have him come over and ask any questions he wanted but I wholly disapproved of that way of doing government business; that I would be willing to be questioned by my peers, but not by some little investigator who may not have been born by the time I had begun to serve the federal government with some honor. * * * * and I may have said to him, I think, also Mr. Chairman, that for some little investigator to come around and ask me questions about my record, which had already been passed on by one of the leading men in the United States Senate and by men who had been president both in the Democratic and Republican side, seemed to me rather ignoble. I feel that to have some little investigator question me about my record is ignoble."

The committee tried several tacks to come at an answer to a demand for the names of the persons who had recommended him as adviser to General Clay in Germany. Congressman Dondero said that "by pulling strings" Lowenthal, the president-maker of the Truman regime, had acquired the title of adviser to Clay on the disposal of property which the Nazi regime had confiscated from the Jews of Germany.

"Who recommended your employment by the War Department?"

The committee never did get an answer.

"I was asked by a group of organizations whether I would permit my name to be submitted for recommendation to General Clay," Lowenthal said, "and I agreed. On the other hand, I had known the secretary of war rather intimately for more than 30 years. That was Secretary Patterson. I wouldn't know whether he had anything to do with it in the way of r e c o m m e n d a t i o n. I just wouldn't know."

At one point Wheeler, his own lawyer, horned in to say it might be well for Lowenthal to name the heads of organizations who asked him to permit them to submit his name. Lowenthal waltzed all over the joint but he never named a single person nor a single organization. And the committee sat there like a lot of dummies and let him get away with it.

The scene now switches over to the Senate where Pat McCarran, of Nevada, as chairman of the judiciary committee, a Democrat but anti-Communist, is captain of a team of Democrats and Republicans, including Homer Furguson, of Michigan, who are fixing to do the job right.

Truman got hold of the House committee and unmanned it with the results indicated in these swatches of testimony by the man, hitherto unknown to the American people, who is given credit for making Truman president and shaping his mind so that he came out for the extreme Socialist program which is the last stop before communism. But Truman can't control the judiciary committee of the Senate. Even the Democrats on that one are pro-American and anti-Communist, which is a rare combination in Democrats these days. They will bat Truman's ears down if he tries.

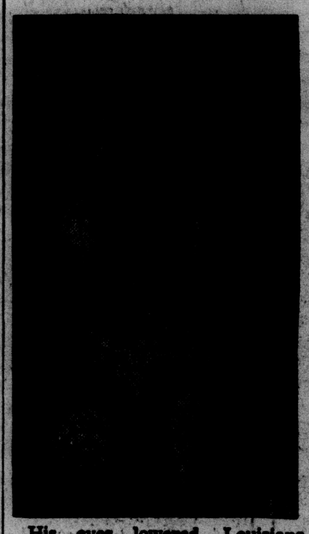
Gets His Chance



His eyes lowered, Louisiana Sheriff Frank J. Clancy testifies before the Senate crime investigating committee in Washington. At a committee hearing in New Orleans late last month, he refused to answer many questions. At his own request, Clancy was given a chance Feb. 7 to escape a possible contempt of congress charge by telling what he knows about gambling in Jefferson Parish (county). (AP Wirephoto).

Has Parkinson's Disease

Salem, Mass., Feb. 8 (AP)—A physician has disclosed that Playwright Eugene O'Neill has been suffering for some time from Parkinson's disease—a form of palsy. The famous 62-year-old Nobel Prize winner is at Salem Hospital where he is also being treated for a fractured leg. His wife is under treatment at the same hospital but the nature of her ailment was not disclosed.

On the other hand, I had known the secretary of war rather intimately for more than 30 years. That was Secretary Patterson. I wouldn't know whether he had anything to do with it in the way of recommendation. I just wouldn't know."

At one point Wheeler, his own lawyer, horned in to say it might be well for Lowenthal to name the heads of organizations who asked him to permit them to submit his name. Lowenthal waltzed all over the joint but he never named a single person nor a single organization. And the committee sat there like a lot of dummies and let him get away with it.

The scene now switches over to the Senate where Pat McCarran, of Nevada, as chairman of the judiciary committee, a Democrat but anti-Communist, is captain of a team of Democrats and Republicans, including Homer Furguson, of Michigan, who are fixing to do the job right.

Truman got hold of the House committee and unmanned it with the results indicated in these swatches of testimony by the man, hitherto unknown to the American people, who is given credit for making Truman president and shaping his mind so that he came out for the extreme Socialist program which is the last stop before communism. But Truman can't control the judiciary committee of the Senate. Even the Democrats on that one are pro-American and anti-Communist, which is a rare combination in Democrats these days. They will bat Truman's ears down if he tries.

Gets His Chance

His eyes lowered, Louisiana Sheriff Frank J. Clancy testifies before the Senate crime investigating committee in Washington. At a committee hearing in New Orleans late last month, he refused to answer many questions. At his own request, Clancy was given a chance Feb. 7 to escape a possible contempt of congress charge by telling what he knows about gambling in Jefferson Parish (county). (AP Wirephoto).

Has Parkinson's Disease

Salem, Mass., Feb. 8 (AP)—A physician has disclosed that Playwright Eugene O'Neill has been suffering for some time from Parkinson's disease—a form of palsy. The famous 62-year-old Nobel Prize winner is at Salem Hospital where he is also being treated for a fractured leg. His wife is under treatment at the same hospital but the nature of her ailment was not disclosed.

As Pegler Sees It

mystery takes the air. This is verbatim: "I told the man who called me this, as I remember it that, I thought it infra dig, beneath my dignity, after my years in the federal government, to be questioned by some little investigator in some little hole in some back building about my career, I wouldn't stand for it; but that if he wanted to know anything about me, I would be glad to have him come over and ask any questions he wanted but I wholly disapproved of that way of doing government business; that I would be willing to be questioned by my peers, but not by some little investigator who may not have been born by the time I had begun to serve the federal government with some honor. * * * * and I may have said to him, I think, also Mr. Chairman, that for some little investigator to come around and ask me questions about my record, which had already been passed on by one of the leading men in the United States Senate and by men who had been president both in the Democratic and Republican side, seemed to me rather ignoble. I feel that to have some little investigator question me about my record is ignoble."

The committee tried several tacks to come at an answer to a demand for the names of the persons who had recommended him as adviser to General Clay in Germany. Congressman Dondero said that "by pulling strings" Lowenthal, the president-maker of the Truman regime, had acquired the title of adviser to Clay on the disposal of property which the Nazi regime had confiscated from the Jews of Germany.

"Who recommended your employment by the War Department?"

The committee never did get an answer.

"I was asked by a group of organizations whether I would permit my name to be submitted for recommendation to General Clay," Lowenthal said, "and I agreed. On the other hand, I had known the secretary of war rather intimately for more than 30 years. That was Secretary Patterson. I wouldn't know whether he had anything to do with it in the way of recommendation. I just wouldn't know."

At one point Wheeler, his own lawyer, horned in to say it might be well for Lowenthal to name the heads of organizations who asked him to permit them to submit his name. Lowenthal waltzed all over the joint but he never named a single person nor a single organization. And the committee sat there like a lot of dummies and let him get away with it.

The scene now switches over to the Senate where Pat McCarran, of Nevada, as chairman of the judiciary committee, a Democrat but anti-Communist, is captain of a team of Democrats and Republicans, including Homer Furguson, of Michigan, who are fixing to do the job right.

Truman got hold of the House committee and unmanned it with the results indicated in these swatches of testimony by the man, hitherto unknown to the American people, who is given credit for making Truman president and shaping his mind so that he came out for the extreme Socialist program which is the last stop before communism. But Truman can't control the judiciary committee of the Senate. Even the Democrats on that one are pro-American and anti-Communist, which is a rare combination in Democrats these days. They will bat Truman's ears down if he tries.

Port Ewen Scouts Have Interesting Steamboat Exhibit

Port Ewen, Feb. 8—In observance of Boy Scout Week throughout the country, Troop 26 of Port Ewen has a window display in the Town Hall, Port Ewen, that is attracting considerable attention. The display depicts the importance of the steamboat to local history during the past century.

A central placard sets the tone of the exhibit. It notes that Port Ewen was founded as a village 100 years ago, when in 1851 the Pennsylvania Coal Company acquired 71 acres of land from the Houghtaling family, founded a village and named it after the company president, John Ewen. It notes further that since then Port Ewen has been closely related to the Hudson river, with scores of men from the village manning, building and repairing the steamboats that sailed upon it, particularly those whose home port was on Rondout creek. The display is centered around these vessels.

Featured in the display is an original oil-painting of the steamboat "James W. Baldwin." This painting reportedly once hung in the passenger saloon of this well known nightboat that sailed between Rondout and New York for over 50 years. The painting is by James Bard, now considered by museums to have been the outstanding painter of steamboats in America. It is now owned by William O. Benson of Sleightsburgh.

In front of the painting in the window display is a model of the "William F. Romer," which was the "Baldwin's" running mate from Rondout for many years.

Display of 'Powell'

Co-featured with the display on the Rondout nightboats is a section devoted to the "Mary Powell." Featured is a model of the "Powell," a lithograph of the vessel as she first appeared, and three excellent photographs of this famous local steamboat.

Another section is devoted to the vessels of the Cornell Steamboat Company, it being noted that most of the boatmen from the village gained their initial experience on the vessels of the Cornell Line. Featured is a model of the tugboat "Geo. W. Washburn," one of the name boards from the well known tug "Rob," and many photographs of former Cornell vessels. Included are photographs of the towboats "A. B. Valentine," "General McDonald," "Austin," "Syracuse," and "Oswego," and of the tugboats "Geo. W. Washburn," "John H. Cordts," "Pochahontas," "Osceola," "J. G. Hartt," "E. C. Baker," "E. L. Levy," "S. L. Crosby," "Coe F. Young," "W. N. Bavier," "Edwin Terry," "Rob," "Harry," "Wm. S. Earl," and "C. D. Mills."

Others in Exhibit

Also included in the display are models of the old ice-king "Norwich," the famous chain ferry "Riverside" better known as the "Skillypot," and the "Homer Ramsdell," and also additional photographs of well known steamboats locally. The latter include the "City of Kingston," "Jacob H. Tremper," "M. Martin," and the Day Liners "New York," "Albany," "Washington Irving," "Hendrick Hudson," "Alexander Hamilton" and "Peter Stuyvesant."

The display has drawn a great deal of attention from the people of the village and from passers-by. It is part of Troop 26's observance of the 41st anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in America which is taking place this week. The window display will remain in the Town Hall window through Sunday.

Where and How Death Came to New Jersey Commuters

Coordinator Is Named

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—The city board of education created a new temporary job yesterday—coordinator of school construction—and nominated a top city housing engineer for the post. The job will pay $22,500 a year. Nominated by Dr. William Jansе, superintendent of schools, was John P. Riley, 50, of Jackson Heights, Queens. The board will take formal action on his appointment at another meeting tomorrow. Riley, a graduate of Cornell University, has been construction deputy chief engineer and director of development for the New York City Housing Authority since its establishment in 1939.

Sunday School Meeting

The Loyal Workers Sunday School Class of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 8 p. m. in Epworth Parlors. All members are requested to attend.

Winter Strikes State Once More

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Winter roared back into New York state with heavy winds, snow and sub-zero temperatures.

A blinding snowstorm with 35-mile-an-hour winds stranded more than 100 cars in the Syracuse area early today.

Snow piled on icy roads and slowed traffic to a crawl in most of the state.

State police reported all roads were "very bad." They warned against unnecessary travel and urged caution.

Temperatures plunged to below or near-zero in much of the state. The Weather Bureau forecast continued cold tonight.

The Onondaga county sheriff's office said at least 100 motorists were stranded in outlying sections. It said only Routes 5 and 11 were open in the county.

The strong winds created drifts four to six-feet high and cut visibility, hampering plow and sanding crews.

In the Albany area, traffic was snarled by four inches of snow that fell on ice-glazed highways.

In Troy, the freezing rain yesterday felled telephone lines in some sections. The New York Telephone Company said it was unable to make repairs immediately because of road conditions.

The cold wave that moved into the state from the west yesterday afternoon snapped the state's brief spell of spring-like temperatures. Highs in the 40s were reported yesterday in most of the state.

Since 1900, when 4,192 passenger cars were produced, U. S. automotive firms have built more than 116,000,000 motor vehicles.

Newark Milk Drops

Newark, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The price of home delivered milk has dropped three cents a quart here in what one dealer called an effort to meet "cash and carry" dairy competition. Three dealers left notices with their customers yesterday announcing a new price of 20 cents a quart for homogenized vitamin "D" milk, instead of 23 cents. Grade "A" pasteurized dropped from 22 to 19 cents. One dealer, who declined to be identified, said the drop was a result of a 15 cents a quart price charged by two "cash and carry" stores.

Newark Milk Drops

Newark, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The price of home delivered milk has dropped three cents a quart here in what one dealer called an effort to meet "cash and carry" dairy competition. Three dealers left notices with their customers yesterday announcing a new price of 20 cents a quart for homogenized vitamin "D" milk, instead of 23 cents. Grade "A" pasteurized dropped from 22 to 19 cents. One dealer, who declined to be identified, said the drop was a result of a 15 cents a quart price charged by two "cash and carry" stores.

Temple Emanuel

Services will be held in Temple Emanuel, 50 Abeel street, on Friday evening at 7:45. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom will preach on the theme, "Applying the Prayer Book to Life." A congregational meeting will take place after the service. The members will please be present, as important problems are to be discussed.

Sunday school is held on Sunday morning at 10, Hebrew school on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Tonight the Adult Study Group will meet at Rabbi Bloom's home, 192 Clinton avenue at 7:45.

The Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel will meet at Mrs. Joseph Honig's residence at 2 p. m. on Wednesday, Feb. 14. An interesting program will be conducted and a cake sale will be held.

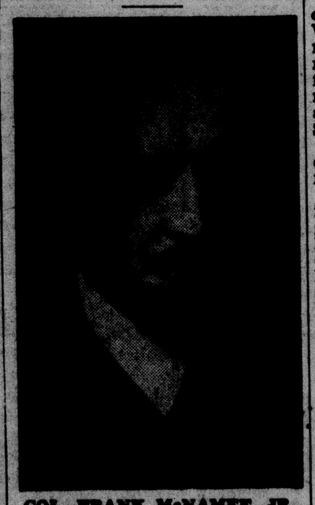
To Build Stockpile

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A stockpile of two substitutes for blood plasma will be built up by the armed forces. Announcing this yesterday, the National Research Council said blood donors are needed as urgently as ever because the substitutes are not wholly satisfactory and are intended for emergency use only. One is made from sugar, the other from cattle bone. The council said they might be useful in situations where there were "hundreds of thousands" injured, as in an atomic attack.

Too Chilly for Court

Cold weather stalled County Court today. Although the jurors arrived at 10 o'clock and Judge John M. Cashin was ready to work, the court room was too cool for comfort and court was recessed until next Tuesday at 10 o'clock to which time jurors were excused. Announced as settled was No. 49, Ernest Gardner against Max Von Stoltzenberg and Emmy Stoeckel Von Stoltzenberg, an action for work, labor and materials.

McNamee to Give Timely Address at Men's Club Dinner



COL. FRANK McNAMEE, JR.

This year's 26th annual Washington's birthday dinner scheduled for the Fair Street Reformed Church Thursday, February 22, will feature a talk on "The Atom Bomb, the H Bomb and the Public" by Col. Frank A. McNamee, Jr., of Albany. The dinner program will start at 6:30 p. m.

The Men's Club of the Old First Reformed Church is again sponsoring the event but due to renovations underway at that church, the dinner has been shifted to the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Col. McNamee, who has had a distinguished career in both the civic and military affairs in the state, is at present the commanding officer of the 1389th Logistical Division in Albany as a member of the U. S. Army Reserve.

He is a partner in the law firm of Whalen, McNamee, Creble and Nichols of Albany. His other civilian activities include the directorship of the State Bank of Albany, Trinity Insitution, Inc., and the Legal Aid Society, Albany.

He also is a trustee of the Albany Medical College, Albany Academy, Albany's Hospital for Incurables and St. Margaret's House. In religious affairs, he serves as a vestryman of Trinity Episcopal Church and as chancellor of the Albany Diocese, Protestant Episcopal Church and is a member of the standing committee.

Col. McNamee, who was born December 17, 1892, received his education at Albany Academy, Williams College and the Harvard Law School.

Active Military Career

During World War 1, he served as a first lieutenant and later as a captain of field artillery with the 26th and 1st Divisions.

He was a lieutenant colonel and colonel of the field artillery in World War 2 and later served as regional director for the second region of the office of civilian defense. He also served as deputy director of O.C.D. and was director and deputy to the chairman, U. S. Stratetic Bombing Survey.

He served with the consultant office of the Secretary of Defense from 1947 to 1949.

His many decorations and service ribbons include the distinguished service cross, silver star, Legion of Merit with oak leaf cluster and service ribbons for the Mexican Border, Victory, five stars; Army occupation, World War 1; American Theatre, European Theatre, two stars; Pacific Theatre, World War 2 and the Army of occupation, World War 2.

Col. McNamee's fraternal connections include past president of the Fort Orange Club, vice-president of Schuyler Meadows Club, Army and Navy Club, Washington, D. C., Harvard Club, New York; Alpha Delta Phi, Williams; Gargoyle, Williams; Iroquois Club, Harvard; past president of the Albany Chapter of the Regular Officer's Association and the Legion of Valor.

He also has served as past president of the Albany County, New York State and American Bar Associations.

simmons told him he had slowed the train down from 60 miles an hour just before the fatal crackup but saw no caution signal at the curved approach to the trestle.

Eber also questioned two Pennsylvania Railroad officials who, he said, told him there was no speedometer in the locomotive, no caution signals in the area and that no advance safety tests had been made on the temporary trestle.

Structure Sound

Eber said the structure was found to be sound by engineers who examined it after the wreck and all but ruled it out as a contributing factor.

At the same time in Washington, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.-Mass.) called for the ICC to determine quickly whether sabotage was involved in the wreck. She said train wrecks "occur too often without excuses."

New Jersey FBI Chief Samuel McKee said his agents already were checking for evidence of sabotage.

Of the 100 persons hospitalized since Wednesday night, 11 still were reported in critical condition today.

Heavy Claims Ahead

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Claims and lawsuits totaling as much as $75,000,000 probably will be filed against the Pennsylvania Railroad as a result of Tuesday night's disastrous train wreck at Woodbridge, N. J.

The eventual payoff is expected to amount to an estimated $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, most of it borne by the railroad itself.

Legal circles here said that part of the money would be paid by Lloyd's of London but that the bulk of it would come from the Pennsylvania since like most public carriers it is self-insuring.

The amount of the policy with the London insurance house was not disclosed.

Many out-of-court settlements probably will be negotiated within the next few months with the families of the 83 victims killed in the catastrophe.

To Be Based on Age

Size of the settlements will be based on the age and income of the dead and the prospects they would have had for advancement had they lived.

The average age of the 83 killed was 46. This figure coupled with average life expectancy tables adds up to a total of 1,992 years of life and earnings wiped out. Taking an average income of $5,000 a year—many of the victims were highly paid executives—the earnings lost by those killed could total $10,000,000. Some lawyers estimated that claims in this category alone might run as high as $25,000,000.

300 Require Care

Of the 500 hurt, more than 300 required medical treatment. Attorneys, estimating the average injury claim at $100,000, said the road may have to pay out from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 to settle these claims.

The bankrupt Long Island Railroad and its insurance companies paid $1,650,000 on $3,000,000 in claims growing out of the Rockville Centre wreck last February 17 in which 33 were killed and 100 injured. Settlement of the road's Thanksgiving Eve crash in which 79 persons died still is in progress.

Students Will Assist Polio Drive at Movies

Through the cooperation of Robert Case, local theatre manager, collections for the March of Dimes drive in Ulster county will be held for youngsters during the afternoon performance Saturday at both the Reade's Broadway and Kingston Theatres, Mrs. William Powers, chapter chairman, announced today.

The special student collections in the theatres was approved by the local theatre manager when it was made known that the local board of education had refused to allow collections in the local public schools.

Committee Will Meet

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Young Republican National Federation announced today that its executive committee will meet here Feb. 24 to draw up plans for a biennial national convention to open June 29 in Boston.

Police throughout the northeast had been searching for the young student.

Temple Emanuel

Services will be held in Temple Emanuel, 50 Abeel street, on Friday evening at 7:45. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom will preach on the theme, "Applying the Prayer Book to Life." A congregational meeting will take place after the service. The members will please be present, as important problems are to be discussed.

Sunday school is held on Sunday morning at 10, Hebrew school on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Tonight the Adult Study Group will meet at Rabbi Bloom's home, 192 Clinton avenue at 7:45.

The Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel will meet at Mrs. Joseph Honig's residence at 2 p. m. on Wednesday, Feb. 14. An interesting program will be conducted and a cake sale will be held.

To Build Stockpile

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A stockpile of two substitutes for blood plasma will be built up by the armed forces. Announcing this yesterday, the National Research Council said blood donors are needed as urgently as ever because the substitutes are not wholly satisfactory and are intended for emergency use only. One is made from sugar, the other from cattle bone. The council said they might be useful in situations where there were "hundreds of thousands" injured, as in an atomic attack.

Too Chilly for Court

Cold weather stalled County Court today. Although the jurors arrived at 10 o'clock and Judge John M. Cashin was ready to work, the court room was too cool for comfort and court was recessed until next Tuesday at 10 o'clock to which time jurors were excused. Announced as settled was No. 49, Ernest Gardner against Max Von Stoltzenberg and Emmy Stoeckel Von Stoltzenberg, an action for work, labor and materials.

McNamee to Give Timely Address at Men's Club Dinner

COL. FRANK McNAMEE, JR.

This year's 26th annual Washington's birthday dinner scheduled for the Fair Street Reformed Church Thursday, February 22, will feature a talk on "The Atom Bomb, the H Bomb and the Public" by Col. Frank A. McNamee, Jr., of Albany. The dinner program will start at 6:30 p. m.

The Men's Club of the Old First Reformed Church is again sponsoring the event but due to renovations underway at that church, the dinner has been shifted to the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Col. McNamee, who has had a distinguished career in both the civic and military affairs in the state, is at present the commanding officer of the 1389th Logistical Division in Albany as a member of the U. S. Army Reserve.

He is a partner in the law firm of Whalen, McNamee, Creble and Nichols of Albany. His other civilian activities include the directorship of the State Bank of Albany, Trinity Insitution, Inc., and the Legal Aid Society, Albany.

He also is a trustee of the Albany Medical College, Albany Academy, Albany's Hospital for Incurables and St. Margaret's House. In religious affairs, he serves as a vestryman of Trinity Episcopal Church and as chancellor of the Albany Diocese, Protestant Episcopal Church and is a member of the standing committee.

Col. McNamee, who was born December 17, 1892, received his education at Albany Academy, Williams College and the Harvard Law School.

Active Military Career

During World War 1, he served as a first lieutenant and later as a captain of field artillery with the 26th and 1st Divisions.

He was a lieutenant colonel and colonel of the field artillery in World War 2 and later served as regional director for the second region of the office of civilian defense. He also served as deputy director of O.C.D. and was director and deputy to the chairman, U. S. Stratetic Bombing Survey.

He served with the consultant office of the Secretary of Defense from 1947 to 1949.

His many decorations and service ribbons include the distinguished service cross, silver star, Legion of Merit with oak leaf cluster and service ribbons for the Mexican Border, Victory, five stars; Army occupation, World War 1; American Theatre, European Theatre, two stars; Pacific Theatre, World War 2 and the Army of occupation, World War 2.

Col. McNamee's fraternal connections include past president of the Fort Orange Club, vice-president of Schuyler Meadows Club, Army and Navy Club, Washington, D. C., Harvard Club, New York; Alpha Delta Phi, Williams; Gargoyle, Williams; Iroquois Club, Harvard; past president of the Albany Chapter of the Regular Officer's Association and the Legion of Valor.

He also has served as past president of the Albany County, New York State and American Bar Associations.

Probes Begin . . .

simmons told him he had slowed the train down from 60 miles an hour just before the fatal crackup but saw no caution signal at the curved approach to the trestle.

Eber also questioned two Pennsylvania Railroad officials who, he said, told him there was no speedometer in the locomotive, no caution signals in the area and that no advance safety tests had been made on the temporary trestle.

Structure Sound

Eber said the structure was found to be sound by engineers who examined it after the wreck and all but ruled it out as a contributing factor.

At the same time in Washington, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.-Mass.) called for the ICC to determine quickly whether sabotage was involved in the wreck. She said train wrecks "occur too often without excuses."

New Jersey FBI Chief Samuel McKee said his agents already were checking for evidence of sabotage.

Of the 100 persons hospitalized since Wednesday night, 11 still were reported in critical condition today.

Heavy Claims Ahead

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Claims and lawsuits totaling as much as $75,000,000 probably will be filed against the Pennsylvania Railroad as a result of Tuesday night's disastrous train wreck at Woodbridge, N. J.

The eventual payoff is expected to amount to an estimated $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, most of it borne by the railroad itself.

Legal circles here said that part of the money would be paid by Lloyd's of London but that the bulk of it would come from the Pennsylvania since like most public carriers it is self-insuring.

The amount of the policy with the London insurance house was not disclosed.

Many out-of-court settlements probably will be negotiated within the next few months with the families of the 83 victims killed in the catastrophe.

To Be Based on Age

Size of the settlements will be based on the age and income of the dead and the prospects they would have had for advancement had they lived.

The average age of the 83 killed was 46. This figure coupled with average life expectancy tables adds up to a total of 1,992 years of life and earnings wiped out. Taking an average income of $5,000 a year—many of the victims were highly paid executives—the earnings lost by those killed could total $10,000,000. Some lawyers estimated that claims in this category alone might run as high as $25,000,000.

300 Require Care

Of the 500 hurt, more than 300 required medical treatment. Attorneys, estimating the average injury claim at $100,000, said the road may have to pay out from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 to settle these claims.

The bankrupt Long Island Railroad and its insurance companies paid $1,650,000 on $3,000,000 in claims growing out of the Rockville Centre wreck last February 17 in which 33 were killed and 100 injured. Settlement of the road's Thanksgiving Eve crash in which 79 persons died still is in progress.

Students Will Assist Polio Drive at Movies

Through the cooperation of Robert Case, local theatre manager, collections for the March of Dimes drive in Ulster county will be held for youngsters during the afternoon performance Saturday at both the Reade's Broadway and Kingston Theatres, Mrs. William Powers, chapter chairman, announced today.

The special student collections in the theatres was approved by the local theatre manager when it was made known that the local board of education had refused to allow collections in the local public schools.

Artist Gives Talk To Portrait Class

Woodstock, Feb. 8—Painting before a group of students of Saxton Fells School of Art in Kingston, Kenneth Van Rensselaer, instructor and noted portrait artist, gave an exciting demonstration in portraiture recently. During the performance, Van Rensselaer gave a running commentary, explaining each stroke as he worked.

On completion of the portrait in a few hours the students agreed that the instructor had achieved a superb characterization of the subject. The students also remarked that a considerable amount of knowledge was gained from watching a portrait develop step by step.

Some of the points Van Rensselaer made while painting were that art is the expression of ideas and emotions as seen through a personality; that the artist must not only say something but he must learn to say it well; that the language of art, which is drawing, painting and the principles of design, can be taught.

Van Rensselaer, who is a member of Portraits, Inc., 460 Park avenue, New York, has recently completed a number of portrait commissions. Among them were paintings of Miss Elinor Swedlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Swedlin, Rockville Center, Long Island; Judy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Schneur, Bayside, Long Island; V. J. Andretta, Kingston; Mr. Andretta, Sr., and Mrs. C. Goldring of the Hotel Lombardy, New York.

SAUCER? NO, SIR!—Let the port lights blink and a couple of tiny men crawl out of the cockpit and there's no question about it, here is a real flying saucer. But is it? Nope, it's a 27,000-pound bronze-rimmed cast steel leaf for a butterfly valve being manufactured by Westinghouse at Sunnyvale, Calif. The valve will control the flow of water at a big Southern California hydro-electric power station.

Small Business Is Facing Bad Future

New Orleans, Feb. 8 (AP)—Small businesses must find themselves a niche in the nation's mobilization economy or close their doors, says Harry E. Blythe, assistance secretary of defense.

Blythe, who is also adviser to the chairman of the Munitions Board, sounded that warning in a small business clinic question-and-answer period yesterday.

One of the questions posed to the panel of government experts on defense contracts was:

"Some of us would have to retool to get into manufacturing for the government but others are set up and ready to go. Will we be forced to close our doors because our competitors have the jump on us?"

"Unless you can convert and find your place in the mobilization economy you would have to close your doors," Blythe answered.

Elaborating, Blythe said, "Of course if full mobilization comes the country would utilize every foot of space and every machine," but that in the current "one-third" mobilization effort the crimp is put on the man who cannot manufacture for defense or without critical materials.

The small business clinic which completed a three-day Louisiana schedule here last night, has been touring the nation to tell small businesses how to bid on government contracts.

Named as Consultant

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Dr. Cortez F. Enloe, Jr., of Manhasset will serve as the State Health Department's special consultant on medical supplies for civil defense. He will assist the department in stockpiling medical supplies for emergency use. His appointment was announced yesterday by the state health commissioner, Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe. Dr. Enloe consultant to the American Medical Association's Council of National Emergency Medical Service, will serve without compensation.

Death Toll Is 12

Bethune, France, Feb. 8 (AP)—The death toll in yesterday's fire damp explosion in a coal mine at nearby Bruay rose to 12 today as 17-year-old Paul Lenoir died of burns.

Artist Gives Talk To Portrait Class

Woodstock, Feb. 8—Painting before a group of students of Saxton Fells School of Art in Kingston, Kenneth Van Rensselaer, instructor and noted portrait artist, gave an exciting demonstration in portraiture recently. During the performance, Van Rensselaer gave a running commentary, explaining each stroke as he worked.

On completion of the portrait in a few hours the students agreed that the instructor had achieved a superb characterization of the subject. The students also remarked that a considerable amount of knowledge was gained from watching a portrait develop step by step.

Some of the points Van Rensselaer made while painting were that art is the expression of ideas and emotions as seen through a personality; that the artist must not only say something but he must learn to say it well; that the language of art, which is drawing, painting and the principles of design, can be taught.

Van Rensselaer, who is a member of Portraits, Inc., 460 Park avenue, New York, has recently completed a number of portrait commissions. Among them were paintings of Miss Elinor Swedlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Swedlin, Rockville Center, Long Island; Judy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Schneur, Bayside, Long Island; V. J. Andretta, Kingston; Mr. Andretta, Sr., and Mrs. C. Goldring of the Hotel Lombardy, New York.

Small Business Is Facing Bad Future

New Orleans, Feb. 8 (AP)—Small businesses must find themselves a niche in the nation's mobilization economy or close their doors, says Harry E. Blythe, assistance secretary of defense.

Blythe, who is also adviser to the chairman of the Munitions Board, sounded that warning in a small business clinic question-and-answer period yesterday.

One of the questions posed to the panel of government experts on defense contracts was:

"Some of us would have to retool to get into manufacturing for the government but others are set up and ready to go. Will we be forced to close our doors because our competitors have the jump on us?"

"Unless you can convert and find your place in the mobilization economy you would have to close your doors," Blythe answered.

Elaborating, Blythe said, "Of course if full mobilization comes the country would utilize every foot of space and every machine," but that in the current "one-third" mobilization effort the crimp is put on the man who cannot manufacture for defense or without critical materials.

The small business clinic which completed a three-day Louisiana schedule here last night, has been touring the nation to tell small businesses how to bid on government contracts.

College Students Prefer to Have Draft Boards Act

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Relatively few young men have quit college campuses in New York state to enter the armed forces.

An Associated Press spot check shows the majority are going ahead with their studies and waiting until the end of the school years to see what their draft boards have to say.

For example, two large New York city schools—Columbia University and City College—report a total of only 172 men have left classes for military service by Feb. 1.

Upstate, Cornell and Syracuse lost a total of about 300.

Educators say some of the unrest that hung over classrooms last fall has disappeared. Morale is good and marks are about average, they report.

Most college officials hesitate to predict what next fall will bring. Syracuse University, however, is preparing for a drop of 25 to 40 per cent in male enrollment. Union college makes an "educated guess" that its enrollment will decline 25 per cent.

The colleges generally credit two Defense Department rulings with keeping students in college. One permits students called for induction to finish the school year, then volunteer for the branch of the service they prefer. The other gives graduates 30 days in which to obtain jobs and request deferment, if they find employment in essential industry.

Will Erect Monument

Los Angeles, Feb. 8 (AP)—A 75-foot-high marble monument is to be erected to Al Jolson in Hillside Memorial Park near Inglewood. The $84,000 cost will be paid from the singer's $4,000,000 estate. Jolson's body will rest in a sarcophagus near the front end of a rotunda and the monument will be set off with a 120-foot cascade of water into a pool. Court approval to spend the money was granted yesterday by Superior Judge Newcomb Condee.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

The Ruminator is gong to have to take back his contrary opinion that something is going to be done about inflation—unless the "explosive impasse" in Washington is broken.

Although not one person in ten thousand pays much attention to menetary policies what happened recently should be understood by everybody. It is enough to burn this writer to a crisp.

I'll have to go back a little, in order to show what has taken place.

You may recall that there has been a long-drawn out fight between the Federal Reserve Banking System (our top banking authority) and the Treasury Department of the United States Government.

Because inflation arises from an over-supply of money, the Federal Reserve has wanted to restrict credit sharply. Credit and bank loans are the same as "money" insofar as money is conserned. The Reserve officials have warned banks to screen their loans more carefully, and have raised reserve requirements and rediscount rates. These latter monetary "tools" are for the purpose of forcing banks to cut down on loans. In addition, as you know, the Federal Reserve has tightened installment credit and also has raised margin requirements in Wall Street.

All this is to the good, but there is a catch in it.

When banks are forced to reduce their loans to the Federal Reserve System—when their reserve requirements are increased—they have to sell some of the government bonds that they have been holding.

So what happens?

Inasmuch as the Federal Reserve is the BIG POOL that absorbs sales of government bonds, when ordinary demands are not sufficient, it means that the selling banks simply load up the Reserve banks with bonds.

It has been the wish of the Federal Reserve authorities to see the interest rates on government bonds rise a little, in order to create a greater demand for bonds from outside sources, such as insurance companies, institutions, and private investors.

But here the impasse sets in, or the "dilemma" as some call it.

The Treasury Department says "No, we insist that the interest rate of long-term bonds remains at not over two-and-a-half per cent."

Thus, in practical terms, all the anti-inflation energy of the Federal Reserve System goes for nought. Board-Member Eccles goes farther than that. He says the present impasse between the Government and the Federal Reserve makes our monetary policies "engines of inflation."

It has seemed until recently that the Federal Reserve would win out in their fight with the Government.

The Federal Reserve System was set up by the Congress in 1913 to be an independent monetary authority, safe from interference. Its responsibility is to correct abuses—such as those that cause inflation—without regard to the whims of the Treasury Department.

In the face of this, the Secretary of the Treasury recently "ordered" the Federal Reserve to support the government bond market and to see to it that interest rates on the long-term bonds remained "pegged" at 2½ per cent.

That was shocking enough.

But to top it off, the President of the United States called in the Board Members of the Federal Reserve System and told them in uncertain terms that he was in full accord with Secretary Snyder and the 2½ per cent rate was to be held, period, paragraph.

This is an arrant and scandalous act under our system of free government. It is exactly the same as if the President were to call in the members of the Supreme Court and tell them what decisions he wished them to make in cases coming before them. President Roosevelt tried this indirectly, by attempting to "pack" the Supreme Court with picked members—back in the 1930's—but he was severely trounced in this deal.

Mr. Truman should be as soundly corrected in this attempt to dictate the monetary polley of the United States. Here we have the Administration giving lip service to the dangers of inflation, day after day, and yet assuming the dictatorial position of telling the banking authorities to keep their hands off interest rates, which are cardinal influence upon inflation. A shameful proceeding.

H-Bomb Plant . . .

the A-bomb fireball. There also are estimates showing that the hydrogen star certainly will not be cooler.

This star will rise rapidly, at about three miles a minute, and that is the principal reason why its perils will last only about ten seconds.

While still close to earth the heat is searing enough to melt paint. Even the little A-bomb yolk is for a small fraction of a second one hundred times brighter than the sun even when you are five miles from the ball.

The fireball also emits gamma rays (the same thing as X-rays). After ten seconds the ball is too high up for the radioactive rays to reach you.

Program Is Approved

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A $2,740,092,000 navy shipbuilding program, calling for a new super carrier capable of handling atomic bombers, was approved yesterday by a Senate Armed Services Subcommittee. It still requires approval of the full committee and the Senate. The House passed it unanimously on Jan. 17. In addition to the big carrier, the bill would authorize construction of a number of surface vessels and submarines and the modernization of others.

Handicapped Children Fund . . .

borrow an additional one-fourth of one per cent of assessed valuation for 10 years. The sponsors estimated this would bring $400,000,000 over a 10-year period.

The other proposal, described as an alternative, would permit borrowing up to $250,000,000 over the debt limit.

A third bill would allow the city to conduct a referendum on school construction bonds, even if a state bond issue were on the ballot. The Constitution now forbids such action.

The measures were introduced by Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblymen Fred W. Preller, Samuel Rabin and Anthony P. Savarese, Jr.

All proposals would require approval by two legislatures. They could not go before the voters until November, 1953.

Other bills would:

Permit municipalities to designate some roads as "scenic highways," and restrict erection of billboards. (Senator Thomas C. Desmond, R.-Newburgh).

Create a 12-member temporary legislative commission to study sex deviation and appropriation of $50,000 for the study. (Senator John H. Cooke, R.-Erie county).

Lucky for Them

The common cobra carries enough venom in its glands for 15 lethal doses, yet about 40 per cent of its victims recover, due to the fact that the strike often fails to make perfect contact.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Relatively few young men have quit college campuses in New York state to enter the armed forces.

An Associated Press spot check shows the majority are going ahead with their studies and waiting until the end of the school years to see what their draft boards have to say.

For example, two large New York city schools—Columbia University and City College—report a total of only 172 men have left classes for military service by Feb. 1.

Upstate, Cornell and Syracuse lost a total of about 300.

Educators say some of the unrest that hung over classrooms last fall has disappeared. Morale is good and marks are about average, they report.

Most college officials hesitate to predict what next fall will bring. Syracuse University, however, is preparing for a drop of 25 to 40 per cent in male enrollment. Union college makes an "educated guess" that its enrollment will decline 25 per cent.

The colleges generally credit two Defense Department rulings with keeping students in college. One permits students called for induction to finish the school year, then volunteer for the branch of the service they prefer. The other gives graduates 30 days in which to obtain jobs and request deferment, if they find employment in essential industry.

Will Erect Monument

Los Angeles, Feb. 8 (AP)—A 75-foot-high marble monument is to be erected to Al Jolson in Hillside Memorial Park near Inglewood. The $84,000 cost will be paid from the singer's $4,000,000 estate. Jolson's body will rest in a sarcophagus near the front end of a rotunda and the monument will be set off with a 120-foot cascade of water into a pool. Court approval to spend the money was granted yesterday by Superior Judge Newcomb Condee.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

The Ruminator is gong to have to take back his contrary opinion that something is going to be done about inflation—unless the "explosive impasse" in Washington is broken.

Although not one person in ten thousand pays much attention to menetary policies what happened recently should be understood by everybody. It is enough to burn this writer to a crisp.

I'll have to go back a little, in order to show what has taken place.

You may recall that there has been a long-drawn out fight between the Federal Reserve Banking System (our top banking authority) and the Treasury Department of the United States Government.

Because inflation arises from an over-supply of money, the Federal Reserve has wanted to restrict credit sharply. Credit and bank loans are the same as "money" insofar as money is conserned. The Reserve officials have warned banks to screen their loans more carefully, and have raised reserve requirements and rediscount rates. These latter monetary "tools" are for the purpose of forcing banks to cut down on loans. In addition, as you know, the Federal Reserve has tightened installment credit and also has raised margin requirements in Wall Street.

All this is to the good, but there is a catch in it.

When banks are forced to reduce their loans to the Federal Reserve System—when their reserve requirements are increased—they have to sell some of the government bonds that they have been holding.

So what happens?

Inasmuch as the Federal Reserve is the BIG POOL that absorbs sales of government bonds, when ordinary demands are not sufficient, it means that the selling banks simply load up the Reserve banks with bonds.

It has been the wish of the Federal Reserve authorities to see the interest rates on government bonds rise a little, in order to create a greater demand for bonds from outside sources, such as insurance companies, institutions, and private investors.

But here the impasse sets in, or the "dilemma" as some call it.

The Treasury Department says "No, we insist that the interest rate of long-term bonds remains at not over two-and-a-half per cent."

Thus, in practical terms, all the anti-inflation energy of the Federal Reserve System goes for nought. Board-Member Eccles goes farther than that. He says the present impasse between the Government and the Federal Reserve makes our monetary policies "engines of inflation."

It has seemed until recently that the Federal Reserve would win out in their fight with the Government.

The Federal Reserve System was set up by the Congress in 1913 to be an independent monetary authority, safe from interference. Its responsibility is to correct abuses—such as those that cause inflation—without regard to the whims of the Treasury Department.

In the face of this, the Secretary of the Treasury recently "ordered" the Federal Reserve to support the government bond market and to see to it that interest rates on the long-term bonds remained "pegged" at 2½ per cent.

That was shocking enough.

But to top it off, the President of the United States called in the Board Members of the Federal Reserve System and told them in uncertain terms that he was in full accord with Secretary Snyder and the 2½ per cent rate was to be held, period, paragraph.

This is an arrant and scandalous act under our system of free government. It is exactly the same as if the President were to call in the members of the Supreme Court and tell them what decisions he wished them to make in cases coming before them. President Roosevelt tried this indirectly, by attempting to "pack" the Supreme Court with picked members—back in the 1930's—but he was severely trounced in this deal.

Mr. Truman should be as soundly corrected in this attempt to dictate the monetary policy of the United States. Here we have the Administration giving lip service to the dangers of inflation, day after day, and yet assuming the dictatorial position of telling the banking authorities to keep their hands off interest rates, which are cardinal influence upon inflation. A shameful proceeding.

H-Bomb Plant . . .

the A-bomb fireball. There also are estimates showing that the hydrogen star certainly will not be cooler.

This star will rise rapidly, at about three miles a minute, and that is the principal reason why its perils will last only about ten seconds.

While still close to earth the heat is searing enough to melt paint. Even the little A-bomb yolk is for a small fraction of a second one hundred times brighter than the sun even when you are five miles from the ball.

The fireball also emits gamma rays (the same thing as X-rays). After ten seconds the ball is too high up for the radioactive rays to reach you.

Program Is Approved

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A $2,740,092,000 navy shipbuilding program, calling for a new super carrier capable of handling atomic bombers, was approved yesterday by a Senate Armed Services Subcommittee. It still requires approval of the full committee and the Senate. The House passed it unanimously on Jan. 17. In addition to the big carrier, the bill would authorize construction of a number of surface vessels and submarines and the modernization of others.

Handicapped Children Fund . . .

borrow an additional one-fourth of one per cent of assessed valuation for 10 years. The sponsors estimated this would bring $400,000,000 over a 10-year period.

The other proposal, described as an alternative, would permit borrowing up to $250,000,000 over the debt limit.

A third bill would allow the city to conduct a referendum on school construction bonds, even if a state bond issue were on the ballot. The Constitution now forbids such action.

The measures were introduced by Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblymen Fred W. Preller, Samuel Rabin and Anthony P. Savarese, Jr.

All proposals would require approval by two legislatures. They could not go before the voters until November, 1953.

Other bills would:

Permit municipalities to designate some roads as "scenic highways," and restrict erection of billboards. (Senator Thomas C. Desmond, R.-Newburgh).

Create a 12-member temporary legislative commission to study sex deviation and appropriation of $50,000 for the study. (Senator John H. Cooke, R.-Erie county).

A shameful proceeding.

H-Bomb Plant . . .

the A-bomb fireball. There also are estimates showing that the hydrogen star certainly will not be cooler.

This star will rise rapidly, at about three miles a minute, and that is the principal reason why its perils will last only about ten seconds.

While still close to earth the heat is searing enough to melt paint. Even the little A-bomb yolk is for a small fraction of a second one hundred times brighter than the sun even when you are five miles from the ball.

The fireball also emits gamma rays (the same thing as X-rays). After ten seconds the ball is too high up for the radioactive rays to reach you.

Program Is Approved

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A $2,740,092,000 navy shipbuilding program, calling for a new super carrier capable of handling atomic bombers, was approved yesterday by a Senate Armed Services Subcommittee. It still requires approval of the full committee and the Senate. The House passed it unanimously on Jan. 17. In addition to the big carrier, the bill would authorize construction of a number of surface vessels and submarines and the modernization of others.

Handicapped Children Fund . . .

borrow an additional one-fourth of one per cent of assessed valuation for 10 years. The sponsors estimated this would bring $400,000,000 over a 10-year period.

The other proposal, described as an alternative, would permit borrowing up to $250,000,000 over the debt limit.

A third bill would allow the city to conduct a referendum on school construction bonds, even if a state bond issue were on the ballot. The Constitution now forbids such action.

The measures were introduced by Senator Seymour Halpern and Assemblymen Fred W. Preller, Samuel Rabin and Anthony P. Savarese, Jr.

All proposals would require approval by two legislatures. They could not go before the voters until November, 1953.

Other bills would:

Permit municipalities to designate some roads as "scenic highways," and restrict erection of billboards. (Senator Thomas C. Desmond, R.-Newburgh).

Create a 12-member temporary legislative commission to study sex deviation and appropriation of $50,000 for the study. (Senator John H. Cooke, R.-Erie county).

Lucky for Them

The common cobra carries enough venom in its glands for 15 lethal doses, yet about 40 per cent of its victims recover, due to the fact that the strike often fails to make perfect contact.

Girl Scout News

Brownie Troop No. 76 celebrated Shrove Tuesday with a Mardi Gras costume party held at the group's regular meeting this week at the Old First Reformed Church house. Each child invited a guest, and all came to the affair in costumes planned to duplicate the celebration held annually in New Orleans.

Costume prizes were awarded to Marie Schmura and Virginia Martin by the following judges: the Misses Alberta Davis, Marjorie Eisenberger, and Dorothy DuMond.

Games were played during the party, and traditional doughnuts were served for refreshments.

Those attending included Kayla and Paula Abelove, Carol Haulenbeek, Virginia Martin, Marcia Andrews, Nancy Albright, Rose Wood, Linda Odell, Mitzi Eyles, Gloria Hughes, Marie Schmura, and Mrs. John Warren, Brownie leader.

Hawaii's first written laws were published on December 8, 1827.

Don't Make It Easy On the Declarer

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One test of a really fine player is whether or not he gives his opponents every possible chance to make a mistake. This principle can be illustrated by a hand from a recent team-of-four match.

In both rooms, West opened the jack of spades and continued the suit when declarer held up. In each room South won the third round of spades with the ace and then lost a diamond finesse to East's king. In each room also, East cashed the last spade and exited safely with a diamond.

Here, however, the play in the two rooms differed. In the first room, when declarer ran off his diamonds West discarded low clubs. His reasoning was simple but not accurate. He thought that his clubs would never take a trick and that his queen of hearts might. Therefore he discarded clubs and kept his hearts.

Declarer noted the club discards and properly decided that West did not have the queen of clubs. He therefore cashed the king of clubs and finessed through East's queen for his ninth trick.

In the second room the West player went to the trouble of counting up South's tricks. It was clear that South had exactly one spade trick and four diamonds. It was obvious that South had the ace of clubs, since otherwise he couldn't have any reasonable sort of opening bid. Hence two clubs and a heart were also sure to be won by declarer. Since this accounted for eight tricks, West knew that there would be no problem if South had the king of hearts or the queen of clubs. In either case South would have nine cold tricks.

West therefore assumed that his partner had both the king of hearts and the queen of clubs. There was no need to hang on tightly to all of the hearts as long as his partner had the king. Therefore West discarded two hearts and only one club in the hope that South would misguess the club situation.

Perhaps South should have read the club situation anyhow, but he was influenced by the fact that West had discarded only one club, while East had discarded two. He therefore decided to play West for the queen of clubs, and, of course, lost his contract.

The difference between the play of the West hand in the two rooms was not that either West player made any serious blunder. It was merely that one player made things easy for declarer and the other made things difficult.

Harvard Magazine 'Hails' Miss Taylor

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 8 (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor today holds the unwanted distinction of being the "Most Objectional Ingenue in Motion Pictures"—a citation conferred by the Harvard Lampoon, undergraduate humor magazine.

Clifton Webb was cited for "The Worst Male Performance of the Year" (1950) in "Cheaper by the Dozen."

The editors of the Lampoon selected Miss Taylor and Dean Stockwell as "The Most Objectionable Movie Children of the Year."

And as the "Happiest Event of the year," the editors chose Shirley Temple's announced retirement from the movies.

The Lampoon said their "Roscoes" go annually to the actor or actress who in the previous year "has shown those qualities of perseverance, leadership and personal integrity which have helped make Hollywood what it is today."

Hogan Asks Probe

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, alarmed by spread of the narcotics menace, has asked the state Legislature for an investigation. Making the plea for an inquiry yesterday, he said the goal should be a state program for treatment and cure of addicts. Hogan said Manhattan statistics gathered by his office "tell a lucid and lurid story" of increasing dope addiction. He proposed a state provision that youthful dope addicts could be confined and treated without criminal prosecution. Juvenile narcotic addiction rose almost 300 per cent from 1949 to 1950, he said. Hogan also recommended a stronger state law, with more severe penalties, to curb possession of narcotics.

Hogan Asks Probe

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, alarmed by spread of the narcotics menace, has asked the state Legislature for an investigation. Making the plea for an inquiry yesterday, he said the goal should be a state program for treatment and cure of addicts. Hogan said Manhattan statistics gathered by his office "tell a lucid and lurid story" of increasing dope addiction. He proposed a state provision that youthful dope addicts could be confined and treated without criminal prosecution. Juvenile narcotic addiction rose almost 300 per cent from 1949 to 1950, he said. Hogan also recommended a stronger state law, with more severe penalties, to curb possession of narcotics.

Strike, Weather Boost Food Prices

(By The Associated Press)

The railroad switchmen's strike and sub-freezing weather in the west and south helped push retail prices of many food items higher this week.

Meats and fresh fruits and vegetables climbed the most, but poultry, eggs and butter also edged higher in many places.

Although the rail strike was on the wane by mid-week, thousands of carloads of food shipments had been delayed and prices soared in cities as shortages developed.

Increases of as much as 40 per cent were reported in some places on fresh fruits and vegetables normally hauled long distances by rail. In the east, this meant particularly carrots, lettuce and cabbage which are supplied chiefly from the southwest. In other places it meant oranges from Florida and California, winter vegetables from the south.

Onion Prices Higher

In addition, cold weather in several major growing areas sent onion prices higher and damaged citrus fruit, winter wheat, peach trees, cabbage, peas, tomatoes.

Part of the price advances in meats also were blamed on storms in the last week or so which slowed or reduced livestock shipments from farms.

Some beef cuts were up two to six cents a pound in major store chains, while advance in pork and lamb items ranged as high as 10 cents. Chickens were up slightly in scattered sections and some meat trade sources said higher prices were anticipated by this week-end.

Eggs were unchanged to as much as six cents a dozen higher. However, a spokesman for the Poultry & Egg National Board reported that egg prices in most sections were the lowest since the Korean war started. He attributed this to the seasonal uptrend in production, expected to reach a peak next month.

Butter Advances

Butter advanced two cents a pound in many marketing centers.

At the wholesale level, food prices were still climbing. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index rose to $7.21 from $7.17 last week and was only two per cent below the record high of $7.36 touched July 13, 1948. This index has not declined in any week since early last October, and now is 21 per cent over the level just prior to the Korean war. The index represents the total wholesale cost of one pound each of 31 general use foods.

The impact of the delay in meat shipments at many markets was expected to be eased somewhat by the arrival of the Lenten season. Lentn food specials were being widely featured: Cheeses, macaroni, spaghetti and noddles, eggs, and fish. Supplies of salt-water fillets in cold storage were reported 30 per cent heavier than a year ago.

Preview-to-spring note: Agriculture Secretary Brannan this week endorsed a program urging Americans to develop more home gardens to "help improve the diets and health of our people."

Comstock Plans Talks On Biological Warfare

Important data concerning biological warfare will be the feature of two area talks by Dr. John Comstock of Kingston, who is a captain in the Army Air Force Reserves.

Dr. Comstock is scheduled to speak before the Wing Command at Stewart Field Friday, Feb. 9, and again February 20 before the Army Air Force Reserve group in Poughkeepsie.

He will be accompanied on both speaking engagements by Major Theodore Lee, commanding officer of the 9267th Wing Squadron Command, Air Force Reserves of Kingston.

Dr. Comstock already has appeared in the past four months before such groups as the Kingston Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, Hudson River State Hospital, Ulster County Firemen's Association, various Y.W.C.A. units, the Dutchess-Putnam Dental Assistance Group and at the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard.

Four-fifths, or 87 per cent, of cow's milk is water. The remainder is made up of milk, fat, sugar and protein.

Rotary to Sponsor K.H.S. Trip to U.N.

Under the auspices of the Kingston Rotary Club, members of the Kingston High School graduation class will attend a session of the United Nations Security Council. Announcement of the local service club project was made at the luncheon-meeting Wednesday.

Rotarians will accompany the students on the trip, the date of which will be announced when complete arrangements have been made.

Snyder Is Honored By Fire Company

Robert A. Snyder, who on January first completed 15 years as president of R. A. Snyder Fire Company, No. 1 of Saugerties, was presented with a wallet, cigarette lighter and a purse by members of the company at a regular meeting Tuesday evening at the engine house. R. A. Snyder Fire Company was organized and named for Mr. Snyder's grandfather.

The presentation was made by President Edmund U. Burhans who succeeded Snyder as president on January first when he declined to serve longer because of numerous outside duties.

A gold plate on the wallet was engraved, "Robert A. Snyder, president, R. A. Snyder Fire Company, No. 1, 1935-1950." The lighter was also engraved with his name.

SINUS CATARRH SUFFERERS

FIND CURB FOR MISERY DUE TO NASAL CONGESTION. SUPPLY RUSHED HERE!

Relief at last from torture of sinus, catarrh, and hay fever due to nasal congestion is seen today in reports of success with a formula which has the power to reduce nasal congestion. Men and women with agonizing sinus headaches, clogged nostrils, earache, hawking and sneezing misery tell of blessed relief after using it. KLORONOL costs $3.00, but considering results, this is not expensive, amounts to only pennies per dose. KLORONOL (caution, use only as directed) sold with money-back guarantee by United Cut Rate Pharmacy, 324 Wall St., Kingston. Mail Orders Filled.

Snyder Is Honored By Fire Company

Robert A. Snyder, who on January first completed 15 years as president of R. A. Snyder Fire Company, No. 1 of Saugerties, was presented with a wallet, cigarette lighter and a purse by members of the company at a regular meeting Tuesday evening at the engine house. R. A. Snyder Fire Company was organized and named for Mr. Snyder's grandfather.

The presentation was made by President Edmund U. Burhans who succeeded Snyder as president on January first when he declined to serve longer because of numerous outside duties.

A gold plate on the wallet was engraved, "Robert A. Snyder, president, R. A. Snyder Fire Company, No. 1, 1935-1950." The lighter was also engraved with his name.

Radioactivity Increases

Los Angeles, Feb. 8 (AP)—Los Angeles is radioactively "hotter"—but not dangerously so—than it was before the recent atomic explosions near Las Vegas, Nev., 300 miles away. A survey of Geiger counters in use in industry here showed yesterday a rise of 12 to 25 per cent in "background count." Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, radiation authority at the California Institute of Technology, said normal background counts would have to be raised hundreds of times before radioactivity could be termed dangerous.

TRY BUCKS COUNTY KRAUT DISH

SAUERKRAUT SUPREME is what is getting the concentrated attention of Mrs. Walter Malone, of Solebury, Pa., and her daughters.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

In Bucks County, Pa., sauerkraut is an important food that is genuinely appreciated in this area of good living. Typical of their favorite kraut dishes are the recipes below, taken from the recently published "Bucks Cooks," an outstanding 228-page cookbook.

Through the efforts of the writers, artists and other residents of Bucks County, this cookbook was compiled to raise money to enlarge the chapel of Trinity Church in Solebury. The 386 signed recipes reflect the best in Bucks County traditions and were all tested by the women of the church. (The book is for sale at Woman's Auxiliary, Trinity Chapel, Solebury, Pa., for $2.75.)

Roast Goose With Sauerkraut
(Makes stuffing for one 12-pound goose)

One goose (about 12 pounds), 1 cup tomato sauce or juice, 2/3 cup sherry, 4 sprigs celery, 1 large carrot, 3 cups water, 3 tablespoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon goose fat, 1 large onion, 1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 12 teaspoons caraway seeds, 1 large potato, ½ cup water.

Put carrot and celery into the bird. Fry onion in fat, add sauerkraut and grated potato. Then add caraway seeds, salt, pepper and water. Turn bird every half hour. After 1½ hours, take out of oven. Take out carrot and celery and stuff it with sauerkraut and potato stuffing. Let it roast for another hour dry, without any juice.

Sauerkraut Supreme
(Makes 6 servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 1 cup grated raw potato, 1½ cups sour cream, 1 teaspoon caraway seed, 4 cans Vienna sausages.

Heat sauerkraut, add grated potato. Cook, stirring frequently with fork until potato is tender. Add sour cream and caraway seeds, heat thoroughly. Pile in center of warmed serving plate and sprinkle with paprika or grated cheese. Surround with lightly browned sausages.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Prune juice, creamed codfish, butter or fortified margarine, tart jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Vegetable soup, toasted peanut butter and chili sauce sandwiches, applesauce, oatmeal cookies, tea, milk.

ULSTER PARK

Ulster Park, Feb. 7—Regular services in the Reformed Dutch Church will be held Sunday at 9:45 a. m. with the pastor, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, in charge. The newly-elected elders and deacons will be installed. New members of the consistory include J. Hudson Cole, elder; Jason Sahler, Donald Herring, John Karag and Richard Gendreau, deacons.

A master and secretary conference for all subordinate and county granges was held Tuesday night in the Rosendale Grange Hall. Henry D. Sherwood, state master and Harold Stanley, state secretary were in charge. The conference covered the counties of Orange, Sullivan, Rockland, Putnam, Westchester, Dutchess, Suffolk, Nassau and Ulster.

The Women's League for Service will hold its February meeting at the home of Mrs. H. M. Cameron Thursday, Feb. 15.

Arrests Total 387

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—There were 387 arrests for narcotics violations in New York state last month. The total was twice the monthly average in 1950. In January, 1950, there were 97 arrests on narcotics charges. The 2,858 arrests for major crimes compared with the 1950 monthly average of 2,090, the State Correction Department said last night.

2,000 Are Laid Off

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Federal Electric Company laid off 2,000 employes in the television receiver division for one day because of a shortage of cabinets.

Held on Narcotics Count

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—James Black, 31-year-old Negro, of 1107 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, was arrested by three detectives last night and charged with possession of narcotics with intent to sell them. The detectives seized Black as he was about to enter a taxi on Prosect avenue between 163rd and 164th streets. They said he carried a brown paper bag containing 110 packets of heroin and 60 packets of cocaine with a retail value of $1,020.

V.F.W. Sponsoring Town Blood Plan

The blood type survey in the Town of Rochester and village of Kerhonkson will be sponsored financially and completely by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post No. 8959 of Kerhonkson, Miss Shirley Banks of Accord announced today.

Miss Banks said there was some misunderstanding throughout the county regarding the status of the Kerhonkson program.

"The V.F.W. of Kerhonkson is sponsoring this survey financially and they will also furnish all technical assistance needed," she said.

A meeting of resident areas has been called for tonight at the post building in Kerhonkson. Dr. William Galeota, the post surgeon, will explain the blood type survey.

Radioactivity Increases

Los Angeles, Feb. 8 (AP)—Los Angeles is radioactively "hotter"—but not dangerously so—than it was before the recent atomic explosions near Las Vegas, Nev., 300 miles away. A survey of Geiger counters in use in industry here showed yesterday a rise of 12 to 25 per cent in "background count." Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, radiation authority at the California Institute of Technology, said normal background counts would have to be raised hundreds of times before radioactivity could be termed dangerous.

TRY BUCKS COUNTY KRAUT DISH

SAUERKRAUT SUPREME is what is getting the concentrated attention of Mrs. Walter Malone, of Solebury, Pa., and her daughters.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

In Bucks County, Pa., sauerkraut is an important food that is genuinely appreciated in this area of good living. Typical of their favorite kraut dishes are the recipes below, taken from the recently published "Bucks Cooks," an outstanding 228-page cookbook.

Through the efforts of the writers, artists and other residents of Bucks County, this cookbook was compiled to raise money to enlarge the chapel of Trinity Church in Solebury. The 386 signed recipes reflect the best in Bucks County traditions and were all tested by the women of the church. (The book is for sale at Woman's Auxiliary, Trinity Chapel, Solebury, Pa., for $2.75.)

Roast Goose With Sauerkraut
(Makes stuffing for one 12-pound goose)

One goose (about 12 pounds), 1 cup tomato sauce or juice, 2/3 cup sherry, 4 sprigs celery, 1 large carrot, 3 cups water, 3 tablespoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon goose fat, 1 large onion, 1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 12 teaspoons caraway seeds, 1 large potato, ½ cup water.

Put carrot and celery into the bird. Fry onion in fat, add sauerkraut and grated potato. Then add caraway seeds, salt, pepper and water. Turn bird every half hour. After 1½ hours, take out of oven. Take out carrot and celery and stuff it with sauerkraut and potato stuffing. Let it roast for another hour dry, without any juice.

Sauerkraut Supreme
(Makes 6 servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 1 cup grated raw potato, 1½ cups sour cream, 1 teaspoon caraway seed, 4 cans Vienna sausages.

Heat sauerkraut, add grated potato. Cook, stirring frequently with fork until potato is tender. Add sour cream and caraway seeds, heat thoroughly. Pile in center of warmed serving plate and sprinkle with paprika or grated cheese. Surround with lightly browned sausages.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Prune juice, creamed codfish, butter or fortified margarine, tart jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Vegetable soup, toasted peanut butter and chili sauce sandwiches, applesauce, oatmeal cookies, tea, milk.

ULSTER PARK

Ulster Park, Feb. 7—Regular services in the Reformed Dutch Church will be held Sunday at 9:45 a. m. with the pastor, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, in charge. The newly-elected elders and deacons will be installed. New members of the consistory include J. Hudson Cole, elder; Jason Sahler, Donald Herring, John Karag and Richard Gendreau, deacons.

A master and secretary conference for all subordinate and county granges was held Tuesday night in the Rosendale Grange Hall. Henry D. Sherwood, state master and Harold Stanley, state secretary were in charge. The conference covered the counties of Orange, Sullivan, Rockland, Putnam, Westchester, Dutchess, Suffolk, Nassau and Ulster.

The Women's League for Service will hold its February meeting at the home of Mrs. H. M. Cameron Thursday, Feb. 15.

The Ulster County Grange Officer's Association will hold its regular meeting February 14 in the Rosendale Grange Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Winfield, Jr., of Stony Point spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Winfield, Sr.

Arrests Total 387

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—There were 387 arrests for narcotics violations in New York state last month. The total was twice the monthly average in 1950. In January, 1950, there were 97 arrests on narcotics charges. The 2,858 arrests for major crimes compared with the 1950 monthly average of 2,090, the State Correction Department said last night.

2,000 Are Laid Off

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Federal Electric Company laid off 2,000 employes in the television receiver division for one day because of a shortage of cabinets.

Held on Narcotics Count

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—James Black, 31-year-old Negro, of 1107 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, was arrested by three detectives last night and charged with possession of narcotics with intent to sell them. The detectives seized Black as he was about to enter a taxi on Prosect avenue between 163rd and 164th streets. They said he carried a brown paper bag containing 110 packets of heroin and 60 packets of cocaine with a retail value of $1,020.

V.F.W. Sponsoring Town Blood Plan

The blood type survey in the Town of Rochester and village of Kerhonkson will be sponsored financially and completely by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post No. 8959 of Kerhonkson, Miss Shirley Banks of Accord announced today.

Miss Banks said there was some misunderstanding throughout the county regarding the status of the Kerhonkson program.

"The V.F.W. of Kerhonkson is sponsoring this survey financially and they will also furnish all technical assistance needed," she said.

A meeting of resident areas has been called for tonight at the post building in Kerhonkson. Dr. William Galeota, the post surgeon, will explain the blood type survey.

Newsprint Drop Of 130,00 Tons Indicatd in 1951

Washington Feb. 8 (AP)—A defense producon official said today there is p present plan to allocate newspnt although a shortage of 130,00tons is indicated for 1951.

Only some evelopment of "major impact"—uch as raw material or transportion shortage—will make it neceary to revive World War 2 contr of newsprint supplies, he toldhe House Interstate Commerce Cmmittee.

The newspnt situation was reviewed for t committee by Gabriel J. Ticout, chief of the pulp and paper seion of the National Production Athority, and H. B. McCoy, assisnt N. P. A. administrator for dustry operations.

Mr. Ticoul testified "the situation is tigl but added:

"I don't tnk controls will be necessary unss a major impact occurs."

Besides r material or transportation shtages, he listed as "impact" psibilities a shortage of man pow in Canadian mills, a Canadian ailroad-car shortage, a cut-off ofcandinavian supplies or a markedncrease in shipments of newspnt to the free nations under the Arshall plan.

The mos serious immediate problem is shortage of sulphur, Mr. Ticoulsaid. Sulphur is used in processin paper.

If curtailent of sulphur continues at thpresent rate, he told the commtee, newsprint production coulde decreased as much as 20 per nt or more.

Estimate sulphur production for 1951 flicates a decrease of about 300,0 tons from last year, he said, nd sulphur producers are cuttindown on shipments to newsprint uppliers.

Buildng Is Damaged

Late Bulletin

Woodbridge, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—A Middlesev county official investigating the Pennsylvania Railroad crackup which claimed 83 lives today accused the big railroad of "a complete and indifferent disregard for human life."

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber, in a statement which he termed "my personal indictment of the railroad" told a news conference in nearby New Brunswick:

"We shall carefully explore any criminal aspects involved and present the matter at some appropriate time to the grand jury."

Eber's statement came as workers dug into frozen snow to remove the remaining wreckage of the accident.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Julia Ann Branigan, 72, formerly of Kingston who died Feoruary 7, will be held Friday afternoon in Belleville, N. J. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Pearl E. Van Dolson of Belleville, N. J.

Tanks Plaster . . .

likely the Reds would withdraw to the north bank of the winding Han. The river began to thaw Wednesday but froze over again tonight. Snow fell on the western front.

Without firing a shot, the Puerto Ricans took 1,800-foot Manggyong Mountain overlooking Seoul. It is the highest peak before the city. So quickly had the Chinese fled their positions the Puerto Ricans found rice still warm in bowls.

The general advance followed in the wake of tiger-faced tanks of the U. S. 25th Division. The armored column—Task Force Dolvin—plunged over mined roads to within four miles of Seoul, shelled the city and then withdrew for the night.

Other tank-led forces rammed ahead more than a mile to move the allied line to within 5½ miles of Seoul. One of the armored columns, south-southeast of Seoul, was identified as from the U. S. Third Division. This was Task Force Fisher.

Resistance Is Stiffer

Red resistance was stiffer on the central and east-central fronts. However, gains in those sectors ranged up to eight miles. Warships hammered both coasts. Warplanes lashed at Red supply lines in the north and on the east coast.

Faces of ferocious tigers had been painted on the blunt noses of the tanks in Task Force Dolvin to frighten the superstitious Chinese Red peasant soldiers.

A.P. Correspondent Jim Becker, with the armored column, said Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin of Columbus, Ga., stood on a summit during the plunge northward, and observed:

"If it wasn't so hazy you could probably see Seoul today from where we are standing."

Nearest Approach

It was the nrearest ground approach to Seoul by the allies since they abandoned the city Jan. 4. Most of the capital's 1,500,000 population has fled. The city is regarded as of no military significance now.

Task Force Dolvin was one of three punching at Chinese south of the Han. Also pressing hard on the Reds were ground troops of the U. S., Britain, Greece, Turkey, France, Puerto Rico and South Korea.

A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton said a staff officer estimated the Chinese 149th Division in the Puerto Rican sector had only 1,800 effective troops remaining of an original force of 10,000.

It was this staff officer who said the Reds most likely would retreat north of the Han. The Chinese had taken tremendous losses. The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at more than 4,700, of whom 2,674 were on the western front.

In the west, the push was slowed mostly by minefields. Correspondent Swinton said the Reds had planted new mines during the night in holes left by mines carefully dug-up by Allied engineers Wednesday.

Grenades Are Used

The Chinese also were using Russian-made hand grenades and bangalore torpedoes in a futile effort to stop the tanks.

The two other tank columns in the west gained up to two miles before noon Thursday. These task forces also are named after their commanders, Col. William Bartlett of Washington, D. C., and Capt. Kenneth Fisher of Johnstown, Pa.

Task Force Bartlett was on the left of Dolvin's armored column, Task Force Fisher on the right. And, to the right of Fisher, the Turks wrested a 40-foot hill from Reds dug in about 10 miles south-southeast of Seoul.

The Reds had attacked American units in that sector during the night. The assault was hurled back with heavy Red losses.

Elements of one American division killed between 300 and 400 Reds on high ground 11 miles northeast of Ichon and moved up. This further tightened the pinch on the Red perimeter south of Seoul.

Korean Reds Pushed Back

On the central front, the allied sweep north of Hoengsong encountered heavier resistance. A.P. Correspondent John Randolph reported Korean Reds nonetheless were driven back five miles Wednesday and Wednesday night. Some of the battles continued into Thursday.

ROK (Republic of Korea) troops smashed eight miles north-west of Hoehgsong toward Hongchon, some 50 air miles east of Seoul.

Other ROK elements captured Changpyong, 12 miles northeast of newly-won Pyongchang.

On the east coast, an American unit ran into a Red battalion dug in 15 miles southeast of Ulsong. That's a mountain village southwest of ROK forces maintaining contact with the Reds near Kangnung, 17 miles south of Parallel 38.

Kangnung Shelled

The navy announced that the U. S. Battleship Missouri shelled Kangnung with 16-inch guns Wednesday and left the town a smoking ruin. Other allied fleet units pounded Red lines ahead of the task forces on the western front.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that the Chinese were trying to build up for a stand somewhere across the rugged peninsula. The Far East Air Forces reported 1,350 vehicles were spotted on North Korean highways Wednesday night.

Guided by flares, B-26 light bombers and F-82 Mustang night fighters attacked more than 100 Red vehicles and reported knocking out 25.

A heavy overcast hampered ground operations by Fifth Air Force fighters in western Korea Thursday. But the east coast was clear enough for one of the heaviest strikes of the war on North Korean key rail lines.

FEAF headquarters said preliminary reports were that more than 90 Superforts, light bombers and fighters had attacked the target areas by mid-afternoon.

Robert Sherwood won the Pulitzer Prize four times; thrice for plays and once for a biography.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Quiet strength pervaded the stock market today and pulled prices higher.

There was enough buying in the rail section to send the leaders up by a few cents to around a dollar a share.

Some of this buying was based on optimism over settlement of the sick switchmen's strike.

U. S. Rubber was a feature of its division in response to the $1 common division. The company previously paid 75 cents quarterly with a 25-cent extra in September and $1.75 extra in December.

Buys Delicatessen In Uptown Area

The New York Delicatessen at 53 North Front street will open Friday under new management, having recently been purchased by Moe Schanzer, formerly of Elmhurst. Schanzer is no stranger to Kingston, being a property owner for some time at Hurley.

Schanzer will carry a complete line of delicatessens, groceries, foods and vegetables and will stock both Kosher and non-Kosher meats.

Sale of the business to Schanzer was negotiated through the real estate office of William Engelen of 68 Main street. During the new management opening Mr. Schanzer is offering special prices on various articles as advertised in The Freeman this evening.

C. F. Jacobs Stays

ton Hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance and his condition was reported today as "good."

The heavy vehicle also struck the right front fender of an oil tank truck, stopped to unload gas at the gas station of W. F. Carvell, Inc., 58 Ferry street, and the driver of the tank truck, Harold O'Brien, of Creek Locks, and William Dietz, an employe of the gas station barely escaped being run down by the truck before it crashed into the building.

Gruber Raced Time

Fred Gruber, 8 Park street, driver of a bus on the Hasbrouck avenue line, said he raced his bus against time to clear the path of the tractor-trailer, to pull to the curb between two parked cars near the Abramowitz mattress factory as he was headed up Hasbrouck avenue.

Gruber's bus carried about 40 pupils, most of them of St. Ursula's Academy, and parked on the Strand near Hasbrouck avenue was a Broadway bus operated by Thomas Joyce, of Harwich street, which had just taken on 35 to 40 transfer passengers, also school children, and Augustus O. Steuding, Jr., 17 Fort street, driving an empty Broadway bus in behind that of Joyce, barely missed being struck.

Could Estimate Speed

"I could see the truck when it was at Meadow street," Gruber said, "and when it was at Union street, I knew it was out of control, and that even if the driver had brakes, he couldn't stop at that speed."

Gruber said that when he pulled in between the two cars by the mattress factory, it was like "trying to beat a train over a crossing." He estimated that the driver was traveling "50 miles an hour or better," when he passed the bus.

Praises Driver's Courage

Gruber highly praised the courage of the driver, and today, Mrs. Cornelia H. Coons, 162 Fair street, who was on Gruber's bus, said "I have all kinds of praise for that bus driver."

Saved by Stalled Car

Mrs. Coons also said she learned today that a Hasbrouck avenue bus operated by John Schrader, 174 Hasbrouck avenue, was coming out of Murray street at the time, and that if it had not been for the fact that a car had stalled in front of him, he might have been at the intersection when the tractor-trailer passed.

Mrs. Coons said, that the windows of the bus were steamed and she and others did not see the truck coming down the hill, but she realized quickly after the mishap how lucky the bus passengers were that the bus made the space between the two cars in time.

Praises Fred Gruber

Mrs. Coons today called Thomas J. Gadd, president and general manager of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., and praised the work of driver Fred Gruber.

Other reports said the driver of the truck swerved several times on his course as he sounded the horn the full length of the run. He swerved to miss the busses and through his handling of the vehicle missed hitting a youngster at Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand, only a matter of seconds before his crash against the building.

Mrs. Carvell 'Lucky'

Numbered among the lucky ones in the mishap was Mrs. W. F. Carvell, vice-president and secretary of the W. F. Carvell Inc., who operate the gas business in the damaged building.

Mrs. Carvell was in the office on the second floor above the part of the building through which the heavy truck plunged. She suffered no injuries, but was badly shaken and scared, her husband said.

Police headquarters was notified of the mishap at 3:25 p. m., when the report first said a fire was reported at the Strand and Hasbrouck avenue and that the firemen had been called. Equipment from Central and Cornell stations responded and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was at the scene.

Officers James Burns and Frank Sammons were dispatched to the scene and meanwhile two calls had apparently been put in for ambulances.

The police report said the truck was the property of Dorn's Express, 306 Columbia street, Rensselaer. It apparently carried no cargo down the hill.

Building Damaged

The heavy vehicle tore away a large section of the northwest corner of the building and brick and mortar fell for some time after the accident.

Jacobs, the driver, was taken from the cab by Abbie Morris and Charles Manfro, employes of the Miron Lumber Co., the police report said, and John Palen, 57 Cedar street, an employe of Kilmer's garage, said he also assisted in getting the driver out of the truck on which the rubble had piled high.

One truck driver, who said he was not far away before the truck crashed, said he sensed that something was wrong, because of the way the driver worked at the wheel and sounded the horn.

No Damage Estimate

The building, which formerly housed the Jules Petroleum gas station, is owned by Jules Miron. The extent of the damage was not estimated today.

Mrs. Carvell was in the upstairs office alone at the time of the mishap, and when others in the building went to her rescue, they found that a door was jammed and they had to pry it open.

Truck Bemolished

The oil tank tractor-trailer, which was slightly damaged in the mishap, was the property of the Provan Petroleum Lines, of Newburgh. It was stopped and ready to unlaod gas, the police report said. The truck which crashed was virtually demolished.

The police account also said that Jacob's report indicated that his brakes had given way on Hasbrouck avenue near Delaware avenue and he was unable to stop.

Employes of the gas station said that besides Mrs. Carvell none of the others in the building was dangerously near the spot where the truck crashed.

Police and firemen remained on the scene for some time after the accident which attracted a crowd to Ferry street and Officer Peter Camp was on duty near the damaged building.

The truck was stopped by the building only about 30 feet from the Rondout creek.

Urge Reservations For Banquet Now

Final plans for the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 15, were made at a joint meeting of the executive and banquet committee Wednesday afternoon. Both President Lawrence J. MacAvery and committee chairman, Howard C. St. John, request that reservations be made promptly by phoning to the Chamber of Commerce office or returning the reservation blank mailed to all members recently.

Although the speaker, Richard L. Bowditch of Boston, was recently called to Washington to assist Charles E. Wilson, mobilization chief, the committee has been assured that he will be on hand for the banquet. President MacAvery stated that this will be an excellent opportunity to secure first hand, up to the minute information about the defense effort.

Chairman St. John wishes to remind everyone that ladies and guests also are invited to attend. Present indications are that the attendance at the banquet will be about 200.

Grand Jurors Group Holds Monthly Session

A regular monthly meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County was held at the court house Monday evening.

President Thomas J. Murphy presided and several topics of interest for the membership committee was spoke of. There was a lengthy discussion on the duties of the legislative committee and its program and the cooperation of the state legislators of this district, their wisdom of proposed laws and their recommendation thereof which would be of value to all. The legislative program was sponsored by President Murphy some months ago and its members are very much interested in its success.

Several new applications for membership were read and accepted. All grand jurors who recently received a letter of invitation to join the Association are asked to reply to the secretary, Henry G. Macholdt, as soon as possible. The Association made a generous donation to the "March of Dimes" fund.

The meeting closed with remarks of support and cooperation by members. President Murphy thanked all members for their support of the organization and its officers.

Titles for Mothers

Prague (AP)—New honors have been made available for Bulgarian mothers in the form of medals. The medals include decorations of the "Glory of Motherhood," and of "Honorary Mother." The awards were reported by the Soviet News Agency Tass, which failed to say what must be done to earn the honors.

Newsprint Drop Of 130,00 Tons Indicatd in 1951

Washington Feb. 8 (AP)—A defense producon official said today there is r present plan to allocate newspnt although a shortage of 130,00tons is indicated for 1951.

Only some evelopment of "major impact"—uch as raw material or transportion shortage—will make it neceary to revive World War 2 contr of newsprint supplies, he toldhe House Interstate Commerce Cmmittee.

The newspnt situation was reviewed for t committee by Gabriel J. Ticout, chief of the pulp and paper seion of the National Production Athority, and H. B. McCoy, assisnt N. P. A. administrator for dustry operations.

Mr. Ticoul testified "the situation is tigh but added:

"I don't tnk controls will be necessary uess a major impact occurs."

Besides r material or transportation shtages, he listed as "impact" pibilities a shortage of man pow in Canadian mills, a Canadian ailroad-car shortage, a cut-off ofcandinavian supplies or a markencrease in shipments of newsprir to the free nations under the Arshall plan.

The mos serious immediate problem is shortage of sulphur, Mr. Ticoulasaid. Sulphur is used in processir paper.

If curtailent of sulphur contines at itpresent rate, he told the commitee, newsprint production could e decreased as much as 20 per nt or more.

Estimate sulphur production for 1951 dicates a decrease of about 300,0 tons from last year, he said, nd sulphur producers are cuttindown on shipments to newsprint uppliers.

Late Bulletin

Woodbridge, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—A Middlesev county official investigating the Pennsylvania Railroad crackup which claimed 83 lives today accused the big railroad of "a complete and indifferent disregard for human life."

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber, in a statement which he termed "my personal indictment of the railroad" told a news conference in nearby New Brunswick:

"We shall carefully explore any criminal aspects involved and present the matter at some appropriate time to the grand jury."

Eber's statement came as workers dug into frozen snow to remove the remaining wreckage of the accident.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Julia Ann Branigan, 72, formerly of Kingston who died Feoruary 7, will be held Friday afternoon in Belleville, N. J. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Pearl E. Van Dolson of Belleville, N. J.

Funeral services for William C. DeWitt, Kingston historian who died Sunday at his residence, 20 John street, were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. Tanks Plaster . . .

likely the Reds would withdraw to the north bank of the winding Han. The river began to thaw Wednesday but froze over again tonight. Snow fell on the western front.

Without firing a shot, the Puerto Ricans took 1,800-foot Manggyong Mountain overlooking Seoul. It is the highest peak before the city. So quickly had the Chinese fled their positions the Puerto Ricans found rice still warm in bowls.

The general advance followed in the wake of tiger-faced tanks of the U. S. 25th Division. The armored column—Task Force Dolvin—plunged over mined roads to within four miles of Seoul, shelled the city and then withdrew for the night.

Other tank-led forces rammed ahead more than a mile to move the allied line to within 5½ miles of Seoul. One of the armored columns, south-southeast of Seoul, was identified as from the U. S. Third Division. This was Task Force Fisher.

Resistance Is Stiffer

Red resistance was stiffer on the central and east-central fronts. However, gains in those sectors ranged up to eight miles. Warships hammered both coasts. Warplanes lashed at Red supply lines in the north and on the east coast.

Faces of ferocious tigers had been painted on the blunt noses of the tanks in Task Force Dolvin to frighten the superstitious Chinese Red peasant soldiers.

A.P. Correspondent Jim Becker, with the armored column, said Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin of Columbus, Ga., stood on a summit during the plunge northward, and observed:

"If it wasn't so hazy you could probably see Seoul today from where we are standing."

Nearest Approach

It was the nrearest ground approach to Seoul by the allies since they abandoned the city Jan. 4. Most of the capital's 1,500,000 population has fled. The city is regarded as of no military significance now.

Task Force Dolvin was one of three punching at Chinese south of the Han. Also pressing hard on the Reds were ground troops of the U. S., Britain, Greece, Turkey, France, Puerto Rico and South Korea.

A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton said a staff officer estimated the Chinese 149th Division in the Puerto Rican sector had only 1,800 effective troops remaining of an original force of 10,000.

It was this staff officer who said the Reds most likely would retreat north of the Han. The Chinese had taken tremendous losses. The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at more than 4,700, of whom 2,674 were on the western front.

In the west, the push was slowed mostly by minefields. Correspondent Swinton said the Reds had planted new mines during the night in holes left by mines carefully dug-up by Allied engineers Wednesday.

Grenades Are Used

The Chinese also were using Russian-made hand grenades and bangalore torpedoes in a futile effort to stop the tanks.

The two other tank columns in the west gained up to two miles before noon Thursday. These task forces also are named after their commanders, Col. William Bartlett of Washington, D. C., and Capt. Kenneth Fisher of Johnstown, Pa.

Task Force Bartlett was on the left of Dolvin's armored column, Task Force Fisher on the right. And, to the right of Fisher, the Turks wrested a 40-foot hill from Reds dug in about 10 miles south-southeast of Seoul.

The Reds had attacked American units in that sector during the night. The assault was hurled back with heavy Red losses.

Elements of one American division killed between 300 and 400 Reds on high ground 11 miles northeast of Ichon and moved up. This further tightened the pinch on the Red perimeter south of Seoul.

Korean Reds Pushed Back

On the central front, the allied sweep north of Hoengsong encountered heavier resistance. A.P. Correspondent John Randolph reported Korean Reds nonetheless were driven back five miles Wednesday and Wednesday night. Some of the battles continued into Thursday.

ROK (Republic of Korea) troops smashed eight miles north-west of Hoehgsong toward Hongchon, some 50 air miles east of Seoul.

Other ROK elements captured Changpyong, 12 miles northeast of newly-won Pyongchang.

On the east coast, an American unit ran into a Red battalion dug in 15 miles southeast of Ulsong. That's a mountain village southwest of ROK forces maintaining contact with the Reds near Kangnung, 17 miles south of Parallel 38.

Kangnung Shelled

The navy announced that the U. S. Battleship Missouri shelled Kangnung with 16-inch guns Wednesday and left the town a smoking ruin. Other allied fleet units pounded Red lines ahead of the task forces on the western front.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that the Chinese were trying to build up for a stand somewhere across the rugged peninsula. The Far East Air Forces reported 1,-350 vehicles were spotted on North Korean highways Wednesday night.

Guided by flares, B-26 light bombers and F-82 Mustang night fighters attacked more than 100 Red vehicles and reported knocking out 25.

A heavy overcast hampered ground operations by Fifth Air Force fighters in western Korea Thursday. But the east coast was clear enough for one of the heaviest strikes of the war on North Korean key rail lines.

FEAF headquarters said preliminary reports were that more than 90 Superforts, light bombers and fighters had attacked the target areas by mid-afternoon.

Robert Sherwood won the Pulitzer Prize four times; thrice for plays and once for a biography.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Quiet strength pervaded the stock market today and pulled prices higher.

There was enough buying in the rail section to send the leaders up by a few cents to around a dollar a share.

Some of this buying was based on optimism over settlement of the sick switchmen's strike.

U. S. Rubber was a feature of its division in response to the $1 common division. The company previously paid 75 cents quarterly with a 25-cent extra in September and $1.75 extra in December.

Buys Delicatessen In Uptown Area

The New York Delicatessen at 53 North Front street will open Friday under new management, having recently been purchased by Moe Schanzer, formerly of Elmhurst. Schanzer is no stranger to Kingston, being a property owner for some time at Hurley.

Schanzer will carry a complete line of delicatessens, groceries, foods and vegetables and will stock both Kosher and non-Kosher meats.

Sale of the business to Schanzer was negotiated through the real estate office of William Engelen of 68 Main street. During the new management opening Mr. Schanzer is offering special prices on various articles as advertised in The Freeman this evening.

C. F. Jacobs Stays

ton Hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance and his condition was reported today as "good."

The heavy vehicle also struck the right front fender of an oil tank truck, stopped to unload gas at the gas station of W. F. Carvell, Inc., 58 Ferry street, and the driver of the tank truck, Harold O'Brien, of Creek Locks, and William Dietz, an employe of the gas station barely escaped being run down by the truck before it crashed into the building.

Gruber Raced Time

Fred Gruber, 8 Park street, driver of a bus on the Hasbrouck avenue line, said he raced his bus against time to clear the path of the tractor-trailer, to pull to the curb between two parked cars near the Abramowitz mattress factory as he was headed up Hasbrouck avenue.

Gruber's bus carried about 40 pupils, most of them of St. Ursula's Academy, and parked on the Strand near Hasbrouck avenue was a Broadway bus operated by Thomas Joyce, of Harwich street, which had just taken on 35 to 40 transfer passengers, also school children, and Augustus O. Steuding, Jr., 17 Fort street, driving an empty Broadway bus in behind that of Joyce, barely missed being struck.

Could Estimate Speed

"I could see the truck when it was at Meadow street," Gruber said, "and when it was at Union street, I knew it was out of control, and that even if the driver had brakes, he couldn't stop at that speed."

Gruber said that when he pulled in between the two cars by the mattress factory, it was like "trying to beat a train over a crossing." He estimated that the driver was traveling "50 miles an hour or better," when he passed the bus.

Praises Driver's Courage

Gruber highly praised the courage of the driver, and today, Mrs. Cornelia H. Coons, 162 Fair street, who was on Gruber's bus, said "I have all kinds of praise for that bus driver."

Saved by Stalled Car

Mrs. Coons also said she learned today that a Hasbrouck avenue bus operated by John Schrader, 174 Hasbrouck avenue, was coming out of Murray street at the time, and that if it had not been for the fact that a car had stalled in front of him, he might have been at the intersection when the tractor-trailer passed.

Mrs. Coons said, that the windows of the bus were steamed and she and others did not see the truck coming down the hill, but she realized quickly after the mishap how lucky the bus passengers were that the bus made the space between the two cars in time.

Praises Fred Gruber

Mrs. Coons today called Thomas J. Gadd, president and general manager of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., and praised the work of driver Fred Gruber.

Other reports said the driver of the truck swerved several times on his course as he sounded the horn the full length of the run. He swerved to miss the busses and through his handling of the vehicle missed hitting a youngster at Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand, only a matter of seconds before his crash against the building.

Mrs. Carvell 'Lucky'

Numbered among the lucky ones in the mishap was Mrs. W. F. Carvell, vice-president and secretary of the W. F. Carvell Inc., who operate the gas business in the damaged building.

Mrs. Carvell was in the office on the second floor above the part of the building through which the heavy truck plunged. She suffered no injuries, but was badly shaken and scared, her husband said.

Police headquarters was notified of the mishap at 3:25 p. m., when the report first said a fire was reported at the Strand and Hasbrouck avenue and that the firemen had been called. Equipment from Central and Cornell stations responded and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was at the scene.

Officers James Burns and Frank Sammons were dispatched to the scene and meanwhile two calls had apparently been put in for ambulances.

The police report said the truck was the property of Dorn's Express, 306 Columbia street, Rensselaer. It apparently carried no cargo down the hill.

Building Damaged

The heavy vehicle tore away a large section of the northwest corner of the building and brick and mortar fell for some time after the accident.

Jacobs, the driver, was taken from the cab by Abbie Morris and Charles Manfro, employes of the Miron Lumber Co., the police report said, and John Palen, 57 Cedar street, an employe of Kilmer's garage, said he also assisted in getting the driver out of the truck on which the rubble had piled high.

One truck driver, who said he was not far away before the truck crashed, said he sensed that something was wrong, because of the way the driver worked at the wheel and sounded the horn.

No Damage Estimate

The building, which formerly housed the Jules Petroleum gas station, is owned by Jules Miron. The extent of the damage was not estimated today.

Mrs. Carvell was in the upstairs office alone at the time of the mishap, and when others in the building went to her rescue, they found that a door was jammed and they had to pry it open.

Truck Bemolished

The oil tank tractor-trailer, which was slightly damaged in the mishap, was the property of the Provan Petroleum Lines, of Newburgh. It was stopped and ready to unlaod gas, the police report said. The truck which crashed was virtually demolished.

The police account also said that Jacob's report indicated that his brakes had given way on Hasbrouck avenue near Delaware avenue and he was unable to stop.

Employes of the gas station said that besides Mrs. Carvell none of the others in the building was dangerously near the spot where the truck crashed.

Police and firemen remained on the scene for some time after the accident which attracted a crowd to Ferry street and Officer Peter Camp was on duty near the damaged building.

The truck was stopped by the building only about 30 feet from the Rondout creek.

Urge Reservations For Banquet Now

Final plans for the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 15, were made at a joint meeting of the executive and banquet committee Wednesday afternoon. Both President Lawrence J. MacAvery and committee chairman, Howard C. St. John, request that reservations be made promptly by phoning to the Chamber of Commerce office or returning the reservation blank mailed to all members recently.

Although the speaker, Richard L. Bowditch of Boston, was recently called to Washington to assist Charles E. Wilson, mobilization chief, the committee has been assured that he will be on hand for the banquet. President MacAvery stated that this will be an excellent opportunity to secure first hand, up to the minute information about the defense effort.

Chairman St. John wishes to remind everyone that ladies and guests also are invited to attend. Present indications are that the attendance at the banquet will be about 200.

Grand Jurors Group Holds Monthly Session

A regular monthly meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County was held at the court house Monday evening.

President Thomas J. Murphy presided and several topics of interest for the membership committee was spoke of. There was a lengthy discussion on the duties of the legislative committee and its program and the cooperation of the state legislators of this district, their wisdom of proposed laws and their recommendation thereof which would be of value to all. The legislative program was sponsored by President Murphy some months ago and its members are very much interested in its success.

Several new applications for membership were read and accepted. All grand jurors who recently received a letter of invitation to join the Association are asked to reply to the secretary, Henry G. Macholdt, as soon as possible. The Association made a generous donation to the "March of Dimes" fund.

The meeting closed with remarks of support and cooperation by members. President Murphy thanked all members for their support of the organization and its officers.

Newsprint Drop Of 130,00 Tons Indicatd in 1951

Washington Feb. 8 (AP)—A defense producon official said today there is r present plan to allocate newspnt although a shortage of 130,00tons is indicated for 1951.

Only some evelopment of "major impact"—uch as raw material or transportion shortage—will make it neceary to revive World War 2 contr of newsprint supplies, he toldhe House Interstate Commerce Committee.

The newspnt situation was reviewed for ti committee by Gabriel J. Ticout, chief of the pulp and paper seion of the National Production Athority, and H. B. McCoy, assist N. P. A. administrator for dustry operations.

Mr. Ticout testified "the situation is tigt but added:

"I don't tnk controls will be necessary uess a major impact occurs."

Besides r material or transportation shtages, he listed as "impact" pibilities a shortage of man pow in Canadian mills, a Canadian ailroad-car shortage, a cut-off ofcandinavian supplies or a markemcrease in shipments of newsprir to the free nations under the Arshall plan.

The mos serious immediate problem is shortage of sulphur, Mr. Ticoulsaid. Sulphur is used in processir paper.

If curtailent of sulphur continues at itpresent rate, he told the commitee, newsprint production could e decreased as much as 20 per nt or more.

Estimate sulphur production for 1951 ficates a decrease of about 300,0 tons from last year, he said. d sulphur producers are cuttindown on shipments to newsprint uppliers.

Late Bulletin

Woodbridge, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—A Middlesev county official investigating the Pennsylvania Railroad crackup which claimed 83 lives today accused the big railroad of "a complete and indifferent disregard for human life."

Assistant Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber, in a statement which he termed "my personal indictment of the railroad" told a news conference in nearby New Brunswick:

"We shall carefully explore any criminal aspects involved and present the matter at some appropriate time to the grand jury."

Eber's statement came as workers dug into frozen snow to remove the remaining wreckage of the accident.

Tanks Plaster . . .

likely the Reds would withdraw to the north bank of the winding Han. The river began to thaw Wednesday but froze over again tonight. Snow fell on the western front.

Without firing a shot, the Puerto Ricans took 1,800-foot Manggyong Mountain overlooking Seoul. It is the highest peak before the city. So quickly had the Chinese fled their positions the Puerto Ricans found rice still warm in bowls.

The general advance followed in the wake of tiger-faced tanks of the U. S. 25th Division. The armored column—Task Force Dolvin—plunged over mined roads to within four miles of Seoul, shelled the city and then withdrew for the night.

Other tank-led forces rammed ahead more than a mile to move the allied line to within 5½ miles of Seoul. One of the armored columns, south-southeast of Seoul, was identified as from the U. S. Third Division. This was Task Force Fisher.

Resistance Is Stiffer

Red resistance was stiffer on the central and east-central fronts. However, gains in those sectors ranged up to eight miles. Warships hammered both coasts. Warplanes lashed at Red supply lines in the north and on the east coast.

Faces of ferocious tigers had been painted on the blunt noses of the tanks in Task Force Dolvin to frighten the superstitious Chinese Red peasant soldiers.

A.P. Correspondent Jim Becker, with the armored column, said Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin of Columbus, Ga., stood on a summit during the plunge northward, and observed:

"If it wasn't so hazy you could probably see Seoul today from where we are standing."

Nearest Approach

It was the nrearest ground approach to Seoul by the allies since they abandoned the city Jan. 4. Most of the capital's 1,500,000 population has fled. The city is regarded as of no military significance now.

Task Force Dolvin was one of three punching at Chinese south of the Han. Also pressing hard on the Reds were ground troops of the U. S., Britain, Greece, Turkey, France, Puerto Rico and South Korea.

A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton said a staff officer estimated the Chinese 149th Division in the Puerto Rican sector had only 1,800 effective troops remaining of an original force of 10,000.

It was this staff officer who said the Reds most likely would retreat north of the Han. The Chinese had taken tremendous losses. The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at more than 4,700, of whom 2,674 were on the western front.

In the west, the push was slowed mostly by minefields. Correspondent Swinton said the Reds had planted new mines during the night in holes left by mines carefully dug-up by Allied engineers Wednesday.

Grenades Are Used

The Chinese also were using Russian-made hand grenades and bangalore torpedoes in a futile effort to stop the tanks.

The two other tank columns in the west gained up to two miles before noon Thursday. These task forces also are named after their commanders, Col. William Bartlett of Washington, D. C., and Capt. Kenneth Fisher of Johnstown, Pa.

Task Force Bartlett was on the left of Dolvin's armored column, Task Force Fisher on the right. And, to the right of Fisher, the Turks wrested a 40-foot hill from Reds dug in about 10 miles south-southeast of Seoul.

The Reds had attacked American units in that sector during the night. The assault was hurled back with heavy Red losses.

Elements of one American division killed between 300 and 400 Reds on high ground 11 miles northeast of Ichon and moved up. This further tightened the pinch on the Red perimeter south of Seoul.

Korean Reds Pushed Back

On the central front, the allied sweep north of Hoengsong encountered heavier resistance. A.P. Correspondent John Randolph reported Korean Reds nonetheless were driven back five miles Wednesday and Wednesday night. Some of the battles continued into Thursday.

ROK (Republic of Korea) troops smashed eight miles north-west of Hoengsong toward Hongchon, some 50 air miles east of Seoul.

Other ROK elements captured Changpyong, 12 miles northeast of newly-won Pyongchang.

On the east coast, an American unit ran into a Red battalion dug in 15 miles southeast of Ulsong. That's a mountain village southwest of ROK forces maintaining contact with the Reds near Kangnung, 17 miles south of Parallel 38.

Kangnung Shelled

The navy announced that the U. S. Battleship Missouri shelled Kangnung with 16-inch guns Wednesday and left the town a smoking ruin. Other allied fleet units pounded Red lines ahead of the task forces on the western front.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that the Chinese were trying to build up for a stand somewhere across the rugged peninsula. The Far East Air Forces reported 1,350 vehicles were spotted on North Korean highways Wednesday night.

Guided by flares, B-26 light bombers and F-82 Mustang night fighters attacked more than 100 Red vehicles and reported knocking out 25.

A heavy overcast hampered ground operations by Fifth Air Force fighters in western Korea Thursday. But the east coast was clear enough for one of the heaviest strikes of the war on North Korean key rail lines.

FEAF headquarters said preliminary reports were that more than 90 Superforts, light bombers and fighters had attacked the target areas by mid-afternoon.

Robert Sherwood won the Pulitzer Prize four times; thrice for plays and once for a biography.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Quiet strength pervaded the stock market today and pulled prices higher.

There was enough buying in the rail section to send the leaders up by a few cents to around a dollar a share.

Some of this buying was based on optimism over settlement of the sick switchmen's strike.

U. S. Rubber was a feature of its division in response to the $1 common division. The company previously paid 75 cents quarterly with a 25-cent extra in September and $1.75 extra in December.

Buys Delicatessen In Uptown Area

The New York Delicatessen at 53 North Front street will open Friday under new management, having recently been purchased by Moe Schanzer, formerly of Elmhurst. Schanzer is no stranger to Kingston, being a property owner for some time at Hurley.

Schanzer will carry a complete line of delicatessens, groceries, foods and vegetables and will stock both Kosher and non-Kosher meats.

Sale of the business to Schanzer was negotiated through the real estate office of William Engelen of 68 Main street. During the new management opening Mr. Schanzer is offering special prices on various articles as advertised in The Freeman this evening.

C. F. Jacobs Stays

ton Hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance and his condition was reported today as "good."

The heavy vehicle also struck the right front fender of an oil tank truck, stopped to unload gas at the gas station of W. F. Carvell, Inc., 58 Ferry street, and the driver of the tank truck, Harold O'Brien, of Creek Locks, and William Dietz, an employe of the gas station barely escaped being run down by the truck before it crashed into the building.

Gruber Raced Time

Fred Gruber, 8 Park street, driver of a bus on the Hasbrouck avenue line, said he raced his bus against time to clear the path of the tractor-trailer, to pull to the curb between two parked cars near the Abramowitz mattress factory as he was headed up Hasbrouck avenue.

Gruber's bus carried about 40 pupils, most of them of St. Ursula's Academy, and parked on the Strand near Hasbrouck avenue was a Broadway bus operated by Thomas Joyce, of Harwich street, which had just taken on 35 to 40 transfer passengers, also school children, and Augustus O. Steuding, Jr., 17 Fort street, driving an empty Broadway bus in behind that of Joyce, barely missed being struck.

Could Estimate Speed

"I could see the truck when it was at Meadow street," Gruber said, "and when it was at Union street, I knew it was out of control, and that even if the driver had brakes, he couldn't stop at that speed."

Gruber said that when he pulled in between the two cars by the mattress factory, it was like "trying to beat a train over a crossing." He estimated that the driver was traveling "50 miles an hour or better," when he passed the bus.

Praises Driver's Courage

Gruber highly praised the courage of the driver, and today, Mrs. Cornelia H. Coons, 162 Fair street, who was on Gruber's bus, said "I have all kinds of praise for that bus driver."

Saved by Stalled Car

Mrs. Coons also said she learned today that a Hasbrouck avenue bus operated by John Schrader, 174 Hasbrouck avenue, was coming out of Murray street at the time, and that if it had not been for the fact that a car had stalled in front of him, he might have been at the intersection when the tractor-trailer passed.

Mrs. Coons said, that the windows of the bus were steamed and she and others did not see the truck coming down the hill, but she realized quickly after the mishap how lucky the bus passengers were that the bus made the space between the two cars in time.

Praises Fred Gruber

Mrs. Coons today called Thomas J. Gadd, president and general manager of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., and praised the work of driver Fred Gruber.

Other reports said the driver of the truck swerved several times on his course as he sounded the horn the full length of the run. He swerved to miss the busses and through his handling of the vehicle missed hitting a youngster at Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand, only a matter of seconds before his crash against the building.

Mrs. Carvell 'Lucky'

Numbered among the lucky ones in the mishap was Mrs. W. F. Carvell, vice-president and secretary of the W. F. Carvell Inc., who operate the gas business in the damaged building.

Mrs. Carvell was in the office on the second floor above the part of the building through which the heavy truck plunged. She suffered no injuries, but was badly shaken and scared, her husband said.

Police headquarters was notified of the mishap at 3:25 p. m., when the report first said a fire was reported at the Strand and Hasbrouck avenue and that the firemen had been called. Equipment from Central and Cornell stations responded and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy was at the scene.

Officers James Burns and Frank Sammons were dispatched to the scene and meanwhile two calls had apparently been put in for ambulances.

The police report said the truck was the property of Dorn's Express, 306 Columbia street, Rensselaer. It apparently carried no cargo down the hill.

Building Damaged

The heavy vehicle tore away a large section of the northwest corner of the building and brick and mortar fell for some time after the accident.

Jacobs, the driver, was taken from the cab by Abbie Morris and Charles Manfro, employes of the Miron Lumber Co., the police report said, and John Palen, 57 Cedar street, an employe of Kilmer's garage, said he also assisted in getting the driver out of the truck on which the rubble had piled high.

One truck driver, who said he was not far away before the truck crashed, said he sensed that something was wrong, because of the way the driver worked at the wheel and sounded the horn.

No Damage Estimate

The building, which formerly housed the Jules Petroleum gas station, is owned by Jules Miron. The extent of the damage was not estimated today.

Mrs. Carvell was in the upstairs office alone at the time of the mishap, and when others in the building went to her rescue, they found that a door was jammed and they had to pry it open.

Truck Demolished

The oil tank tractor-trailer, which was slightly damaged in the mishap, was the property of the Provan Petroleum Lines, of Newburgh. It was stopped and ready to unlaod gas, the police report said. The truck which crashed was virtually demolished.

The police account also said that Jacob's report indicated that his brakes had given way on Hasbrouck avenue near Delaware avenue and he was unable to stop.

Employes of the gas station said that besides Mrs. Carvell none of the others in the building was dangerously near the spot where the truck crashed.

Police and firemen remained on the scene for some time after the accident which attracted a crowd to Ferry street and Officer Peter Camp was on duty near the damaged building.

The truck was stopped by the building only about 30 feet from the Rondout creek.

Urge Reservations For Banquet Now

Final plans for the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 15, were made at a joint meeting of the executive and banquet committee Wednesday afternoon. Both President Lawrence J. MacAvery and committee chairman, Howard C. St. John, request that reservations be made promptly by phoning to the Chamber of Commerce office or returning the reservation blank mailed to all members recently.

Although the speaker, Richard L. Bowditch of Boston, was recently called to Washington to assist Charles E. Wilson, mobilization chief, the committee has been assured that he will be on hand for the banquet. President MacAvery stated that this will be an excellent opportunity to secure first hand, up to the minute information about the defense effort.

Chairman St. John wishes to remind everyone that ladies and guests also are invited to attend. Present indications are that the attendance at the banquet will be about 200.

Grand Jurors Group Holds Monthly Session

A regular monthly meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County was held at the court house Monday evening.

President Thomas J. Murphy presided and several topics of interest for the membership committee was spoke of. There was a lengthy discussion on the duties of the legislative committee and its program and the cooperation of the state legislators of this district, their wisdom of proposed laws and their recommendation thereof which would be of value to all. The legislative program was sponsored by President Murphy some months ago and its members are very much interested in its success.

Several new applications for membership were read and accepted. All grand jurors who recently received a letter of invitation to join the Association are asked to reply to the secretary, Henry G. Macholdt, as soon as possible. The Association made a generous donation to the "March of Dimes" fund.

The meeting closed with remarks of support and cooperation by members. President Murphy thanked all members for their support of the organization and its officers.

Titles for Mothers

Prague (AP)—New honors have been made available for Bulgarian mothers in the form of medals. The medals include decorations of the "Glory of Motherhood," and of "Honorary Mother." The awards were reported by the Soviet News Agency Tass, which failed to say what must be done to earn the honors.

Recreation Work Reviewed by Edson For Junior League

At the regular meeting of the Junior League on Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Amos R. Newcombe, Manor Lake, Harry Edson, assistant superintendent of the Kingston Recreation Department, gave a review of the department from its inception.

He put emphasis on the program carried on at the Downtown Recreation Center, 97 Broadway, in which the league is vitally interested.

The first move to give recreation to the children of Kingston, Mr. Edson said, was started more than 30 years ago in 1920 by Admiral Francis J. Higginson. Admiral Higginson, living here in retirement, solicited funds from his friends, which ultimately resulted in the opening of two parks with supervised play for children.

The following year, Mr. Edson continued, Kingston received financial assistance from the Emergency Relief Bureau, a federal agency. In subsequent years funds were provided by the National Youth Association, and finally by appropriations from the city budget. There is now, Mr. Edson continued, an average attendance of 150 children daily at the recreation center.

In conclusion he thanked the League for its assistance at the recreation center during the past years, where it provides volunteer workers five days and five evenings each week.

During the business meeting which followed Mr. Edson's talk, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Edward V. deGroff, president; Mrs. Amos R. Newcombe, vice-president; Mrs. William K. Darling, secretary; and Mrs. Burton W. Johnson, treasurer.

The following provisional members were also accepted as regular members: the Mmes. Richard C. Tucker, John Kerns, Kenneth MacCollam, Frank E. Lawatsch, and Harry Rowland.

Mrs. William Hilton was co-hostess at the meeting.

Committees Named For Fashion Show

During a luncheon meeting held last Friday afternoon by the Y.W.C.A. Women's Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel, plans were discussed for the group's approaching fashion show. The club's 15th annual showing, it has been scheduled for March 8 at 8 p. m. in the Crystal Room and adjoining chambers of the Governor Clinton.

At the same meeting the following committees, and committee chairmen were named: Mrs. Parker Brinnier, general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Philip Bronde, Mrs. Raymond Craft, Mrs. Frank McCausland, Mrs. James Rowe, Mrs. Louis Smith, and Mrs Ralph Shultis; ticket committee, Mrs. Robert Pixley, Mrs. Richard Morse, Mrs. Ralph Harper, Mrs. Alfred Schmid, and Mrs. Harold Styles; decorations, Maj. Helena Clearwater; and publicity, Mrs. Vincent Connelly.

Fellowship Guild Has Anniversary

The monthly meeting of the Fellowship Guild of the First Presbyterian Church, and the group's 10th anniversary, was held Tuesday night in Ramsey hall. Committees for the ensuing year were appointed by the president, Mrs. Gladys Owens, coupled with the announcement of another Merchandise Club which will start the last week in February, with Mrs. Harford S. Shultis as chairman.

Mrs. Howard Hornbeck was in charge of the evening's program and two pictures were shown through the courtesy of the New York State Department of Commerce.

In keeping with the anniversary theme Mrs. Charles Burgher, and Mrs. Fred Meeker, the refreshment committee, set a birthday cake in the place of honor on the refreshment table.

Valentine Party Held

The Church of the Comforter Couples' Club enjoyed its annual Valentine party Monday night at Comforter hall. In spite of bad weather, and sickness, a high percentage of the membership was present, it was reported, to enjoy the festivities. It was also announced that the entertainment committee has arranged for an evening of "old fashioned" square dancing next month.

At Wedding Reception Sunday

Miss Kathleen Ann Weaver Is Married To Donald Quick in St. Joseph's Church

Miss Kathleen Ann Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver of 43 Sterling street, was married Sunday, Feb. 4 in a 3 o'clock ceremony to Donald Edwin Quick, son of Mrs. Edwin Quick and the late Mr. Quick. The double ring service was performed in St. Joseph's Church, this city, by the Rev. John D. Simmons of that parish.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty played organ selections, and John Long, soloist, sang "Mother Beloved," "Ave Maria." The altar of the church was trimmed with white pompons and candles, and the family pews were marked with white satin bows and flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, with a yoke and collar of Chantilly lace. The gown was cut along princess lines, with a dropped shirred waist, and an overskirt of Chantilly lace falling to a full train. Her fingertip veil was secured by a half bonnet of matching lace, twined with seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book, covered with white roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Daniel Melius of Saugerties, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Melius wore a gown of tangerine satin, with a dropped neckline effect, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds and white carnations tied with a tangerine satin bow.

Miss Mary Ann McMahon of Newburgh, cousin of the bride, Miss Rose Fuscardo, Mrs. John Haines, sister of the groom, and Miss Kay Schiavone, all of this city, were the bride's other attendants. They were dressed in Nile green satin gowns, with a dropped neckline effect, and carried colonial bouquets of yellow rosebuds and white carnations trimmed with yellow satin ribbons.

James Mancuso of this city was best man. Ushers were Myron Rossi, Vincent Nicolosi, Philip McGowan, cousin of the groom, and Robert Jordan, cousin of the groom, all of this city.

After the ceremony a reception for more than 150 guests was held at Rose Marie Cabins, with music by "The Ambassadors."

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Quick are visiting New York. The bride wore a dark brown suit for traveling, with a brown and white checked topper, and a white rose corsage. On their return the couple will make their home at 185 East Chester street.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '50, and is employed in the office of P. Ballantine & Sons, this city.

Y.M.C.A. Boys See West Point Game

The Y.M.C.A. Boys Department had its first trip of the year Saturday, when a group of Cadets and Juniors traveled to West Point to see Army whip Colgate, in an exciting afternoon basketball game, in which big "Ed" Weaver was the star performer. The boys also saw track and field events before the game, and sandwiched in a little boxing and wrestling after.

The entire group was under the supervision of Chester Fox, Louis A. Schafer, and Clarence W. Corell, assisted by Donald Planthaber and Gerald Bruck.

On the return trip from the Point, the group stopped in Newburgh for refreshments.

Celebrating 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Avery, 31 Murphy street, celebrated their 60th wedding aniversary Saturday at their home. The couple have a son, a daughter, 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. They were married in 1891 at the home of Mrs. Avery's parents, which was recently torn down to enlarge and renovate the Bull Market on Washington avenue.

Saturday afternoon an open house was held for approximately 50 relatives and friends. Mr. Avery, better known as "Irve," was a well known bartender for 50 years at the old Eagle Hotel, and later at the Stuyvesant Hotel. He has been retired for the past eight years. (Budney Photo)

Recreation Work Reviewed by Edson For Junior League

At the regular meeting of the Junior League on Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Amos R. Newcombe, Manor Lake, Harry Edson, assistant superintendent of the Kingston Recreation Department, gave a review of the department from its inception.

He put emphasis on the program carried on at the Downtown Recreation Center, 97 Broadway, in which the league is vitally interested.

The first move to give recreation to the children of Kingston, Mr. Edson said, was started more than 30 years ago in 1920 by Admiral Francis J. Higginson. Admiral Higginson, living here in retirement, solicited funds from his friends, which ultimately resulted in the opening of two parks with supervised play for children.

The following year, Mr. Edson continued, Kingston received financial assistance from the Emergency Relief Bureau, a federal agency. In subsequent years funds were provided by the National Youth Association, and finally by appropriations from the city budget. There is now, Mr. Edson continued, an average attendance of 150 children daily at the recreation center.

In conclusion he thanked the League for its assistance at the recreation center during the past years, where it provides volunteer workers five days and five evenings each week.

During the business meeting which followed Mr. Edson's talk, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Edward V. deGroff, president; Mrs. Amos R. Newcombe, vice-president; Mrs. William K. Darling, secretary; and Mrs. Burton W. Johnson, treasurer.

The following provisional members were also accepted as regular members: the Mmes. Richard C. Tucker, John Kerns, Kenneth MacCollam, Frank E. Lawatsch, and Harry Rowland.

Mrs. William Hilton was cohostess at the meeting.

Committees Named For Fashion Show

During a luncheon meeting held last Friday afternoon by the Y.W.C.A. Women's Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel, plans were discussed for the group's approaching fashion show. The club's 15th annual showing, it has been scheduled for March 8 at 8 p. m. in the Crystal Room and adjoining chambers of the Governor Clinton.

At the same meeting the following committees, and committee chairmen were named: Mrs. Parker Brinnier, general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Philip Bronde, Mrs. Raymond Craft, Mrs. Frank McCausland, Mrs. James Rowe, Mrs. Louis Smith, and Mrs Ralph Shultis; ticket committee, Mrs. Robert Pixley, Mrs. Richard Morse, Mrs. Ralph Harper, Mrs. Alfred Schmid, and Mrs. Harold Styles; decorations, Maj. Helena Clearwater; and publicity, Mrs. Vincent Connelly.

Fellowship Guild Has Anniversary

The monthly meeting of the Fellowship Guild of the First Presbyterian Church, and the group's 10th anniversary, was held Tuesday night in Ramsey hall. Committees for the ensuing year were appointed by the president, Mrs. Gladys Owens, coupled with the announcement of another Merchandise Club which will start the last week in February, with Mrs. Harford S. Shultis as chairman.

Mrs. Howard Hornbeck was in charge of the evening's program and two pictures were shown through the courtesy of the New York State Department of Commerce.

In keeping with the anniversary theme Mrs. Charles Burgher, and Mrs. Fred Meeker, the refreshment committee, set a birthday cake in the place of honor on the refreshment table.

Valentine Party Held

The Church of the Comforter Couples' Club enjoyed its annual Valentine party Monday night at Comforter hall. In spite of bad weather, and sickness, a high percentage of the membership was present, it was reported, to enjoy the festivities. It was also announced that the entertainment committee has arranged for an evening of "old fashioned" square dancing next month.

At Wedding Reception Sunday

Miss Kathleen Ann Weaver Is Married To Donald Quick in St. Joseph's Church

Miss Kathleen Ann Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver of 43 Sterling street, was married Sunday, Feb. 4 in a 3 o'clock ceremony to Donald Edwin Quick, son of Mrs. Edwin Quick and the late Mr. Quick. The double ring service was performed in St. Joseph's Church, this city, by the Rev. John D. Simmons of that parish.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty played organ selections, and John Long, soloist, sang "Mother Beloved," "Ave Maria." The altar of the church was trimmed with white pompons and candles, and the family pews were marked with white satin bows and flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, with a yoke and collar of Chantilly lace. The gown was cut along princess lines, with a dropped shirred waist, and an overskirt of Chantilly lace falling to a full train. Her fingertip veil was secured by a half bonnet of matching lace, twined with seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book, covered with white roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Daniel Melius of Saugerties, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Melius wore a gown of tangerine satin, with a dropped neckline effect, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds and white carnations tied with a tangerine satin bow.

Miss Mary Ann McMahon of Newburgh, cousin of the bride, Miss Rose Fuscardo, Mrs. John Haines, sister of the groom, and Miss Kay Schiavone, all of this city, were the bride's other attendants. They were dressed in Nile green satin gowns, with a dropped neckline effect, and carried colonial bouquets of yellow rosebuds and white carnations trimmed with yellow satin ribbons.

James Mancuso of this city was best man. Ushers were Myron Rossi, Vincent Nicolosi, Philip McGowan, cousin of the groom, and Robert Jordan, cousin of the groom, all of this city.

Miss Kathleen Ann Weaver Is Married To Donald Quick in St. Joseph's Church

Miss Kathleen Ann Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver of 43 Sterling street, was married Sunday, Feb. 4 in a 3 o'clock ceremony to Donald Edwin Quick, son of Mrs. Edwin Quick and the late Mr. Quick. The double ring service was performed in St. Joseph's Church, this city, by the Rev. John D. Simmons of that parish.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty played organ selections, and John Long, soloist, sang "Mother Beloved," "Ave Maria." The altar of the church was trimmed with white pompons and candles, and the family pews were marked with white satin bows and flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, with a yoke and collar of Chantilly lace. The gown was cut along princess lines, with a dropped shirred waist, and an overskirt of Chantilly lace falling to a full train. Her fingertip veil was secured by a half bonnet of matching lace, twined with seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book, covered with white roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Daniel Melius of Saugerties, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Melius wore a gown of tangerine satin, with a dropped neckline effect, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds and white carnations tied with a tangerine satin bow.

Miss Mary Ann McMahon of Newburgh, cousin of the bride, Miss Rose Fuscardo, Mrs. John Haines, sister of the groom, and Miss Kay Schiavone, all of this city, were the bride's other attendants. They were dressed in Nile green satin gowns, with a dropped neckline effect, and carried colonial bouquets of yellow rosebuds and white carnations trimmed with yellow satin ribbons.

James Mancuso of this city was best man. Ushers were Myron Rossi, Vincent Nicolosi, Philip McGowan, cousin of the groom, and Robert Jordan, cousin of the groom, all of this city.

After the ceremony a reception for more than 150 guests was held at Rose Marie Cabins, with music by "The Ambassadors."

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Quick are visiting New York. The bride wore a dark brown suit for traveling, with a brown and white checked topper, and a white rose corsage. On their return the couple will make their home at 185 East Chester street.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '50, and is employed in the office of P. Ballantine & Sons, this city.

Y.M.C.A. Boys See West Point Game

The Y.M.C.A. Boys Department had its first trip of the year Saturday, when a group of Cadets and Juniors traveled to West Point to see Army whip Colgate, in an exciting afternoon basketball game, in which big "Ed" Weaver was the star performer. The boys also saw track and field events before the game, and sandwiched in a little boxing and wrestling after.

The entire group was under the supervision of Chester Fox, Louis A. Schafer, and Clarence W. Corell, assisted by Donald Planthaber and Gerald Bruck.

On the return trip from the Point, the group stopped in Newburgh for refreshments.

Celebrating 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Avery, 31 Murphy street, celebrated their 60th wedding aniversary Saturday at their home. The couple have a son, a daughter, 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. They were married in 1891 at the home of Mrs. Avery's parents, which was recently torn down to enlarge and renovate the Bull Market on Washington avenue.

Saturday afternoon an open house was held for approximately 50 relatives and friends. Mr. Avery, better known as "Irve," was a well known bartender for 50 years at the old Eagle Hotel, and later at the Stuyvesant Hotel. He has been retired for the past eight years. (Budney Photo)

Former Boiceville Resident Is Wed In Kansas City, Mo.

Mauna Fears Harvill of Kansas City, Kan., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fears of Mill Grove, Mo., became the bride of former Boiceville resident Kenneth L. Briggs, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Briggs of Boiceville, Saturday, Jan. 27 at 7 p. m. The ceremony was performed in the Community Christian Church, Kansas City, Mo., by the Rev. David Owen.

The bride wore a navy blue ensemble, with a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Mrs. R. Norman Dargie of Kansas City, Mo., who was dressed in a gray suit, with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

R. Norman Dargie, also of Kansas City, Mo., was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Terrace Room of Hotel Muelebach for the wedding party.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Briggs flew to southern California. The bride's traveling ensemble featured a tailored sheer gray worsted suit, with black accessories.

The couple will make their home in New York.

The bride attended Trenton High School, Trenton, Mo. Mr. Briggs studied at Kingston High School, Parks College of Aeronautical Technology of St. Louis University, and Syracuse University. He is associated with the operations department of Trans World Airlines, Inc. and during World War 2 served with the army in the south and central Pacific theatres.

ON CHAPERONING

The wife of a teacher finds herself with a new problem: "My husband recently took a teaching position here in the local high school. As we are fairly young we are delighted that he seems to be liked by the students. They have asked us to chaperon their important midwinter dance. Will you please tell us just what such duties would entail?"

They entail nothing but your presence throughout the dance, doing whatever you can to make the dance a success.

Everyday Niceties

Dear Mrs. Post: When should "I beg your pardon" and "excuse me" be said? Please distinguish between the times, and also give the correct reply to each.

Answer: "I beg your pardon" is said for a rather serious offense; at least it is one usually caused by one's own clumsiness. "Excuse me" and "I'm sorry" are said when causing unavoidable inconvenience to someone. Usually the reply is a good tempered, "That's all right" or "Certainly" or just a smile!

Man Out With Mother and Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: When walking down the aisle in a theatre, or entering a restaurant, should a man who is out with his mother (not old) and his wife walk with his mother or his wife? This presupposes that the aisle is wide enough for two but not for three to walk together.

Answer: Although there is no rule, usually the two women together follow the usher and the man follows them.

No Tip!

Dear Mrs. Post: When service and food are of the worst is a patron justified in not leaving a tip? How else does one have recourse over such important factors?

Answer: It would be better to give a minimum gratuity for service and then complain to the management.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-17, "Introductions," explains how to introduce your family and friends in an easy casual way. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Everyday Niceties

Dear Mrs. Post: When should "I beg your pardon" and "excuse me" be said? Please distinguish between the times, and also give the correct reply to each.

Answer: "I beg your pardon" is said for a rather serious offense; at least it is one usually caused by one's own clumsiness. "Excuse me" and "I'm sorry" are said when causing unavoidable inconvenience to someone. Usually the reply is a good tempered, "That's all right" or "Certainly" or just a smile!

Man Out With Mother and Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: When walking down the aisle in a theatre, or entering a restaurant, should a man who is out with his mother (not old) and his wife walk with his mother or his wife? This presupposes that the aisle is wide enough for two but not for three to walk together.

Answer: Although there is no rule, usually the two women together follow the usher and the man follows them.

No Tip!

Dear Mrs. Post: When service and food are of the worst is a patron justified in not leaving a tip? How else does one have recourse over such important factors?

Answer: It would be better to give a minimum gratuity for service and then complain to the management.

Former Boiceville Resident Is Wed In Kansas City, Mo.

Mauna Fears Harvill of Kansas City, Kan., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fears of Mill Grove, Mo., became the bride of former Boiceville resident Kenneth L. Briggs, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Briggs of Boiceville, Saturday, Jan. 27 at 7 p. m. The ceremony was performed in the Community Christian Church, Kansas City, Mo., by the Rev. David Owen.

The bride wore a navy blue ensemble, with a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Mrs. R. Norman Dargie of Kansas City, Mo., who was dressed in a gray suit, with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

R. Norman Dargie, also of Kansas City, Mo., was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Terrace Room of Hotel Muelebach for the wedding party.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Briggs flew to southern California. The bride's traveling ensemble featured a tailored sheer gray worsted suit, with black accessories.

The couple will make their home in New York.

The bride attended Trenton High School, Trenton, Mo. Mr. Briggs studied at Kingston High School, Parks College of Aeronautical Technology of St. Louis University, and Syracuse University. He is associated with the operations department of Trans World Airlines, Inc. and during World War 2 served with the army in the south and central Pacific theatres.

ON CHAPERONING

The wife of a teacher finds herself with a new problem: "My husband recently took a teaching position here in the local high school. As we are fairly young we are delighted that he seems to be liked by the students. They have asked us to chaperon their important midwinter dance. Will you please tell us just what such duties would entail?"

They entail nothing but your presence throughout the dance, doing whatever you can to make the dance a success.

Kingston Accepts Sixth Franchise in Class C Can-Am League

$2,000 Is Pledged At First Meeting To Finance Group

Jones Is Pleased With Early Enthusiasm

Completion of the six-team Class C Canadian-American Baseball League for operation during the 1951 season was virtually assured this morning following Kingston's acceptance of a franchise during Wednesday night's meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Upwards of $2,000 was pledged to help finance the local club which replaces the Schenectady franchise in the league, Addison Jones, president of the Colonial City Baseball, Inc., revealed today.

The rest of the league comprises teams from Oneonta, Rome, Amsterdam, Gloversville and Pittsfield, Mass. Schenectady recently left the six-team loop to replace Utica in the Eastern League.

Although last night's snowstorm held the turnout down to 35 interested persons, keen enthusiasm was shown during the uptown confab.

Women Attend Meeting

Jones, in reporting that more than $2,000 was pledged in shares of $10 and $100, waxed optimistic in announcing that professional baseball would return to Kingston during the 1951 campaign.

"Our attempt to bring about a full scale reorganization to attract new blood into the group and to bring the cost of stock down to the 'little guy' was apparently successful during the first meeting," Jones stated this morning.

Included in last night's attendance was about four or five women who also displayed sharp interest in bringing back professional baseball to Kingston this season.

Speaking on the attendance of the women at the parley this morning, the local baseball president declared "it was a heartening note to see those women at the meeting on such a stormy night. There are a lot of women fans in Kingston and I'm sure that those who attended last night gives an indication that local women are really back of our plans to bring back baseball to this Colonial City."

Fee Is Dispatched

A $75 membership fee was sent to President Albert E. Houghton of the Canadian-American League following last night's parley at the Stuyvesant. An additional check of $500 to cover the franchise fee will be sent out within a few days.

Meanwhile, reports from other league cities hailed the entrance of Kingston into the Class C circuit.

A Rome newspaperman, in a telephone conversation with The Freeman this morning, said "Kingston's entry into the loop means the league's survival. Without Kingston the reorganization of the Can-Am League was not too bright. Similar notes of confidence were voiced from other upstate spokesmen this morning.

Meet Next Week

Another meeting to make final plans for financing the club will be held next Wednesday night, February 14, at the Stuyvesant.

St. James Defeats A.Z.A. in Overtime

St. James Church basketeers scored a 35 to 33 upset victory over the A.Z.A. five in the Junior Church League Tuesday night in an overtime session on the M.J.M. boards.

Two foul conversions by Chuck Engle and Jack Shrader in the extra period decided the outcome.

Houston and Shrader were the big guns for the winners with 15 points apiece. Levy was high for the A.Z.A. quintet with nine.

St. James trailed for three periods by 8-4, 12-9 and 23-15 before knotting the count with a 14-point spree in the fourth quarter. The winners amassed six points in the overtime period.

Louis Decisions Agramonte in 10

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Joe Louis, obviously pleased with his 10-round decision over Cuban heavyweight Omelio Agramonte, leaves for San Francisco today to fight Andy Walker in what he hopes is the last stepping stone to a title fight.

The 36-year-old Brown Bomber, lacking the punch that earned him the world's championship more than a decade ago, failed to stop the elusive Cuban with a knockout blow last night, but finished 10 active three-minute rounds in good physical condition. Louis weighed 209; Agramonte 187.

His disappointment at not kayoing the Cuban was offset by the fact he was able to turn on full steam in the final round and still feel fresh.

Agramonte, figured to hit the canvas in four rounds or less, gave the former champion a surprisingly good fight and managed to hang on as Louis pounded him in the fourth and tenth rounds in knockout attempts.

For the first three rounds it was a fairly even match. But in the fourth Louis came out for the kill. He hit the dancing Cuban with rights and lefts and in midround the Cuban staggered under a left to the head. When it appeared Louis had his victim, the bell ended the round and Agramonte came out in the fifth to strike back hard.

The sixth and seventh rounds were a tossup. Louis tried again for the knockout in the eighth. Then Agramonte took up retreating tactics, running from Louis and when cornered, throwing his arms about the Bomber until separated by the referee.

Louis fully intended to kayo the Cuban in the tenth but was hamstrung by Agramonte's clinch methods.

'Ready for Charles'

Later in the dressing room Louis observed: "It's almost impossible to knock out a man when he is hanging on to you."

Louis insisted he was "just about ready" to meet Champion Ezzard Charles in a title match.

"There's no question I'm in better shape than when I met Charles last. I didn't intend to go 10 rounds, but I'm glad I did. It proved that I'm in pretty good shape."

Louis meets Andy Walker Feb. 23. If all goes well in San Francisco, it is his plan to challenge Charles.

Last night's fight drew 13,440 paid customers in Miami Stadium. The gate was $55,532.29.

Major Leagues Plan Joint Meeting March 12 to Select Commissioner

DiMag, Kell Ink Bids; Other Aces Remain Unsigned

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the million dollar center fielder of the New York Yankees, and George Kell, brilliant third baseman of the Detroit Tigers, have signed their 1951 contracts but many of baseball's stars remain out of the fold.

DiMaggio accepted his third straight $100,000 contract via telephone from his San Francisco home yesterday. Kell, after turning down two proposals, came into the fold at Detroit for an estimated $40,000, a $7,000 hike over his 1950 salary. Kell is the highest paid Tiger player.

The capitulation of DiMaggio leaves only Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals among the upper bracket players unsigned. Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh is working on the last half of a two-year contract calling for $65,000 per season. Williams is expected to sign at the same terms he worked under last year, a reported $125,000. Musial supposedly is angling for $100,000.

Other stars in the gilt-edge brackets who have not signed include Johnny Sain of Boston, Preacher Roe of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Chicago, Larry Jansen of New York, Del Ennis of Philadelphia, Wally Westlake of Pittsburgh and Howie Pollet of St. Louis in the National.

In the American League such stars as Dom DiMaggio of Boston, Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, Yogi Berra of New York, Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, Ned Garver of St. Louis and Eddie Yost of Washington have not signed.

Weaver Scores 23

With Ed Weaver, former Kingston High School ace again showing the way, Army registered its ninth victory of the 1950-51 basketball campaign Wednesday afternoon with a 66 to 53 win over Swarthmore in the field house at West Point. Weaver flipped in 23 points to lead the Black Knights. He tossed in 10 deuces and converted three foul shots for the top individual scoring spree of the day. Hall, center for Swarthmore, hit for 21. Army entertains Yale at the field house Saturday afternoon.

Harridge, Frick Ask New Session

Cincinnati, Feb. 8 (AP)—The "pros" and antis" will go to the mat again March 1 on the issue of whether A. B. Chandler is to continue as baseball's commissioner or be replaced by some other person.

The terse announcement from the commissioner's office yesterday said Chandler had called a joint major league meeting at the request of Will Harridge and Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National Leagues, respectively.

The meeting will be held in Miami Beach, Fla., and the announcement given out by Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, said its purpose was "to name a commissioner of baseball and act on any other business that might come before it."

Chandler, who was in New York, declined to amplify the announcement but there was a little more information from other sources.

Harridge explained that he and Frick asked that the meeting be called at the request of a four-man committee which has been considering a number of persons for the $65,000-a-year commissioner's job.

Will Submit List

Ellis Ryan of the Cleveland Indians, a member of that committee, said the group would not recommend the election of any one man but would submit a list of those it felt qualified for consideration.

The meeting will be the second for consideration of selection of a commissioner.

The first occured at St. Petersburg, Fla., last December. At that time Chandler apparently was all set to obtain a renewal of his seven-year contract which will expire April 30, 1952.

But a group of dissidents, led by Del Webb of the New York Yankees and Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals, rounded up seven votes in opposition to the former Kentucky governor and United States Senator. The vote for renewal of the contract was nine in favor and seven opposed and Chandler had to have 12 votes.

Since then the backstage jockeying has been going at full steam.

There have been no official indications from the "screening" committee as to who has been considered. But Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, another member, said there have been at least 50 "legitimate prospects." He added that Chandler's name "might be included" in the list that eventually is submitted to the club owners.

Among the prospects, the name of George Trautman, head of the Minor Leagues, has been mentioned frequently.

Others whose names have been mentioned include Frick, former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Gov. Earl Warren of California, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Fred M. Vinson, U. S. Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois and former Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois.

Some of them, however, including Frick and Warren, have said they're not interested.

Wiswall Returned to Post

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Frank L. Wiswall, president of the Saratoga Raceway, will serve another three-year term as a director of the U. S. Trotting Association. He won unanimous reelection yesterday at the annual meeting of District 9 (New York state). In 1948, however(it took more than 12 hours for Wiswall to gain reelection because of a dispute over proxy votes. Edgar J. (Dick) Baker of Warrensburg also was a candidate then. Stanley B. Johnson of Newburgh, who counseled forces that tried to unseat Wiswall three years ago, nominated him yesterday.

Wins Women's Crown

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Atlantic coast women's squash racquets crown went to Anne Dietrich of Cynwyd, Pa., yesterday by a narrow margin as she defeated Mrs. Jack Carrott of Greenwich, Conn. With the match tied at the end of four games, Mrs. Carrott took a 9-3 lead in the final game. Then Miss Dietrich came from behind to win, 15-11. Miss Margaret Howe of New Haven, Conn., the 1950 champion, didn't compete this year.

Stops Bassett's Streak

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, upset winner over Percy Bassett last night, may have earned a title shot with Lightweight Champ Ike Williams on March 23 or March 30. Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Williams' manager, said he considers Carter the "best of the lightweights around." Carter snapped Bassett's 21-fight winning streak last night at St. Nicholas Arena, winning a 10-round decision over the 22-year-old Philadelphian.

Kingston Accepts Sixth Franchise in Class C Can-Am League

$2,000 Is Pledged At First Meeting To Finance Group

Jones Is Pleased With Early Enthusiasm

Completion of the six-team Class C Canadian-American Baseball League for operation during the 1951 season was virtually assured this morning following Kingston's acceptance of a franchise during Wednesday night's meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Upwards of $2,000 was pledged to help finance the local club which replaces the Schenectady franchise in the league, Addison Jones, president of the Colonial City Baseball, Inc., revealed today.

The rest of the league comprises teams from Oneonta, Rome, Amsterdam, Gloversville and Pittsfield, Mass. Schenectady recently left the six-team loop to replace Utica in the Eastern League.

Although last night's snowstorm held the turnout down to 35 interested persons, keen enthusiasm was shown during the uptown confab.

Women Attend Meeting

Jones, in reporting that more than $2,000 was pledged in shares of $10 and $100, waxed optimistic in announcing that professional baseball would return to Kingston during the 1951 campaign.

"Our attempt to bring about a full scale reorganization to attract new blood into the group and to bring the cost of stock down to the 'little guy' was apparently successful during the first meeting," Jones stated this morning.

Included in last night's attendance was about four or five women who also displayed sharp interest in bringing back professional baseball to Kingston this season.

Speaking on the attendance of the women at the parley this morning, the local baseball president declared "it was a heartening note to see those women at the meeting on such a stormy night. There are a lot of women fans in Kingston and I'm sure that those who attended last night gives an indication that local women are really back of our plans to bring back baseball to this Colonial City."

Fee Is Dispatched

A $75 membership fee was sent to President Albert E. Houghton of the Canadian-American League following last night's parley at the Stuyvesant. An additional check of $500 to cover the franchise fee will be sent out within a few days.

Meanwhile, reports from other league cities hailed the entrance of Kingston into the Class C circuit.

A Rome newspaperman, in a telephone conversation with The Freeman this morning, said "Kingston's entry into the loop means the league's survival. Without Kingston the reorganization of the Can-Am League was not too bright. Similar notes of confidence were voiced from other upstate spokesmen this morning.

Meet Next Week

Another meeting to make final plans for financing the club will be held next Wednesday night, February 14, at the Stuyvesant.

Louis Decisions Agramonte in 10

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Joe Louis, obviously pleased with his 10-round decision over Cuban heavyweight Omelio Agramonte, leaves for San Francisco today to fight Andy Walker in what he hopes is the last stepping stone to a title fight.

The 36-year-old Brown Bomber, lacking the punch that earned him the world's championship more than a decade ago, failed to stop the elusive Cuban with a knockout blow last night, but finished 10 active three-minute rounds in good physical condition. Louis weighed 209; Agramonte 187.

His disappointment at not kayoing the Cuban was offset by the fact he was able to turn on full steam in the final round and still feel fresh.

Agramonte, figured to hit the canvas in four rounds or less, gave the former champion a surprisingly good fight and managed to hang on as Louis pounded him in the fourth and tenth rounds in knockout attempts.

For the first three rounds it was a fairly even match. But in the fourth Louis came out for the kill. He hit the dancing Cuban with rights and lefts and in mid-round the Cuban staggered under a left to the head. When it appeared Louis had his victim, the bell ended the round and Agramonte came out in the fifth to strike back hard.

The sixth and seventh rounds were a tossup. Louis tried again for the knockout in the eighth. Then Agramonte took up retreating tactics, running from Louis and when cornered, throwing his arms about the Bomber until separated by the referee.

Louis fully intended to kayo the Cuban in the tenth but was hamstrung by Agramonte's clinch methods.

'Ready for Charles'

Later in the dressing room Louis observed: "It's almost impossible to knock out a man when he is hanging on to you."

Louis insisted he was "just about ready" to meet Champion Ezzard Charles in a title match.

"There's no question I'm in better shape than when I met Charles last. I didn't intend to go 10 rounds, but I'm glad I did. It proved that I'm in pretty good shape."

Louis meets Andy Walker Feb. 23. If all goes well in San Francisco, it is his plan to challenge Charles.

Louis Decisions Agramonte in 10

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Joe Louis, obviously pleased with his 10-round decision over Cuban heavyweight Omelio Agramonte, leaves for San Francisco today to fight Andy Walker in what he hopes is the last stepping stone to a title fight.

The 36-year-old Brown Bomber, lacking the punch that earned him the world's championship more than a decade ago, failed to stop the elusive Cuban with a knockout blow last night, but finished 10 active three-minute rounds in good physical condition. Louis weighed 209; Agramonte 187.

His disappointment at not kayoing the Cuban was offset by the fact he was able to turn on full steam in the final round and still feel fresh.

Agramonte, figured to hit the canvas in four rounds or less, gave the former champion a surprisingly good fight and managed to hang on as Louis pounded him in the fourth and tenth rounds in knockout attempts.

For the first three rounds it was a fairly even match. But in the fourth Louis came out for the kill. He hit the dancing Cuban with rights and lefts and in midround the Cuban staggered under a left to the head. When it appeared Louis had his victim, the bell ended the round and Agramonte came out in the fifth to strike back hard.

The sixth and seventh rounds were a tossup. Louis tried again for the knockout in the eighth. Then Agramonte took up retreating tactics, running from Louis and when cornered, throwing his arms about the Bomber until separated by the referee.

Louis fully intended to kayo the Cuban in the tenth but was hamstrung by Agramonte's clinch methods.

'Ready for Charles'

Later in the dressing room Louis observed: "It's almost impossible to knock out a man when he is hanging on to you."

Louis insisted he was "just about ready" to meet Champion Ezzard Charles in a title match.

"There's no question I'm in better shape than when I met Charles last. I didn't intend to go 10 rounds, but I'm glad I did. It proved that I'm in pretty good shape."

Louis meets Andy Walker Feb. 23. If all goes well in San Francisco, it is his plan to challenge Charles.

Last night's fight drew 13,440 paid customers in Miami Stadium. The gate was $55,532.29.

DiMag, Kell Ink Bids; Other Aces Remain Unsigned

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the million dollar center fielder of the New York Yankees, and George Kell, brilliant third baseman of the Detroit Tigers, have signed their 1951 contracts but many of baseball's stars remain out of the fold.

DiMaggio accepted his third straight $100,000 contract via telephone from his San Francisco home yesterday. Kell, after turning down two proposals, came into the fold at Detroit for an estimated $40,000, a $7,000 hike over his 1950 salary. Kell is the highest paid Tiger player.

The capitulation of DiMaggio leaves only Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals among the upper bracket players unsigned. Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh is working on the last half of a two-year contract calling for $65,000 per season. Williams is expected to sign at the same terms he worked under last year, a reported $125,000. Musial supposedly is angling for $100,000.

Other stars in the gilt-edge brackets who have not signed include Johnny Sain of Boston, Preacher Roe of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Chicago, Larry Jansen of New York, Del Ennis of Philadelphia, Wally Westlake of Pittsburgh and Howie Pollet of St. Louis in the National.

In the American League such stars as Dom DiMaggio of Boston, Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, Yogi Berra of New York, Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, Ned Garver of St. Louis and Eddie Yost of Washington have not signed.

Weaver Scores 23

With Ed Weaver, former Kingston High School ace again showing the way, Army registered its ninth victory of the 1950-51 basketball campaign Wednesday afternoon with a 66 to 53 win over Swarthmore in the field house at West Point. Weaver flipped in 23 points to lead the Black Knights. He tossed in 10 deuces and converted three foul shots for the top individual scoring spree of the day. Hall, center for Swarthmore, hit for 21. Army entertains Yale at the field house Saturday afternoon.

Harridge, Frick Ask New Session

Cincinnati, Feb. 8 (AP)—The "pros" and antis" will go to the mat again March 1 on the issue of whether A. B. Chandler is to continue as baseball's commissioner or be replaced by some other person.

The terse announcement from the commissioner's office yesterday said Chandler had called a joint major league meeting at the request of Will Harridge and Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National Leagues, respectively.

The meeting will be held in Miami Beach, Fla., and the announcement given out by Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, said its purpose was "to name a commissioner of baseball and act on any other business that might come before it."

Chandler, who was in New York, declined to amplify the announcement but there was a little more information from other sources.

Harridge explained that he and Frick asked that the meeting be called at the request of a four-man committee which has been considering a number of persons for the $65,000-a-year commissioner's job.

Will Submit List

Ellis Ryan of the Cleveland Indians, a member of that committee, said the group would not recommend the election of any one man but would submit a list of those it felt qualified for consideration.

The meeting will be the second for consideration of selection of a commissioner.

The first occured at St. Petersburg, Fla., last December. At that time Chandler apparently was all set to obtain a renewal of his seven-year contract which will expire April 30, 1952.

But a group of dissidents, led by Del Webb of the New York Yankees and Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals, rounded up seven votes in opposition to the former Kentucky governor and United States Senator. The vote for renewal of the contract was nine in favor and seven opposed and Chandler had to have 12 votes.

Since then the backstage jockeying has been going at full steam.

There have been no official indications from the "screening" committee as to who has been considered. But Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, another member, said there have been at least 50 "legitimate prospects." He added that Chandler's name "might be included" in the list that eventually is submitted to the club owners.

Among the prospects, the name of George Trautman, head of the Minor Leagues, has been mentioned frequently.

Others whose names have been mentioned include Frick, former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Gov. Earl Warren of California, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Fred M. Vinson, U. S. Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois and former Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois.

Some of them, however, including Frick and Warren, have said they're not interested.

Wiswall Returned to Post

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Frank L. Wiswall, president of the Saratoga Raceway, will serve another three-year term as a director of the U. S. Trotting Association. He won unanimous reelection yesterday at the annual meeting of District 9 (New York state). In 1948, however, it took more than 12 hours for Wiswall to gain reelection because of a dispute over proxy votes. Edgar J. (Dick) Baker of Warrensburg also was a candidate then. Stanley B. Johnson of Newburgh, who counseled forces that tried to unseat Wiswall three years ago, nominated him yesterday.

Wins Women's Crown

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Atlantic coast women's squash racquets crown went to Anne Dietrich of Cynwyd, Pa., yesterday by a narrow margin as she defeated Mrs. Jack Carrott of Greenwich, Conn. With the match tied at the end of four games, Mrs. Carrott took a 9-3 lead in the final game. Then Miss Dietrich came from behind to win, 15-11. Miss Margaret Howe of New Haven, Conn., the 1950 champion, didn't compete this year.

Stops Bassett's Streak

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, upset winner over Percy Bassett last night, may have earned a title shot with Lightweight Champ Ike Williams on March 23 or March 30. Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Williams' manager, said he considers Carter the "best of the lightweights around." Carter snapped Bassett's 21-fight winning streak last night at St. Nicholas Arena, winning a 10-round decision over the 22-year-old Philadelphian.

Bowling

Others of note included Boots Leskie with 202-594; Harold Broskie 206-205-593; and Randy Kelder 224-591.

Dot Flemings finished third with 203-170-170 and a 543 three-timer. Helen Bordenstein shot 507; Marge Jansen 504; and Bertha Schaller 501.

Also of note were Evelyn Gross with 203-495; Rose Rhymer 490; Dot Rawding 488; B. Port 201-478; M. Francella 201-473; and Charlotte Lapine 470.

In leading the parade for the Silver Division of the Colonial Women's League last night, Kay North just missed the coveted 500 circle as she blasted 498 on scores of 164-165-169.

Ruth Toffel posted 456; Rosemary Murphy 446; Sally Kuehn 442; Marie Bechtold 432; H. McDougall 424; D. Geisler 423; Judy Broskie 420; and A. Mitchell 420.

Only three pins separated the first two keglers in the Y Federation American League pin-busting Wednesday night. H. Pine came out on top with his 204-168-190 for 562 while Bill Hornbeck took runnerup honors with 173-188-198 for 559.

Chet Weeks posted 534; R. Tremper 213-533; Ferd Short 532; Don Weeks 526; and F. Roe 524.

R. Janeczek led a low scoring session of the Pioneer Women's League at the Bowlodrome Wednesday with a 429 series on scores of 146-133-150.

Jane Pearson took No. 2 honors with 424; T. Hasbrouck 418; F. Davis 417; B. Macholdt 412; J. Corrado 410; C. Petersen 408; and C. Marks 400.

Southpaw Don Peterson topped the pinfall in the Central Rec League this week with a neat 580 triple after opening with 236 and coming back with sticks of 178 and 166.

H. Hines rolled 202-563; J. Bosco 203-558; Frank Bruno 205-215-558; F. Bell 551; Ray Houghtaling 549; and C. Gildersleeve 547.

Odds Favor L.I.U.

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Seton Hall's sophomore basketball squad will be fighting a jinx as well as Long Island University in tonight's double-header at Madison Square Garden. Five times Seton Hall teams — sometimes rated highly—have met L.I.U. in the Garden. Five times they lost. And despite a disastrous road trip, L.I.U. is rated the favorite tonight. New York University and Manhattan clash in the opener. It will be boys against men for Seton Hall's sophomore-dominated squad, which has won 15 and lost three and is working on an eight-game winning streak.

Police Ban Reported

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Ritz Theatre, apparently was resigned today to an Albany police ban on showing of the Italian film, "Bitter Rice." Chief Philip G. Coffey said he ordered exhibition of the movie halted yesterday on the grounds it was "improper and objectionable." Charles Smakwitz, zone manager of Warner Brothers, Inc., which operates the theatre, said he was cooperating with the authorities. Police acted a half-hour after the theatre began its first showing of "Bitter Rice." Coffey said he had received complaints about the movie. He declined to identify the complainants. "Bitter Rice" is a story about a band of criminals who try to elude authorities by hiding among women rice workers in northern Italy. Some scenes portray the private lives of these women in their barracks.

Advice for Railroaders

A representative of the railroad retirement board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad station, on Wednesday, Feb. 14, between 1 p. m. and 4 p. m., for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, applications for death benefits, and answering any inquiries regarding the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Schulers Cop 3rd Victory in 'Y' Basketball Loop

Schuler's Inn, preping for Saturday night's playoff game with the Esopus Firemen for the first round championship of the Y "B" Division League, just managed to slip by the tough Robins in Wednesday night's second round game at the Y boards.

Schulers won by 45-42 in the final seconds of play to register their third straight triumph of the second half.

In other regular league frays last night, Esopus knocked over the Accord Chevies by 68 to 32 and the Violets hung another loss on Hurley to the tune of 46 to 17.

Clyde Carter, center for Schulers, dumped in a two-pointer in the last 90 seconds to bring his club over the hurdle. Paul Houghtaling followed in quick fashion with a set shot to "ice" the decision.

Houghtaling arched in 23 points for the winners. McCardle followed with 10. Maybanks and Fiore were high for the Robins with 13 and 12 respectively.

Paced by Chic Farrar who gleaned 23 markers, the Esopus Firemen didn't have too much trouble in subduing the Accord quintet. Esopus held a 37-15 edge at halftime. Lawrence topped the Accord five with 16 points.

With Ray Berardi and Burris showing the way on offense helped along by Don Wolff who set up several scoring opportunities for his teammates, the Violets crushed Hurley by 46-17. Berardi clicked for 22 points while Burrit hit for 11. Hendrickson and Smith scored five apiece for Hurley.

Officials Will Clarify Ruling on Amateur Five

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Officials of the St. Martin's Invitation Basketball Tournament sought today to learn from the Amateur Athletic Union what measures to take to erase a suspected taint of professionalism.

At New Haven, James E. Coogan, secretary of the Connecticut A.A.U., said yesterday he is awaiting further information from tourney officials before deciding what action he'd take in the case.

Earlier in the day, Coogan had said that money offered to the leading teams appeared to have violated A.A.U. standards. Tournament officials had promised, he said, to send him copies of the invitations sent to competing teams and had assured him that if A.A.U. rules were infringed it was unintentional.

Dave O'Keefe, tournament director, said the amounts of $150, $75 and $40 offered to the three top teams were intended only as reimbursement for "expenses."

John Deleone, manager of a West Haven team, stirred up a rumpus about the money Tuesday. He said he felt he was justified in entering a psofessional with his team because cash "prizes" were offered in invitations sent out by tournament officials.

Bowling

Leading off with a rousing 258 solo, Cliff Davis picked up enough ticks in his last two games to ace the Central Rec Major eague Wednesday night at the ailroad avenue drives with a 28 blast. Davis followed his big 58 game with counts of 182 and 88.

A pair of two other 600s featured the pin-busting last night. Ed Heins achieved the hat trick with a string of 203-201-214 for 18 while Johnny "Red" Sangi pounded out 232-203 for 612.

Others of note included Boots Leskie with 202-594; Harold Broskie 206-205-593; and Randy Kelder 224-591.

A familiar name topped the Colonial Women's League activities at the Bowlatorium Wednesday night. Rose Schatzel finished 14 pins ahead of her nearest rival with a 564 series on scores of 185-181-208.

Dot Flemings finished third with 203-170-170 and a 543 three-timer. Helen Bordenstein shot 507; Marge Jansen 504; and Bertha Schaller 501.

Also of note were Evelyn Gross with 203-495; Rose Rhymer 490; Dot Rawding 488; B. Port 201-478; M. Francella 201-473; and Charlotte Lapine 470.

In leading the parade for the Silver Division of the Colonial Women's League last night, Kay North just missed the coveted 500 circle as she blasted 498 on scores of 164-165-169.

Ruth Toffel posted 456; Rosemary Murphy 446; Sally Kuehn 442; Marie Bechtold 432; H. McDougall 424; D. Geisler 423; Judy Broskie 420; and A. Mitchell 420.

Only three pins separated the first two keglers in the Y Federation American League pin-busting Wednesday night. H. Pine came out on top with his 204-168-190 for 562 while Bill Hornbeck took runnerup honors with 173-188-198 for 559.

Chet Weeks posted 534; R. Tremper 213-533; Ferd Short 532; Don Weeks 526; and F. Roe 524.

R. Janeczek led a low scoring session of the Pioneer Women's League at the Bowlodrome Wednesday with a 429 series on scores of 146-133-150.

Jane Pearson took No. 2 honors with 424; T. Hasbrouck 418; F. Davis 417; B. Macholdt 412; J. Corrado 410; C. Petersen 408; and C. Marks 400.

Southpaw Don Peterson topped the pinfall in the Central Rec League this week with a neat 580 triple after opening with 236 and coming back with sticks of 178 and 166.

H. Hines rolled 202-563; J. Bosco 203-558; Frank Bruno 205-215-558; F. Bell 551; Ray Houghtaling 549; and C. Gildersleeve 547.

Odds Favor L.I.U.

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Seton Hall's sophomore basketball squad will be fighting a jinx as well as Long Island University in tonight's double-header at Madison Square Garden. Five times Seton Hall teams — sometimes rated highly—have met L.I.U. in the Garden. Five times they lost. And despite a disastrous road trip, L.I.U. is rated the favorite tonight. New York University and Manhattan clash in the opener. It will be boys against men for Seton Hall's sophomore-dominated squad, which has won 15 and lost three and is working on an eight-game winning streak.

Police Ban Reported

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Ritz Theatre, apparently was resigned today to an Albany police ban on showing of the Italian film, "Bitter Rice." Chief Philip G. Coffey said he ordered exhibition of the movie halted yesterday on the grounds it was "improper and objectionable." Charles Smakwitz, zone manager of Warner Brothers, Inc., which operates the theatre, said he was cooperating with the authorities. Police acted a half-hour after the theatre began its first showing of "Bitter Rice." Coffey said he had received complaints about the movie. He declined to identify the complainants. "Bitter Rice" is a story about a band of criminals who try to elude authorities by hiding among women rice workers in northern Italy. Some scenes portray the private lives of these women in their barracks.

Advice for Railroaders

A representative of the railroad retirement board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad station, on Wednesday, Feb. 14, between 1 p. m. and 4 p. m., for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, applications for death benefits, and answering any inquiries regarding the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Schulers Cop 3rd Victory in 'Y' Basketball Loop

Schuler's Inn, preping for Saturday night's playoff game with the Esopus Firemen for the first round championship of the Y "B" Division League, just managed to slip by the tough Robins in Wednesday night's second round game at the Y boards.

Schulers won by 45-42 in the final seconds of play to register their third straight triumph of the second half.

In other regular league frays last night, Esopus knocked over the Accord Chevies by 68 to 32 and the Violets hung another loss on Hurley to the tune of 46 to 17.

Clyde Carter, center for Schulers, dumped in a two-pointer in the last 90 seconds to bring his club over the hurdle. Paul Houghtaling followed in quick fashion with a set shot to "ice" the decision.

Houghtaling arched in 23 points for the winners. McCardle followed with 10. Maybanks and Fiore were high for the Robins with 13 and 12 respectively.

Paced by Chic Farrar who gleaned 23 markers, the Esopus Firemen didn't have too much trouble in subduing the Accord quintet. Esopus held a 37-15 edge at halftime. Lawrence topped the Accord five with 16 points.

With Ray Berardi and Burris showing the way on offense helped along by Don Wolff who set up several scoring opportunities for his teammates, the Violets crushed Hurley by 46-17. Berardi clicked for 22 points while Burrit hit for 11. Hendrickson and Smith scored five apiece for Hurley.

Officials Will Clarify Ruling on Amateur Five

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Officials of the St. Martin's Invitation Basketball Tournament sought today to learn from the Amateur Athletic Union what measures to take to erase a suspected taint of professionalism.

At New Haven, James E. Coogan, secretary of the Connecticut A.A.U., said yesterday he is awaiting further information from tourney officials before deciding what action he'd take in the case.

Earlier in the day, Coogan had said that money offered to the leading teams appeared to have violated A.A.U. standards. Tournament officials had promised, he said, to send him copies of the invitations sent to competing teams and had assured him that if A.A.U. rules were infringed it was unintentional.

Dave O'Keefe, tournament director, said the amounts of $150, $75 and $40 offered to the three top teams were intended only as reimbursement for "expenses."

John Deleone, manager of a West Haven team, stirred up a rumpus about the money Tuesday. He said he felt he was justified in entering a psofessional with his team because cash "prizes" were offered in invitations sent out by tournament officials.

Bowling

Leading off with a rousing 258 solo, Cliff Davis picked up enough sticks in his last two games to pace the Central Rec Major League Wednesday night at the Railroad avenue drives with a 628 blast. Davis followed his big 258 game with counts of 182 and 188.

A pair of two other 600s featured the pin-busting last night. Ed Heins achieved the hat trick with a string of 203-201-214 for 618 while Johnny "Red" Sangi pounded out 232-203 for 612.

Others of note included Boots Leskie with 202-594; Harold Broskie 206-205-593; and Randy Kelder 224-591.

A familiar name topped the Colonial Women's League activities at the Bowlatorium Wednesday night. Rose Schatzel finished 14 pins ahead of her nearest rival with a 564 series on scores of 185-181-208.

Su. Heins made a spirited lunge for the top berth after two nifty games of 223-199 but dipped to 138 in the finale for a 560 triple.

Dot Flemings finished third with 203-170-170 and a 543 three-timer. Helen Bordenstein shot 507; Marge Jansen 504; and Bertha Schaller 501.

Also of note were Evelyn Gross with 203-495; Rose Rhymer 490; Dot Rawding 488; B. Port 201-478; M. Francella 201-473; and Charlotte Lapine 470.

In leading the parade for the Silver Division of the Colonial Women's League last night, Kay North just missed the coveted 500 circle as she blasted 498 on scores of 164-165-169.

Ruth Toffel posted 456; Rosemary Murphy 446; Sally Kuehn 442; Marie Bechtold 432; H. McDougall 424; D. Geisler 423; Judy Broskie 420; and A. Mitchell 420.

Only three pins separated the first two keglers in the Y Federation American League pin-busting Wednesday night. H. Pine came out on top with his 204-168-190 for 562 while Bill Hornbeck took runnerup honors with 173-188-198 for 559.

Chet Weeks posted 534; R. Tremper 213-533; Ferd Short 532; Don Weeks 526; and F. Roe 524.

R. Janeczek led a low scoring session of the Pioneer Women's League at the Bowlodrome Wednesday with a 429 series on scores of 146-133-150.

Jane Pearson took No. 2 honors with 424; T. Hasbrouck 418; F. Davis 417; B. Macholdt 412; J. Corrado 410; C. Petersen 408; and C. Marks 400.

Southpaw Don Peterson topped the pinfall in the Central Rec League this week with a neat 580 triple after opening with 236 and coming back with sticks of 178 and 166.

H. Hines rolled 202-563; J. Bosco 203-558; Frank Bruno 205-215-558; F. Bell 551; Ray Houghtaling 549; and C. Gildersleeve 547.

Odds Favor L.I.U.

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Seton Hall's sophomore basketball squad will be fighting a jinx as well as Long Island University in tonight's double-header at Madison Square Garden. Five times Seton Hall teams — sometimes rated highly—have met L.I.U. in the Garden. Five times they lost. And despite a disastrous road trip, L.I.U. is rated the favorite tonight. New York University and Manhattan clash in the opener. It will be boys against men for Seton Hall's sophomore-dominated squad, which has won 15 and lost three and is working on an eight-game winning streak.

Police Ban Reported

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The Ritz Theatre, apparently was resigned today to an Albany police ban on showing of the Italian film, "Bitter Rice." Chief Philip G. Coffey said he ordered exhibition of the movie halted yesterday on the grounds it was "improper and objectionable." Charles Smakwitz, zone manager of Warner Brothers, Inc., which operates the theatre, said he was cooperating with the authorities. Police acted a half-hour after the theatre began its first showing of "Bitter Rice." Coffey said he had received complaints about the movie. He declined to identify the complainants. "Bitter Rice" is a story about a band of criminals who try to elude authorities by hiding among women rice workers in northern Italy. Some scenes portray the private lives of these women in their barracks.

Advice for Railroaders

A representative of the railroad retirement board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad station, on Wednesday, Feb. 14, between 1 p. m. and 4 p. m., for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, applications for death benefits, and answering any inquiries regarding the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Schulers Cop 3rd Victory in 'Y' Basketball Loop

Schuler's Inn, preping for Saturday night's playoff game with the Esopus Firemen for the first round championship of the Y "B" Division League, just managed to slip by the tough Robins in Wednesday night's second round game at the Y boards.

Schulers won by 45-42 in the final seconds of play to register their third straight triumph of the second half.

In other regular league frays last night, Esopus knocked over the Accord Chevies by 68 to 32 and the Violets hung another loss on Hurley to the tune of 46 to 17.

Clyde Carter, center for Schulers, dumped in a two-pointer in the last 90 seconds to bring his club over the hurdle. Paul Houghtaling followed in quick fashion with a set shot to "ice" the decision.

Houghtaling arched in 23 points for the winners. McCardle followed with 10. Maybanks and Fiore were high for the Robins with 13 and 12 respectively.

Paced by Chic Farrar who gleaned 23 markers, the Esopus Firemen didn't have too much trouble in subduing the Accord quintet. Esopus held a 37-15 edge at halftime. Lawrence topped the Accord five with 16 points.

With Ray Berardi and Burris showing the way on offense helped along by Don Wolff who set up several scoring opportunities for his teammates, the Violets crushed Hurley by 46-17. Berardi clicked for 22 points while Burrit hit for 11. Hendrickson and Smith scored five apiece for Hurley.

Officials Will Clarify Ruling on Amateur Five

Stamford, Conn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Officials of the St. Martin's Invitation Basketball Tournament sought today to learn from the Amateur Athletic Union what measures to take to erase a suspected taint of professionalism.

At New Haven, James E. Coogan, secretary of the Connecticut A.A.U., said yesterday he is awaiting further information from tourney officials before deciding what action he'd take in the case.

Earlier in the day, Coogan had said that money offered to the leading teams appeared to have violated A.A.U. standards. Tournament officials had promised, he said, to send him copies of the invitations sent to competing teams and had assured him that if A.A.U. rules were infringed it was unintentional.

Dave O'Keefe, tournament director, said the amounts of $150, $75 and $40 offered to the three top teams were intended only as reimbursement for "expenses."

John Deleone, manager of a West Haven team, stirred up a rumpus about the money Tuesday. He said he felt he was justified in entering a psofessional with his team because cash "prizes" were offered in invitations sent out by tournament officials.

Democrats Would Increase Monetary Aid to Manhattan

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Democratic legislative chiefs moved today to increase state financial aid to New York city by an estimated $50,000,000 a year.

But there was no chance that the Republican-controlled legislature would approve the proposals.

The city will get $250,174,608 in state aid through Governor Dewey's proposed record budget of $938,940,759 for 1951-52.

The Democratic leaders—Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut—introduced five bills to revise various state formulae on which financial aid to localities is based.

Democratic sources said the legislation, if enacted, would provide New York city with sufficent additional revenue to pay cost-of-living bonuses to city employes and meet "other increased expenses of the city government."

Would Benefit Others

Four of the five Democratic bills to revise state aid formulae apparently would benefit other localities as well as New York city.

The bills, with New York city's estimated increase in revenue listed in parenthesis, would:

Revise the Moore formula on general state aid, based on population, to increase the per capita payment to New York city from $6.75 to $10. ($25,000,000).

Base the per capita payments on the 1950 federal census, rather than the 1940 count. ($3,000,000).

Require the state to reimburse counties and cities for 50 per cent of the cost of caring for tuberculosis patients, for which they now receive a maximum of $2.05-per-patient daily. ($5,000,000).

Require the state to reimburse localities for 80 per cent of the cost of providing hospital care for home relief recipients. ($2,000,000).

Require the state along with federal aid, to reimburse localities for 80 per cent of the cost of caring for dependent and delinquent children in foster homes and institutions and New York city for operation of day care centers for children. ($15,000,000).

Governor Warren Is Ill

San Francisco, Feb. 8 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren will remain in University of California Hospital here several days for treatment of arm pains diagnosed as neuralgia. An official said the governor was "generally pretty tired and run down" when he entered the hospital Tuesday.

Democrats Would Increase Monetary Aid to Manhattan

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Democratic legislative chiefs moved today to increase state financial aid to New York city by an estimated $50,000,000 a year.

But there was no chance that the Republican-controlled legislature would approve the proposals.

The city will get $250,174,608 in state aid through Governor Dewey's proposed record budget of $938,940,759 for 1951-52.

The Democratic leaders—Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut—introduced five bills to revise various state formulae on which financial aid to localities is based.

Democratic sources said the legislation, if enacted, would provide New York city with sufficent additional revenue to pay cost-of-living bonuses to city employes and meet "other increased expenses of the city government."

Would Benefit Others

Four of the five Democratic bills to revise state aid formulae apparently would benefit other localities as well as New York city.

The bills, with New York city's estimated increase in revenue listed in parenthesis, would:

Revise the Moore formula on general state aid, based on population, to increase the per capita payment to New York city from $6.75 to $10. ($25,000,000).

Base the per capita payments on the 1950 federal census, rather than the 1940 count. ($3,000,000).

Require the state to reimburse counties and cities for 50 per c

Democrats Would Increase Monetary Aid to Manhattan

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Democratic legislative chiefs moved today to increase state financial aid to New York city by an estimated $50,000,000 a year.

But there was no chance that the Republican-controlled legislature would approve the proposals.

The city will get $250,174,608 in state aid through Governor Dewey's proposed record budget of $938,940,759 for 1951-52.

The Democratic leaders—Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut—introduced five bills to revise various state formulae on which financial aid to localities is based.

Democratic sources said the legislation, if enacted, would provide New York city with sufficent additional revenue to pay cost-of-living bonuses to city employes and meet "other increased expenses of the city government."

Would Benefit Others

Four of the five Democratic bills to revise state aid formulae apparently would benefit other localities as well as New York city.

The bills, with New York city's estimated increase in revenue listed in parenthesis, would:

Revise the Moore formula on general state aid, based on population, to increase the per capita payment to New York city from $6.75 to $

Bodies Are Sought

Eastville, Va., Feb. 8 (AP)—Salvage workers cut through tangled wreckage today to remove the bodies of the last four of nine marines killed yesterday when their wind-buffeted plane crashed into a small creek. Five bodies were pulled from the two-engine transport soon after it smashed into the ground two miles west of this eastern shore community. Bits of wreckage were scattered over a 300-yard area. Rain was falling heavily, visibility was limited and a high wind was blowing when the R4Q Fairchild tactical transport plummeted to earth on a flight from Cherry Point, N. C., to Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y.

Preparing Science Studies for Elementary Level

The Science Study Committee, a group which has been active since September, at their meeting yesterday in the science room of the M.J.M. School. The group was started to keep science instruction in the city's schools abreast of new trends in elementary science education throughout the country. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Regina Swarthout of School No. 6, Miss Anna B. Ratcliff, principal of School No. 3, and Mrs. Florence B. Christiana, science teacher, and M.J.M. chairman. Standing, left to right, are Miss Mary J. Young of School No. 3, Miss Winifred Sullivan of School No. 4, and Mrs. Kathryn Disch of School No. 5. Committee members not present include Mrs. Harold Bunting of School No. 8, Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard of School No. 7, and Miss Dorothy Elston of the M.J.M. School. (Freeman Photo).

Durand Rose Weds Miss L. Mottolese In Home Ceremony

Woodstock, Feb. 8—The marriage of Miss Leticia Mottolese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mottolese of Rosendale avenue, New York, to Durand Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Rose of Bearsville, was solemnized at noon Saturday, Feb. 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose of Bearsville, brother and sister-in-law of the groom. The Rev. William R. Peckham of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston, performed the ceremony.

Wearing an aqua marine satin street length dress, and carrying a spray of orchids and sweet peas, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Donald Rose, her only attendant, was dressed in a pale blue street length dress, with navy accessories. She carried a nosegay of red roses.

Donald Rose was his twin brother's best man.

The couple then left on a wedding trip to Florida. On their return they will make their home in Bearsville.

Hurley Nurses Hold February Meeting

The February meeting of the Hurley Nursing Committee was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Monday, Feb. 5. During the meeting the treasurer reported $101.06 in the treasury, and it was voted to have labels put on all articles in the loan closet. Mrs. Charles Williams will have charge of the West Hurley closet, it was announced, and Mrs. Claude Palen will be responsible for the loan closet in Hurley. Articles loaned, it was stressed, are to be returned within 30 days.

At the same meeting the group decided to hold a card party in April, with the date and place to be announced. The following committee for the card party was named: Mrs. Catherine Clearwater, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Alfred Nussbaum, Mrs. Donald Munn, Miss Maria Newkirk, and Mrs. Claude Gorseline.

The members also heard a report by Mrs. Thomas Flynn and Miss Maria Newkirk on the president's meeting held in this city January 9, and Miss Anne Cassidy read several helpful items from the annual report of the Nursing Committee.

Cake and tea were served by the West Hurley members.

The group's next meeting will be held March 5 at the home of Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley.

Elementary School Science Committee Seeks New Methods

In keeping with a general trend found in elementary schools throughout the country, science instruction is receiving particular emphasis in the city's schools, it was revealed today.

The Science Study Committee, which has met regularly since September, was organized to plan content, outline simple experiments to demonstrate scientific principles to elementary school children, and to examine new science materials. The committee's recommendations are passed on for discussion in local faculty meetings and with administrative personnel, with a view to strengthening the science program at the elementary school level.

The committee was particularly active this fall on the "Science Week-end" sponsored by the local American Childhood Education Association held at Deyo's Guest House in the Catskills. Activities over the week-end included bird study, the study of rock formations in the nearby area, planet study by means of a portable telescope loaned by New Paltz State Teachers College, and demonstrations of simple scientific experiments.

Science study by the city's elementary school teachers, it was further reported, has led to many interesting science activities for the children. These include science trips in the immediate vicinity, science films, and science collections. Simple experiments have been made possible by assembling science kits, as well as a variety of picture and reference material.

Persons in the area, it was emphasized, have been very generous in sharing interesting science collections and experiences which they have had, with those in the classrooms.

Helen Keller Has Plans

New York, Feb. 8 (AP) — Now that she's 70, Helen Keller plans to "settle down"—but not until after she makes her tenth ocean voyage. Miss Keller, blind and deaf since infancy, said yesterday she will leave Feb. 15 for South Africa. She will sail on the Queen Elizabeth and visit London and Scotland on the way. Miss Keller said at a news conference that her trip will be sponsored by the South African director general and the American minister to Sotuh Africa, and that she will aid work being done there for the blind and deaf.

Rail Service Still

movements which started in more than a score of cities in the east and south on Tuesday.

The return to work in scores of cities prompted the postoffice department and the Railway Express Agency to relax their embargoes.

There were no reports of fresh work stoppages, but the Chicago "sick call" walkout was described as a "staggering blow" by Leverett S. Lyon, executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Yards Are Choked

Thousands of freight cars, many of them loaded, choken the huge yards. And normal switch crews remained away from work on the short line terminal carriers which switch the bulk of the freight cars.

The army's railroad control office said that only one line—the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy—had 100 per cent crews working in Chicago.

On 25 other lines with a normal number of 504 crews for the early morning shift, only 110 reported. This included 320 men out of a normal force of 1,649.

The army office reported that no crews showed up at the Illinois Central, the New York Central, the Santa Fe, and only one crew of a total of 107 on three belt lines reported for work.

Five Crews Working

The Pennsylvania had five of 36 crews working, the Baltimore and Ohio five of the normal 34 and the Chicago and North Western 21 of 48. The best showing of the 25 was a belt line road, the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, with 68 of 97 crews at work.

The western and eastern carriers end their runs at Chicago and St. Louis and freight cars must be switched at these points to continue their transcontinental journey. Some of the traffic normally is shunted from Chicago to Peoria and Pekin Union beltline in Peoria, but switchmen continued to remain idle on that carrier.

The switchmen, affiliated with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, are seeking a 40-hour work week at 48 hours pay and changes in working rules. The BRT and three other operating unions are seeking to reach agreement on the issues with the carriers in the Washington meetings.

In Chicago Federal Court yesterday, Judge Michael L. Igoe hearing contempt charges against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, urged the army, technically in charge of the carriers, to "get some soldiers" to see that the roads operate.

Judge Igoe said the court was not concerned with switchmen's grievances, but only with their challenge to the sovereignty of the United States. He denied a defense motion to dismiss the contempt proceedings as the government rested its case. The case, stemming from a similar walkout last December, continued today.

Embargo Is Released

In Washington, the Postoffice Department partially relaxed its tight embargo on the handling of bulk mail. The new order permits normal service within the western and eastern half of the nation but not between them. The full embargo remains in effect for St. Louis and its nearby postoffices and in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan except for the upper peninsula.

The Railway Express Agency also modified its embargo, permitting express shipments between New York city and Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Baltimore and Washington. It also permitted shipments from New York city to all upstate New York points, all points in Pennsylvania except Philadelphia, and all points in West Virginia. The modification did not provide for shipment from these points to New York city.

Bodies Are Sought

Eastville, Va., Feb. 8 (AP)—Salvage workers cut through tangled wreckage today to remove the bodies of the last four of nine marines killed yesterday when their wind-buffeted plane crashed into a small creek. Five bodies were pulled from the two-engine transport soon after it smashed into the ground two miles west of this eastern shore community. Bits of wreckage were scattered over a 300-yard area. Rain was falling heavily, visibility was limited and a high wind was blowing when the R4Q Fairchild tactical transport plummeted to earth on a flight from Cherry Point, N. C., to Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y.

Preparing Science Studies for Elementary Level

The Science Study Committee, a group which has been active since September, at their meeting yesterday in the science room of the M.J.M. School. The group was started to keep science instruction in the city's schools abreast of new trends in elementary science education throughout the country. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Regina Swarthout of School No. 6, Miss Anna Whitbeck of School No. 2, Frank B. Ratcliff, principal of School No. 3, and Mrs. Florence B. Christiana, science teacher, and M.J.M. chairman. Standing, left to right, are Miss Mary J. Young of School No. 3, Miss Winifred Sullivan of School No. 4, and Mrs. Kathryn Disch of School No. 5. Committee members not present include Mrs. Harold Bunting of School No. 8, Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard of School No. 7, and Miss Dorothy Elston of the M.J.M. School. (Freeman Photo).

Durand Rose Weds Miss L. Mottolese In Home Ceremony

Woodstock, Feb. 8—The marriage of Miss Leticia Mottolese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mottolese of Rosendale avenue, New York, to Durand Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Rose of Bearsville, was solemnized at noon Saturday, Feb. 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose of Bearsville, brother and sister-in-law of the groom. The Rev. William R. Peckham of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston, performed the ceremony.

Wearing an aqua marine satin street length dress, and carrying a spray of orchids and sweet peas, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Donald Rose, her only attendant, was dressed in a pale blue street length dress, with navy accessories. She carried a nosegay of red roses.

Donald Rose was his twin brother's best man.

A dinner was held for the immediate families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rose, Bearsville, following the ceremony.

The couple then left on a wedding trip to Florida. On their return they will make their home in Bearsville.

Hurley Nurses Hold February Meeting

The February meeting of the Hurley Nursing Committee was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Monday, Feb. 5. During the meeting the treasurer reported $101.06 in the treasury, and it was voted to have labels put on all articles in the loan closet. Mrs. Charles Williams will have charge of the West Hurley closet, it was announced, and Mrs. Claude Palen will be responsible for the loan closet in Hurley. Articles loaned, it was stressed, are to be returned within 30 days.

At the same meeting the group decided to hold a card party in April, with the date and place to be announced. The following committee for the card party was named: Mrs. Catherine Clearwater, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Alfred Nussbaum, Mrs. Donald Munn, Miss Maria Newkirk, and Mrs. Claude Gorseline.

The members also heard a report by Mrs. Thomas Flynn and Miss Maria Newkirk on the president's meeting held in this city January 9, and Miss Anne Cassidy read several helpful items from the annual report of the Nursing Committee.

Cake and tea were served by the West Hurley members.

The group's next meeting will be held March 5 at the home of Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley.

Elementary School Science Committee Seeks New Methods

In keeping with a general trend found in elementary schools throughout the country, science instruction is receiving particular emphasis in the city's schools, it was revealed today.

The Science Study Committee, which has met regularly since September, was organized to plan content, outline simple experiments to demonstrate scientific principles to elementary school children, and to examine new science materials. The committee's recommendations are passed on for discussion in local faculty meetings and with administrative personnel, with a view to strengthening the science program at the elementary school level.

The committee was particularly active this fall on the "Science Week-end" sponsored by the local American Childhood Education Association held at Deyo's Guest House in the Catskills. Activities over the week-end included bird study, the study of rock formations in the nearby area, planet study by means of a portable telescope loaned by New Paltz State Teachers College, and demonstrations of simple scientific experiments.

Science study by the city's elementary school teachers, it was further reported, has led to many interesting science activities for the children. These include science trips in the immediate vicinity, science films, and science collections. Simple experiments have been made possible by assembling science kits, as well as a variety of picture and reference material.

Persons in the area, it was emphasized, have been very generous in sharing interesting science collections and experiences which they have had, with those in the classrooms.

Helen Keller Has Plans

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Now that she's 70, Helen Keller plans to "settle down"—but not until after she makes her tenth ocean voyage. Miss Keller, blind and deaf since infancy, said yesterday she will leave Feb. 15 for South Africa. She will sail on the Queen Elizabeth and visit London and Scotland on the way. Miss Keller said at a news conference that her trip will be sponsored by the South African director general and the American minister to Sotuh Africa, and that she will aid work being done there for the blind and deaf.

Rail Service Still

movements which started in more than a score of cities in the east and south on Tuesday.

The return to work in scores of cities prompted the postoffice department and the Railway Express Agency to relax their embargoes.

There were no reports of fresh work stoppages, but the Chicago "sick call" walkout was described as a "staggering blow" by Leverett S. Lyon, executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Yards Are Choked

Thousands of freight cars, many of them loaded, choken the huge yards. And normal switch crews remained away from work on the short line terminal carriers which switch the bulk of the freight cars.

The army's railroad control office said that only one line—the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy—had 100 per cent crews working in Chicago.

On 25 other lines with a normal number of 504 crews for the early morning shift, only 110 reported. This included 320 men out of a normal force of 1,649.

The army office reported that no crews showed up at the Illinois Central, the New York Central, the Santa Fe, and only one crew of a total of 107 on three belt lines reported for work.

Five Crews Working

The Pennsylvania had five of 36 crews working, the Baltimore and Ohio five of the normal 34 and the Chicago and North Western 21 of 48. The best showing of the 25 was a belt line road, the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, with 68 of 97 crews at work.

The western and eastern carriers end their runs at Chicago and St. Louis and freight cars must be switched at these points to continue their transcontinental journey. Some of the traffic normally is shunted from Chicago to Peoria and Pekin Union beltline in Peoria, but switchmen continued to remain idle on that carrier.

The switchmen, affiliated with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, are seeking a 40-hour work week at 48 hours pay and changes in working rules. The BRT and three other operating unions are seeking to reach agreement on the issues with the carriers in the Washington meetings.

In Chicago Federal Court yesterday, Judge Michael L. Igoe hearing contempt charges against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, urged the army, technically in charge of the carriers, to "get some soldiers" to see that the roads operate.

Judge Igoe said the court was not concerned with switchmen's grievances, but only with their challenge to the sovereignty of the United States. He denied a defense motion to dismiss the contempt proceedings as the government rested its case. The case, stemming from a similar walkout last December, continued today.

Embargo Is Released

In Washington, the Postoffice Department partially relaxed its tight embargo on the handling of bulk mail. The new order permits normal service within the western and eastern half of the nation but not between them. The full embargo remains in effect for St. Louis and its nearby postoffices and in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan except for the upper peninsula.

The Railway Express Agency also modified its embargo, permitting express shipments between New York city and Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Baltimore and Washington. It also permitted shipments from New York city to all upstate New York points, all points in Pennsylvania except Philadelphia, and all points in West Virginia. The modification did not provide for shipment from these points to New York city.

Bodies Are Sought

Eastville, Va., Feb. 8 (AP)—Salvage workers cut through tangled wreckage today to remove the bodies of the last four of nine marines killed yesterday when their wind-buffeted plane crashed into a small creek. Five bodies were pulled from the two-engine transport soon after it smashed into the ground two miles west of this eastern shore community. Bits of wreckage were scattered over a 300-yard area. Rain was falling heavily, visibility was limited and a high wind was blowing when the R4Q Fairchild tactical transport plummeted to earth on a flight from Cherry Point, N. C., to Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y.

Preparing Science Studies for Elementary Level

The Science Study Committee, a group which has been active since September, at their meeting yesterday in the science room of the M.J.M. School. The group was started to keep science instruction in the city's schools abreast of new trends in elementary science education throughout the country. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Regina Swarthout of School No. 6, Miss Anna Whitbeck of School No. 2, Frank B. Ratcliff, principal of School No. 3, and Mrs. Florence B. Christiana, science teacher, and M.J.M. chairman. Standing, left to right, are Miss Mary J. Young of School No. 3, Miss Winifred Sullivan of School No. 4, and Mrs. Kathryn Disch of School No. 5. Committee members not present include Mrs. Harold Bunting of School No. 8, Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard of School No. 7, and Miss Dorothy Elston of the M.J.M. School. (Freeman Photo).

Durand Rose Weds Miss L. Mottolese In Home Ceremony

Woodstock, Feb. 8—The marriage of Miss Leticia Mottolese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mottolese of Rosendale avenue, New York, to Durand Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Rose of Bearsville, was solemnized at noon Saturday, Feb. 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose of Bearsville, brother and sister-in-law of the groom. The Rev. William R. Peckham of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston, performed the ceremony.

Wearing an aqua marine satin street length dress, and carrying a spray of orchids and sweet peas, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Donald Rose, her only attendant, was dressed in a pale blue street length dress, with navy accessories. She carried a nosegay of red roses.

Donald Rose was his twin brother's best man.

A dinner was held for the immediate families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rose, Bearsville, following the ceremony.

The couple then left on a wedding trip to Florida. On their return they will make their home in Bearsville.

Hurley Nurses Hold February Meeting

The February meeting of the Hurley Nursing Committee was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Monday, Feb. 5. During the meeting the treasurer reported $101.06 in the treasury, and it was voted to have labels put on all articles in the loan closet. Mrs. Charles Williams will have charge of the West Hurley closet, it was announced, and Mrs. Claude Palen will be responsible for the loan closet in Hurley. Articles loaned, it was stressed, are to be returned within 30 days.

At the same meeting the group decided to hold a card party in April, with the date and place to be announced. The following committee for the card party was named: Mrs. Catherine Clearwater, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Alfred Nussbaum, Mrs. Donald Munn, Miss Maria Newkirk, and Mrs. Claude Gorseline.

The members also heard a report by Mrs. Thomas Flynn and Miss Maria Newkirk on the president's meeting held in this city January 9, and Miss Anne Cassidy read several helpful items from the annual report of the Nursing Committee.

Cake and tea were served by the West Hurley members.

The group's next meeting will be held March 5 at the home of Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley.

Elementary School Science Committee Seeks New Methods

In keeping with a general trend found in elementary schools throughout the country, science instruction is receiving particular emphasis in the city's schools, it was revealed today.

The Science Study Committee, which has met regularly since September, was organized to plan content, outline simple experiments to demonstrate scientific principles to elementary school children, and to examine new science materials. The committee's recommendations are passed on for discussion in local faculty meetings and with administrative personnel, with a view to strengthening the science program at the elementary school level.

The committee was particularly active this fall on the "Science Week-end" sponsored by the local American Childhood Education Association held at Deyo's Guest House in the Catskills. Activities over the week-end included bird study, the study of rock formations in the nearby area, planet study by means of a portable telescope loaned by New Paltz State Teachers College, and demonstrations of simple scientific experiments.

Science study by the city's elementary school teachers, it was further reported, has led to many interesting science activities for the children. These include science trips in the immediate vicinity, science films, and science collections. Simple experiments have been made possible by assembling science kits, as well as a variety of picture and reference material.

Persons in the area, it was emphasized, have been very generous in sharing interesting science collections and experiences which they have had, with those in the classrooms.

Helen Keller Has Plans

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Now that she's 70, Helen Keller plans to "settle down"—but not until after she makes her tenth ocean voyage. Miss Keller, blind and deaf since infancy, said yesterday she will leave Feb. 15 for South Africa. She will sail on the Queen Elizabeth and visit London and Scotland on the way. Miss Keller said at a news conference that her trip will be sponsored by the South African director general and the American minister to Sotuh Africa, and that she will aid work being done there for the blind and deaf.

Rail Service Still

movements which started in more than a score of cities in the east and south on Tuesday.

The return to work in scores of cities prompted the postoffice department and the Railway Express Agency to relax their embargoes.

There were no reports of fresh work stoppages, but the Chicago "sick call" walkout was described as a "staggering blow" by Leverett S. Lyon, executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Yards Are Choked

Thousands of freight cars, many of them loaded, choken the huge yards. And normal switch crews remained away from work on the short line terminal carriers which switch the bulk of the freight cars.

The army's railroad control office said that only one line—the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy—had 100 per cent crews working in Chicago.

On 25 other lines with a normal number of 504 crews for the early morning shift, only 110 reported. This included 320 men out of a normal force of 1,649.

The army office reported that no crews showed up at the Illinois Central, the New York Central, the Santa Fe, and only one crew of a total of 107 on three belt lines reported for work.

Five Crews Working

The Pennsylvania had five of 36 crews working, the Baltimore and Ohio five of the normal 34 and the Chicago and North Western 21 of 48. The best showing of the 25 was a belt line road, the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, with 68 of 97 crews at work.

The western and eastern carriers end their runs at Chicago and St. Louis and freight cars must be switched at these points to continue their transcontinental journey. Some of the traffic normally is shunted from Chicago to Peoria and Pekin Union beltline in Peoria, but switchmen continued to remain idle on that carrier.

The switchmen, affiliated with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, are seeking a 40-hour work week at 48 hours pay and changes in working rules. The BRT and three other operating unions are seeking to reach agreement on the issues with the carriers in the Washington meetings.

In Chicago Federal Court yesterday, Judge Michael L. Igoe hearing contempt charges against the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, urged the army, technically in charge of the carriers, to "get some soldiers" to see that the roads operate.

Judge Igoe said the court was not concerned with switchmen's grievances, but only with their challenge to the sovereignty of the United States. He denied a defense motion to dismiss the contempt proceedings as the government rested its case. The case, stemming from a similar walkout last December, continued today.

Embargo Is Released

In Washington, the Postoffice Department partially relaxed its tight embargo on the handling of bulk mail. The new order permits normal service within the western and eastern half of the nation but not between them. The full embargo remains in effect for St. Louis and its nearby postoffices and in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan except for the upper peninsula.

The Railway Express Agency also modified its embargo, permitting express shipments between New York city and Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Baltimore and Washington. It also permitted shipments from New York city to all upstate New York points, all points in Pennsylvania except Philadelphia, and all points in West Virginia. The modification did not provide for shipment from these points to New York city.

Detroit Is Studied

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Senate's crime investigating committee today turned its scrutiny to Detroit's hoodlums, high and low, in search of a national crime tie-up. Hoodlums, however, weren't the first invited to the witness stand. Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Detroit's Mayor Albert Cobo and Police Commissioner George Boos were invited to give the committee any facts they might have—and to take a squint at the 40-odd witnesses under subpoena.

Primary Period Scheduled

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The fall primary in New York state will be held sometime between Aug. 20 and 31. A bill setting the exact date will be introduced in the Legislature next week.

Board Says School

Robert Haver, the town's Democratic chairman.

Meeting Clears Air

Although there was no sign at the meeting that opposition to the additional expenditure will abate, the meeting apparently cleared the air of irrelevant matters and gave both sides the opportunity to express their positions on a factual basis, according to persons who were in attendance.

The board's position was stated by Fox, by John Moehle, supervising principal of Onteora School District; Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, and others. Paul Harbach, architect, and Justus North, board member, were also present to answer questions.

Stated by Egan

The opposition's case was stated by Attorney John E. Egan, who represented a group of taxpayers including Bell and Haver.

Egan contended that the school could be built for less than the $1,850,000 previously voted by the taxpayers "by simply revising the plans so as to provide for a combined auditorium-gymnasium," instead of the separate auditorium and gymnasium embraced in the plans.

He added that still further savings could be made if the number of offices in the present plans were reduced from five to two.

Egan pointed out for the opposition that present plans call for a separate office for the grade supervisor, another for the principal, for the superintendent, for the board of education and a general office. He said that the grade supervisor, principal and superintendent "ought to be able" to function at three separate desks in one office, and "presumably" the board of education could hold its meetings in the general office.

41 Items Deleted

The board of education's plan as revealed at the Wednesday night meeting, has deleted from the plans 41 items, including among them the landscaping, seats in the auditorium, folding bleachers, kindergarten rooms, a partition in the gym, and the reduction of the size of the bus garage so that its cost could be reduced from $61,000 to $10,000.

Fox also pointed out that, with the savings in the new electrical bids it may now be possible to include the kindergarten rooms in the plans at the original estimate.

The board members emphasized that while these items deleted should be included and are necessary to the school program from a long-range view, their omission "will in no way impair the educational program to the child" at present.

The revised plans were drawn and contracts let in such a way as to provide for the restoration of most of the deleted items whenever the idditional money is made available.

Compliments Board

Although the opposition leaders indicated they would continue to press for their plan of a combined auditorium-gym and reduction in number of offices, there was an apparent better understanding among the parties present after the meeting was over. One resident, Burt Tandy, said this morning that the board of education "should be complimented for making it possible (to proceed at the already authorized figure) and to still have a good school."

Asked about the "haste" in awarding the three contracts on Tuesday, before the vote upon the requested additional $300,000. Chairman Fox pointed out that this was done because of the feeling that any delay at this point may force curtailment of the program because of expected government restriction on building.

He also pointed out that "there was nothing secret" about the contract awards, and that they were signed in Kingston at the office of Attorney Vincent G. Connelly.

Estimates on Attendance

Estimates on attendance at Wednesday night's meeting ranged from 100 to 125 persons, which those in charge considered very good in view of the weather conditions. Many persons participated in the discussion, and the meeting lasted until after 11 p. m.

Similar meetings will be held tonight at the parish hall in Phoenicia; tomorrow night at the Shady schoolhouse and Monday night at Shandaken town hall. All meetings begin at 8 p. m.

Balloting on the proposal to authorize an additional expenditure of $300,000 to allow completion of the school building as originally planned will be at Phoenicia on February 13.

One possibility the board members expressed a desire to guard against was the possibility that a taxpayers' injunction may be brought to delay construction of the school. They asked Bell whether such an injunction is being contemplated, and he replied that he did not know whether or not one would be brought.

fic was again snarled up on Wurts street and at 10 p. m. a call was received of a fallen tree at 22 Andrew street which had carried down wires. At 11:29 a call was received from Hasbrouck avenue where at 190 wires were down.

Highways and streets were slippery and several minor accidents took place but the area was unusually free from serious accidents. State toopers at Lake Katrine were notified of a slight accident on Route 32 five miles from Kingston where a car had been damaged and the offending car failed to stop. There was no injuries.

Plows Are Out

City and county plows were out and sanding operations were continued through the night. State police report roads open but slippery today as the cold wave continued.

Highland state police reported no accidents due to the storm but there was a tie up of traffic on the Colonel Payne hill at West Park for half an hour and again this morning trucks tied up traffic south of Marlborough on a slippery hill. Traffic was restored in a half hour.

Wednesday evening Sergeant William Marton of the Highland station reported traffic was tied up at Port Ewen at the bridge entrance for some time but he and others who were familiar with the roads avoided the tie up by traveling through Eddyville and back to 9W at Port Ewen.

About four inches of snow fell during the storm.

Metals Cut Planned

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The government plans a cut of 25 to 40 per cent April 1 in the amount of basic metals going into automobiles, stoves and home appliances. Officials of the National Production Authority (NPA) disclosed this today, saying it will be necessary to save steel, copper and aluminum for defense purposes. The cut in actual number of cars and appliances produced may be somewhat smaller than the cut in allowed use of metals, these officials said.

Six Men Killed

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP)—At least six men were killed and more than two score were injured, many of them critically in a blast that ripped open the minerals building of the sprawling Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company plan today. The company manufactures, among other things, cellophane tape under the trade name of "Scotch Tape." Three of the victims were dead on arrival at Ancker (city) Hospital and three others were brought to the Ramsey county morgue from the blast scene on St. Paul's east side.

Army Warns Men

the dispute between railroad management and unions over wages and working conditions. It said back payments to Oct. 1 will be made as soon as accounting and necessary adjustments can be made.

The army order and notice was sent to all railroad unions and rail operators involved in the work stoppage.

Signed by Assistant Army Secretary Karl R. Bendetsen, it said the army will recommend congressional legislation to assure resumption and continuance of normal rail service if the unions and the operators fail to settle their differences "within a reasonable time."

Based on Truman Order

The army order is based upon authority received from the President last August 25. The army took technical control of the principal railroads at that time to end a strike.

The army order said the work stoppages which began in December and broke out again recently are "the unlawful actions of a relatively small group."

Pending at this time are contempt of court actions against the Brotherhood of Trainmen, based on allegation the union has disregarded court orders against a strike.

Mr. Truman volunteered his remarks on the rails situation.

He opened his news conference by reading a prepared statement which said he had been "gravely concerned about the interference with essential military and civilian railroad transportation."

"It is bad enough in other times; it is intolerable in an emergency."

Pays Tribute to Majority

He paid tribute to "the vast majority of railroad workers who have stuck to their jobs in spite of their grievances" and to "the strikers who returned to work when advised of the dangers of the tie-up."

However, Mr. Truman added, "there are still some ill-advised or irresponsible men who are disregarding the emergency needs of their country."

Then, under questioning, Mr. Truman referred to the background for the "sick call" walkout of switchmen. He said as you know an agreement was signed.

Acted Like Russians

He said the management didn't run out on the agreement. Then referring to those who did, he said:

They acted like a bunch of Russians. They went back on their signatures.

This presumably was a reference to the refusal of the railroad unions to approve an agreement that their leaders initialed at the White House last December. The agreement was a proposed settlement of their long dispute with the carriers over wages and working conditions.

Senate Has Tough

complaint that low-duty imports are adversely affecting his business. Following the commission's inquiry, the President could, if he wished, abrogate or modify an agreement then in effect.

4. An amendment intended to provide that no agreement shall permit the importation of foreign farm products if the selling price, including the tariff, would be lower than the support price paid by the U. S. on similar products raised in this country.

Administration spokesmen, opposing all four amendments, accused Republicans of trying to wreck the foreign trade program by crippling restrictions. G.O.P. speakers retorted that the program as now administered is wrecking American business and farmers.

Detroit Is Studied

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Senate's crime investigating committee today turned its scrutiny to Detroit's hoodlums, high and low, in search of a national crime tie-up. Hoodlums, however, weren't the first invited to the witness stand. Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Detroit's Mayor Albert Cobo and Police Commissioner George Boos were invited to give the committee any facts they might have—and to take a squint at the 40-odd witnesses under subpoena.

Primary Period Scheduled

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—The fall primary in New York state will be held sometime between Aug. 20 and 31. A bill setting the exact date will be introduced in the Legislature next week.

Board Says School

Robert Haver, the town's Democratic chairman.

Meeting Clears Air

Although there was no sign at the meeting that opposition to the additional expenditure will abate, the meeting apparently cleared the air of irrelevant matters and gave both sides the opportunity to express their positions on a factual basis, according to persons who were in attendance.

The board's position was stated by Fox, by John Moehle, supervising principal of Onteora School District; Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, and others. Paul Harbach, architect, and Justus North, board member, were also present to answer questions.

Stated by Egan

The opposition's case was stated by Attorney John E. Egan, who represented a group of taxpayers including Bell and Haver.

Egan contended that the school could be built for less than the $1,850,000 previously voted by the taxpayers "by simply revising the plans so as to provide for a combined auditorium-gymnasium," instead of the separate auditorium and gymnasium embraced in the plans.

He added that still further savings could be made if the number of offices in the present plans were reduced from five to two.

Egan pointed out for the opposition that present plans call for a separate office for the grade supervisor, another for the principal, for the superintendent, for the board of education and a general office. He said that the grade supervisor, principal and superintendent "ought to be able" to function at three separate desks in one office, and "presumably" the board of education could hold its meetings in the general office.

41 Items Deleted

The board of education's plan as revealed at the Wednesday night meeting, has deleted from the plans 41 items, including among them the landscaping, seats in the auditorium, folding bleachers, kindergarten rooms, a partition in the gym, and the reduction of the size of the bus garage so that its cost could be reduced from $61,000 to $10,000.

Fox also pointed out that, with the savings in the new electrical bids it may now be possible to include the kindergarten rooms in the plans at the original estimate.

The board members emphasized that while these items deleted should be included and are necessary to the school program from a long-range view, their omission "will in no way impair the educational program to the child" at present.

The revised plans were drawn and contracts let in such a way as to provide for the restoration of most of the deleted items whenever the idditional money is made available.

Compliments Board

Although the opposition leaders indicated they would continue to press for their plan of a combined auditorium-gym and reduction in number of offices, there was an apparent better understanding among the parties present after the meeting was over. One resident, Burt Tandy, said this morning that the board of education "should be complimented for making it possible (to proceed at the already authorized figure) and to still have a good school."

Asked about the "haste" in awarding the three contracts on Tuesday, before the vote upon the requested additional $300,000. Chairman Fox pointed out that this was done because of the feeling that any delay at this point may force curtailment of the program because of expected government restriction on building.

He also pointed out that "there was nothing secret" about the contract awards, and that they were signed in Kingston at the office of Attorney Vincent G. Connelly.

Estimates on Attendance

Estimates on attendance at Wednesday night's meeting ranged from 100 to 125 persons, which those in charge considered very good in view of the weather conditions. Many persons participated in the discussion, and the meeting lasted until after 11 p. m.

Similar meetings will be held tonight at the parish hall in Phoenicia; tomorrow night at the Shady schoolhouse and Monday night at Shandaken town hall. All meetings begin at 8 p. m.

Balloting on the proposal to authorize an additional expenditure of $300,000 to allow completion of the school building as originally planned will be at Phoenicia on February 13.

One possibility the board members expressed a desire to guard against was the possibility that a taxpayers' injunction may be brought to delay construction of the school. They asked Bell whether such an injunction is being contemplated, and he replied that he did not know whether or not one would be brought.

Four Men Killed

Fostoria, O., Feb. 8 (AP)—Four men were killed and one injured badly in a gas explosion at the Atlas Crankshaft Co. here. Details were not immediately available.

The underground water of Nebraska has a temperature of about 50 degrees.

fic was again snarled up on Wurts street and at 10 p. m. a call was received of a fallen tree at 22 Andrew street which had carried down wires. At 11:29 a call was received from Hasbrouck avenue where at 190 wires were down.

Highways and streets were slippery and several minor accidents took place but the area was unusually free from serious accidents. State toopers at Lake Katrine were notified of a slight accident on Route 32 five miles from Kingston where a car had been damaged and the offending car failed to stop. There was no injuries.

Plows Are Out

City and county plows were out and sanding operations were continued through the night. State police report roads open but slippery today as the cold wave continued.

Highland state police reported no accidents due to the storm but there was a tie up of traffic on the Colonel Payne hill at West Park for half an hour and again this morning trucks tied up traffic south of Marlborough on a slippery hill. Traffic was restored in a half hour.

Wednesday evening Sergeant William Marton of the Highland station reported traffic was tied up at Port Ewen at the bridge entrance for some time but he and others who were familiar with the roads avoided the tie up by traveling through Eddyville and back to 9W at Port Ewen.

About four inches of snow fell during the storm.

Metals Cut Planned

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The government plans a cut of 25 to 40 per cent April 1 in the amount of basic metals going into automobiles, stoves and home appliances. Officials of the National Production Authority (NPA) disclosed this today, saying it will be necessary to save steel, copper and aluminum for defense purposes. The cut in actual number of cars and appliances produced may be somewhat smaller than the cut in allowed use of metals, these officials said.

Six Men Killed

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP)—At least six men were killed and more than two score were injured, many of them critically in a blast that ripped open the minerals building of the sprawling Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company plan today. The company manufactures, among other things, cellophane tape under the trade name of "Scotch Tape." Three of the victims were dead on arrival at Ancker (city) Hospital and three others were brought to the Ramsey county morgue from the blast scene on St. Paul's east side.

Army Warns Men

the dispute between railroad management and unions over wages and working conditions. It said back payments to Oct. 1 will be made as soon as accounting and necessary adjustments can be made.

The army order and notice was sent to all railroad unions and rail operators involved in the work stoppage.

Signed by Assistant Army Secretary Karl R. Bendetsen, it said the army will recommend congressional legislation to assure resumption and continuance of normal rail service if the unions and the operators fail to settle their differences "within a reasonable time."

Based on Truman Order

The army order is based upon authority received from the President last August 25. The army took technical control of the principal railroads at that time to end a strike.

The army order said the work stoppages which began in December and broke out again recently are "the unlawful actions of a relatively small group."

Pending at this time are contempt of court actions against the Brotherhood of Trainmen, based on allegation the union has disregarded court orders against a strike.

Mr. Truman volunteered his remarks on the rails situation.

He opened his news conference by reading a prepared statement which said he had been "gravely concerned about the interference with essential military and civilian railroad transportation."

"It is bad enough in other times; it is intolerable in an emergency."

Pays Tribute to Majority

He paid tribute to "the vast majority of railroad workers who have stuck to their jobs in spite of their grievances" and to "the strikers who returned to work when advised of the dangers of the tie-up."

However, Mr. Truman added, "there are still some ill-advised or irresponsible men who are disregarding the emergency needs of their country."

Then, under questioning, Mr. Truman referred to the background for the "sick call" walkout of switchmen. He said as you know an agreement was signed.

Acted Like Russians

He said the management didn't run out on the agreement. Then referring to those who did, he said:

They acted like a bunch of Russians. They went back on their signatures.

This presumably was a reference to the refusal of the railroad unions to approve an agreement that their leaders initialed at the White House last December. The agreement was a proposed settlement of their long dispute with the carriers over wages and working conditions.

Senate Has Tough

complaint that low-duty imports are adversely affecting his business. Following the commission's inquiry, the President could, if he wished, abrogate or modify an agreement then in effect.

4. An amendment intended to provide that no agreement shall permit the importation of foreign farm products if the selling price, including the tariff, would be lower than the support price paid by the U. S. on similar products raised in this country.

Administration spokesmen, opposing all four amendments, accused Republicans of trying to wreck the foreign trade program by crippling restrictions. G.O.P. speakers retorted that the program as now administered is wrecking American business and farmers.
